Five Generations

There are few families today that don't have something very special that they like to brag about and our family is not any different. Although, I feel lucky too, because we have five generations of ladies living today. That is a gift few families can share and we cherish it. Left to right are Mae Minier, 76; Mary Holland, 58; Pat Sheldon, 40; Linda Shehan, 24; Lisa Shehan, 18 months; and in the front is Mary Ann Sheldon, age 7.

Rangers Honor Sr. Citizens

For the past four years the Toecane Ranger District of the Pisgah National Forest has been involved in a work program called "Older American." Under this program we have hired men and women who are 55+ years old and have put them back to work in an effort by the Government to utilize this much needed skill. With the help of these older citizens we have been able to make many improvements to our recreation facilities that would have otherwise been impossible. Two of the major projects are the construction of a picnic pavilion at Carolina Hemlock and a 1 1/2 mile bicycle trail at Black Mountain Campground.

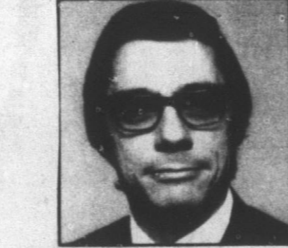

On Thursday, September 16, at the picnic pavilion we will have a dedication of these projects to show our appreciation to these older workers.

Comments From Cattail Creek

BY MRS. NEVA RENALDO

The Elmer Days have the limelight in Cattail this week. The cabin is alive with folks and relatives who have come to Burnsville for the wedding of Diane Troup to Ron Robinson at Zion Baptist Church. Diane is the granddaughter of the Elmer Days. Larry Day and family flew into Mtn. Wilderness Saturday; their grandson Richard drove in from Jacksonville; son Richard and family also came in for the wedding. Larry hosted a flight for most of the guests over Yancey, Mitchell and Madison Counties. It was a beautiful day and visibility was great.

The George Porters will be leaving us this coming weekend to move into a new less mountainous home in Hendersonville. We'll miss their presence and their generosity with supplying flowers for our affairs and the good goodies from their garden--We do hope they will come back and visit now and then.

Many of our cabins have changed hands this summer. The Keith Phillips cabin was sold to Rev. and Mrs. Unsworth of Tampa, Florida. The Fisher cabin to the Urban Mazaneks of Miami. The Joe Ward cabin to the Martinez family also of Miami.

The Lane cabin to the Coffrey of St. Petersburg. The Porter cabin to the Thommissons of Miami. We want to welcome all these folks and look forward to knowing them better next summer.

After a family reunion last weekend, Private Charles Ledford left for Fort Carson, California. His wife, who is the daughter of the Joe Clarks will stay on here, with their young son, for an indefinite time.

This will be the final column for this summer. Many of the folks have left Cattail and your correspondent is about to spend some time in Chapel Hill and Williamsburg before closing the cabin for the winter. I'm grateful to have had another busy, happy, healthy summer and God willing I'll be back for more of the same, next year.

So adieu to all you nice people and these lovely memories. We'll meet again next year.

Glen Burress, (grandson of Maude Andre) who was married in Social Circle, Georgia last weekend is spending his honeymoon with his young bride at Bob Andre Sr.'s cabin. I can't think of a lovelier place than Cattail at this time of year to spend your honeymoon.

The Scotty Bozemans have been in for a short stay with daughter Blake and her young son. Seems like only yesterday when Scotty was our minister in Miami and Blake was a toddler. (I think my age is showing).

Larry and Susan Stone of Miami have been visiting Susan's mother (Edith Dennis) for a week-while here, they celebrated daughter Jennifer's second birthday.

The Swen Karmarks are entertaining their long time friend, Holger Johansen, former owner of 'Old Scandia' a famous restaurant in Opa Locka, Florida. He has a touch of mountain fever and just might become one of us before too long.
