Yancey Gets $169,146

Funds For Winter Damage

The final estimates of the 1976-77 winter damage to North Carolina highways show that it will cost more than $31 million to repair last winter's damage.

The season's severity, measured in terms of inches of snowfall in the mountain regions, and long durations of below freezing temperatures all across the State, produced the final winter damage estimate of $21,596,489.

County by county breakdown of the winter damage estimate shows Forsyth County receiving most of the damage with a winter damage estimate of $1.5 million, while Dare and Hyde Counties only tallied the winter damage at $1,500 each. Other high winter damage counties were Surry County-$942,000; Mecklenburg-$922,932; and Henderson County-$679,959. Yancey County submitted a winter damage estimate of $232,550 while other counties in Division 13, which includes Yancey County, are as follows:

McDowell County damage estimate-$274,100; funds allocated for winter damage repairs to secondary roads-$194,788.

Madison County WD estimate-$351,050; funds allocated for WD repairs-$240,161.

Mitchell County WD estimate-$180,000; funds allocated for repairs-$130,272.

Buncombe and Burke estimated $148,500 and $150,000 respectively and were allocated $132,308 and $145,643 respectively.

Rutherford County's damage estimate was least with $146,000; funds allocated-$141,699.

Yancey County, as mentioned, had $232,550 as the winter damage estimate and funds allocated amount to $169,146.

The winter damage estimates include damage to all systems (secondary, primary, and urban), while the allocation of funds shown is for damage to county secondary roads only.

NCDOT officials attribute the large variance from county to county to varying subsoil and water table conditions and the relative condition of the roads prior to the winter season.

The North Carolina Board of Transportation has already allocated nearly $20 million to repair the damage caused by the most severe North Carolina winter ever recorded by the National Weather Service. These funds were derived from number of sources, including $6.1 million from the "Reserve for Emergencies" and previously allocated primary and secondary maintenance contingency funds, as well as some $5 million that would have normally been spent for construction projects on the State's Urban and Primary highway systems.

Efforts to obtain federal emergency relief funds and a supplemental budget request to the State of North Carolina General Assembly for 30.1 million to repair the extraordinary winter damages were not successful. The State Legislature, however, did provide "that in the event of an unreserved Highway Fund credit balance accruing within the fiscal year ending June 30, 1977, the entire amount shall be allocated to Secondary Roads maintenance."

Funds from this source applied to the winter damage repair monies amounted to $2.8 million.

BY BERTIE VAN DELL

Our golf season ended with everyone happy! The banquet at The Chalet could not have been more perfect. The ladies, their husbands, our single gals and fellows and friends filled the banquet room. The ladies all looked like movie stars, instead of golfers—they sure put that gleam back in many male eyes! And, let's give credit to the men too, they all looked so chic—so proud of everyone.

A delicious dinner was served. And I do mean delicious! Almost forgot what a good prime rib tasted like. It was the best we have eaten since moving back south. It was so tender, cooked to perfection to suit everyone's taste. Just super.

After dinner William Deck introduced our champion's father, Jim Dawson. He read the beautifully written thank you and farewell letter, and proudly accepted Karen's trophies with the feelings of a proud father. How thrilled Karen would have been if she could have heard her many friends applaud. It was well deserved.

Then William Deck introduced the Sec. and Treas. Bertie Van Dell. From a scrapbook she has worked on since the beginning of the season, she read a poem called "What is a Volunteer"—her thoughts of the importance of a volunteer to any club. Then surprised William Deck with poetry written by her about that "Special Pro". Everyone enjoyed the poetry—but the real enjoyment was the surprised look on William's face! The poem was written and framed and presented to William Deck. Then Mr. Lee King of Mount Mitchell Lands and chairman Doris Edge were presented the scrap book for the club and all future ladies leagues. A gift from all the ladies was presented to our pro, William Deck.

Gospel Concert

Mt. Celso Presbyterian Church is sponsoring one of America's finest Gospel Concert Groups—"Eternity."

Eternity is far more than an ordinary musical group—it presents the gospel in a new and inspiring manner—with vocal and instrumental numbers, message and testimony.

Eternity will appear at the South Toe Elementary School on Highway 80 at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, August 31. They will present a program that is always honoring to the Lord and one you will long remember.

The trophies were then awarded. Mr. Jim Dawson accepted two more trophies for his daughter Karen: "The Most Improved Golfer" and the Low Handicap Trophies. My what proud parents. That next phone bill to Florida will be a biggy. Hope they told Karen how proud we all are of her.

Runner-up Champion Trophy went to our gal, Rose Marie Altemus who also won the Low Gross Trophy just that morning. What a year for Rose Marie.

Betty Lou Young was presented with the Low Net Trophy which she also won last thursday in the last Tournament of the season. Congratulations to all you lucky gals. Now give us gals a chance next year.

Recognition went to Nelle Hoover and Jean Ellis for all the help they gave throughout the season.

Then a gold and marble engraved medallion was presented to our chairman Doris Edge and to our Sec. Treas Bertie Van Dell. The banquet to all of us was a great success...and enjoyed by all...but mostly our Pro who is probably still washing lipstick off.

And as I wrote on the last page of the scrapbook—thanks to the dear people of The Yancey Journal and the McDowell News.

This scrapbook, like summer, is coming to the end. But with each season it really never ends. Just takes a rest and then returns.

Belated results of Club Championships—first flight winner Harley Carpenter; Runner-up Jerry Hoover.

Don't forget Men's League Banquet August 31 at Carolina Hemlocks. Will be served by Troxells. Trophies and awards to be handed out at this time.

Activities for September include -4-Ball Championship 36 holes, over Sept. 24 and 25. Qualifying between Sept. 1 to Sept. 21. Check with Pro Shop for further information.

Myself and husband, Monty Van Dell will be leaving for Wisconsin next week, but will continue to write any news for Mount Mitchell until it closes! See you all soon.
