1971, and on that date all previously existing inferior courts shall cease to exist, AMENDMENT NO. 2 - Reapportionment of the House of Representatives by the Speaker. (Submitted by Ch. 459 - 1961 Session Laws.)

This Amendment retains for each of the 100 counties at least one representative regardless of population and requires the Speaker of the House to reapportion the remaining 20 representatives among the several counties according to population after every Federal census. The House Speaker must use the present constitutional formula in his apportionment, and the entry of his order on the House Journal would control the allocation of House membership. At present, the Constitution requires reapportion-ment to be made by legislation enacted by the General As-sembly. The proposed Amendment substitutes the Speaker's order of reapportionment for action by the General As-sembly as a whole.

AMENDMENT NO. 3 - Elective state executive offices succession, appointment of the acting officers --- incapacity. (Submitted by Ch. 466-1961 Session Laws) The several amendments in this proposition clarify and add constitutional provisions controlling succession to the office of Governor and the Lieutenant - Governor upon death, resignation, or removal from office, or temporary physical or mental incapacity. Procedure is proyided for the voluntary relief of the Governor from his duties upon his physical incapacity and for their resumption upon his recovery. Provision is made for determination of the Governor's mental incapacity. The Governor is empowered to appoint acting officers to perform the duties of office of members of the Council of State or the Attorney General until a successor may be elected or appointed to fill a vacanty or to act during the absence of fill a successor may be elected or appointed to fill a physical or mental incapacity.

The General Assembly is directed to provide by law a procedure for determination of physical or mental incapacity of these elective officers to perform their duties, and recovery by such elective of-ficials of their physical or mental capacity. While continuing Raleigh as the per-manent seat of government, allowance is made for emergency temporary removal and functioning of the government

AMENDMENT NO.4 - Residence Requirements of Persons Voting for Presidential Electors. (Submitted by Ch. 591 - 1961 Session Laws)

One of the present qualifi-cations for voting in this State is that the prospective voter must have been a resident herein for one year. This pro-posed amendment would authorize the General Assembly to reduce this waiting period so as to provide an early vote only for the choice of electors for President and Vice-President of the United States. This reduction in time would not in itself have the effect of qualifying such a voter to hold office in this

(Submitted by Ch. 840 - 1961
Session Laws)

This Amendment empowers the General Assembly to fix and regulate salaries of the elective State officers constituting the Council of State and the Executive Department during their terms of office. The Constitution at present prohibits the General Assembly from regulating the salaries of these State-wide elective officials during their terms of office, but does not prohibit the General Assembly from exercising such power over the salaries of other constitutional officers such as the Supreme Court Judges, and Solicitors. The Amendment proposed would give the General Proposed Tentron Court Judges.
