

Mother Thinks 4-H Clubs Have Helped Her Family

by Mrs. A. G. Quinn

The 4-H Club has meant a great deal to our family. The projects our children have carried through out the years in 4-H Club work have made them better homemakers and citizens.

The 4-H Club camp teaches our young citizens to work, play, share and also teaches them handcraft, camping, swimming and character development. All of the activities of camp work were thoroughly enjoyed by the youth. Our children look forward to each season of 4-H club experience.

The experience in record keeping will help our youth of today in everyday living in the years to come.

Let's keep the 4-H Club work alive and active.

County's Important Asset Is Its Youth

by Jim Stewart

Cherokee County Farm Agent The youth of Cherokee County is its most important asset. What can be done to provide the very best for our youth?

One way is through youth participation in 4-H Clubs and its co-educational activities. 4-H can be used to assist youth development spiritually, physically, mentally and economically.

Spiritually - All 4-H members receive spiritual training through devotions at every club meeting. Vespers and camp fire programs are ways in which these young people receive spiritual training at summer encampments. Good character is another subject impressed and emphasized by programs and by leaders.

Physically - Through health projects, camping and organized recreation, 4-H youth develop physically. Health is necessary to enable hard work and clear thinking. This is constantly stressed to all members.

Mentally - Regardless of what vocation our Cherokee County youth may enter, whether it be as a doctor, lawyer, nurse, farmer, chemist or engineer, 4-H training will help or provide some things necessary for success. Knowledge of record keeping is essential

In any job. The ability to make decision is basic for all future leaders. Public speaking is vital for adequate expression of thoughts. The ability to work up and present demonstrations on varied subjects is excellent training.

Economically - Projects, such as clothing construction, crops and animals provide many opportunities for our youth to make money, win financial awards, and scholarships. These can act as monetary aids for advanced education or planned undertakings. Members are constantly educated to the wise use of investments in the home and on the farm.

Cherokee County citizens are to be congratulated for their support for a program which is making these things possible. Parents deserve praise for working with their own sons and daughters on 4-H projects. Cherokee County merchants should receive a real thank you for their support of club sponsored activities. School officials who provide the time and physical arrangements for the monthly meetings need a special salute for their support.

Cherokee County citizens who have given time and effort to this program are all to be thanked. The citizens have through positive action shown their love for our youth.

Cherokee County Girl Explains 4-H Meaning

by: Ann Quinn

"What 4-H means to me" is a question that I find hard to put into a few sentences. In 4-H I have learned to live by our motto: "Make the Best Better," and by doing this I have learned to do things the best way possible, but not to settle for that, but even try to improve that.

I have done 4-H Club work for four years and have enjoyed it all. In the summer there are camps for fun and learning. For the senior group there is the leadership camp that trains the youth to teach younger members to do many different things.

My main projects have been clothing, and foods. Last year I was the county winner for clothing and food preparation. Clothing has been my most outstanding and profitable project.

For the past several years I have made many of my own clothes. I have tried to match many of the colors so the garments can be changed about to make different outfits. I have saved about half of the total cost of my clothing by making them. In my clothing project I sewed for other people. I not only made clothes, but also made drapes and lined them. I have helped other people sew.

During the last two summers I have given sewing demonstrations at the District Meetings held in Asheville. Each year I have won a blue ribbon. The demonstration was titled "Watching a Box Change." I took a hat box, put an attractive cover on it to make a sewing box, and placed many necessary sewing items in it. Each year I tried to add a few new items, for there are many improvements made each year. I have enjoyed giving the demonstrations each time. Giving the demonstrations in front of thirty to forty people has helped me to be at ease when talking to a group. I wish that more 4-H girls would give demonstrations at the District Meeting each year.

Last summer I was the winner of the senior division of the County Dress Revue. The following week I modeled the dress at the District

Meeting and placed in the top ten.

My second largest project is food preparation which was mostly baking. Each year I baked many cakes, pies, cookies, and breads. I enjoy trying new recipes, and by doing this I learned the many different ways in which to bake. The best thing about cooking is that you get to eat what you have prepared.

Clothing and food preparation have not been the only projects on which I have worked. I have worked on health, good grooming, frozen and canned foods, and crafts.

In 1960 I had the pleasure of attending the 4-H Regional Resource Development Conference held at Fontana Village, North Carolina. This trip was a once in a life time chance. I was a representative for Cherokee County along with T. L. McNabb from Hiwassee Dam High School.

By working with the 4-H Club I have learned that the field of Home Economics is far more important than I had ever realized. Home Economics is important to every homemaker and mother throughout the world.

Achievement Night Set

On Thursday, March 15, 7:30 p.m. at First Baptist Church the 4-H club members will observe their achievement day with parents, leaders and sponsors invited as guests.

This event is held annually to recognize members who have excelled in the many projects and activities in which they participate during the year.

The outstanding 4-H club boy and girl will be announced and those who have been declared winners in the following projects: senior and junior dress revue, foods, child care, crafts, beef chair, dairy chain, chick chain, beekeeping, for-

Chick Chain Members

There are two 4-H Clubs at Martin's Creek with a total enrollment of 119.

In addition to these two clubs there are 18 other clubs in Cherokee County. Presently these clubs are in the schools but due to the overcrowded conditions in the schools the clubs will soon be organized in the communities.

Smaller clubs with adult leaders will mean closer supervision for members and projects completed on time.

ANN QUINN has an unusual talent in Sewing. She has accomplished in four short years what many girls would not accomplish in a lifetime. Her sewing ability cannot be credited to talent altogether. She has been motivated by her interest in being "well dressed at small cost."

Ann has helped by making garments for other members of her family. She is an active 4-H Club member. (Scout Photo)
