Hypertension, high blood pressure, is responsible for 100 deaths a day in this country, afflicting nearly one out of avery ten adults. The most susceptible to it are those with a family history of those with a family history of hypertension and blacks, whose risks are twice that of whites. High blood pressure has been compared to a time bomb--silent until it exclodes in into fatal or crippling stroke, ag heart disease, or kidney ve failure.

NC Medical Society

Many who have this disease are unaware of it and some that are aware of it do not adequately comply with the treatment. Hypertension causes no pain or other symptoms until the individual is suffering from the long term consequences of the disease. Blood pressure is the force in which the blood pushes against the walls of the blood vessels. A measurement is taken painlessly with a cuff is that fits around the upperarm and a gauge which gives the lo reading. A reading of your blood pressure is usually taken each time you visit your er doctor's office.

idual This reading is given as a long fraction. The top number, the systolic pressure, measures the force of the heart pushing blood from the heart into theblood vessels. The bottom number, the diastolic pressure, measures the pressure cuff when the heart is at rest between beats. A pressure of between 100/70 and 140/90 is usually considered normal for an adult. A higher blood presure means there is too much strain on the heart and you should consult your doctor. In most cases, high blood pressure is easily treated. In milder cases your physician may have you lose weight, restrict your salt intake, quit smoking, and begin a program of regular exercise. In other cases, certain drugs may be prescribed to bring your blood pressure under control.

In either case, follow your physician's orders. High blood pressure cannot be cured but it can be controlled. Don't let the silent killer get the best of you.
