No Cherokee Communities Enter Program

ASHEVILLE - A total of 59 rural areas have entered the 1963 Western North Carolina Rural Community Development Program to date, ac cording to an announcement by Earl W. Eller, president of the sponsoring Asheville Agricultural Development Council, No county communinies have officially entered the area program in Cherokee

Participation in the area development program is open to any rural community which is actively engaged in an organized improvement program, Entry deadline is May The Community Development Program is a program competition among munities. Purpose is to stimu-late closer cooperation and planning in solving community projects and meeting opportunities. A total of 117 communities in 15 counties competed in the program last year. A goal of over 140 communities has been set by these counties this year. Cash awards of $4,250 have been announced and the remainder will be in local county awards. For a imunity to be eligible for area awards, there must be at least three organized com-that county, Communi ies will be judged in two divisions, farm and non-farm. Duplicate awards are offered in each. In addition $500.00 in awards will be presented to the five com munities with the best youth programs, Honorable mention youth winners will re-

Wood Hauling License Bill Is Introduced

RALEIGH - Twelve Western North Carolina legislat-Wednesday, March joined in a renewed effort to win a reduced charge for license plates for wood haul-

The measure would cut the rate in half for wood-hauling trucks up to 30,000 pounds gross weight. At that maximum weight, Society Is On the plate now costs $420 per year, with other fees ranging weights down a sliding scale. A 20,000 pound gross weight truck requires a plate costing $280. At 15,000 lbs. the cost is $172,50 and at 10,000 pounds is $100.

The minimum charge under the bill would be $10. A basically similar bill was introduced in the House in 1961 and failed to pass.

Introducers of the new measure were Robert Leatherwood III of Swain; Liston B. Ram-sey, Madison; Lacy H. Thornburg, Jackson; Mark Bennett, Yancey; Ernest Messer, Hay-1. Horner Stockton, wood: Macon; Herman West, Chero kee; William Leonard, Transylvania; Fred Swann, Polk; C. Crawford and Gordon H. Greenwood, Buncombe; and W. V. Cooper, Graham.

Textured Yarns Expected To

Resume Production

FEACHTREE - Textured Yarns Co, plant here is ex pected to resume production in the very near future, according to Ronald Ressel, plant manager. While no definite date has been set, production at the plant that has been closed since January 16 is assured. The plant closed during the month-long Longshoremen's Union Dockwork-ers strike. In reference to the purchase of the entire Textured Yarns complex, Mr. Ressel had "no comment," Ressel visited the home office of the company in Philadelphia Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. He was expected to return to Murphy Wednesday night.

Methodist Revival Still In Progress

At Murphy Church

MURPHY - A revival is in progress at the First Methodist Church here with the Rev. Clark Benson, pastor, as speaker. The revival begun on March 24 and will continue through Friday, March 29, A song fest of gospel songs is being held each evening from 7:30 to 7:45 p.m. Rev. Benson received his A. B. degree at Wofford, in Spartanburg, S. C., and his B. D. at Duke Divinity School. He is originally from Salisbury, N. C. Rev. Benson moved here in June, 1962, from Concord, N. with his wife, Sue, and children, Corky and Susan.

By Accreditation Team MURPHY - Tuesday morn - quite attentive as the super ing, March 19, there was an intercent of curriculum be air of expectancy in the rooms and hallway of the high school. Small groups of students talked quietly and teachers put last minute touches to their rooms - fresh potted plants appeared overnight and bulletin boards mok on aspects of originality and freshness, It was a normal day in the school year with one exception --- the evaluating team for high school accreditation was to invade the premises at nine o'clock, always in a constructive manheaded by the state superintendent of secondary curri-

The invasion began on time but the tactics were those of infilteration rather than frontal attack. The first tangible evidences manifested Itself as strange women and men, singularly and in pairs, quietly slipped into various throughout the school and discreetly made their ways to the rear of the rooms without interrupting class procedure. As the bell changed the classes and the periods consumed the morning hours, the team of observors discriminately chose classes for observational purposes from all departments within the school. And soon it was lunch.

called for luncheon off the premises, but as it was disclosed later the preparations and the aroma from the tiny nook which serves as the kitchen attracted the visitors who admitted curiosity as to how lunch could be served without chaos and chose to eat with the school. Their collective enthusiasm for the entire project was voiced emphatically later as teachers and advisors gathered for an informal discussion as to the merits and shortcomings of the school. The afternoon classes were repetitious of the morning's. By three fifteen the faculty and visiting examiners had gathered in the library where some thoughtful person or persons had had the foresight to play for refreshments This, of course, was helpful in reducing the tension which surveilance always manages m build up. The members of the faculty, naturally proud of their school and anxious

County Cancer Shaky Ground

MURPHY - The Cherokee County Cancer Society met at the Power Board Building on Wednesday, March 13, 1963, in Murphy, North Carolina, with only four members present: two from Andrews and two from Murphy, with three visitors from Andrews. An urgent nies was sent out every hour over the radio, also 55 cards were mailed, notifying members of this meeting, according to Mrs. Joe Ray, sec retary - treasurer. We are required to have only four meetings a year in order to remain an active society. If we loose this society, which is so badly needed in our county, we will not receive any benefits or remuneration from the drive which is held annually. Surely we can get more response for such a worthy cause? Mrs. Ray asked. Our society made it possible for six different patients to receive aid or treatment for cancer last year, whereas it would not have been possible for these people to have gotten treatment otherwise, Approximately $700,00 was used in giving this assistance,

We are going to make a ples for your support and attendance at another meeting to be held at the Power Board Building in Murphy on Thursday night, April 4, 1963, at 7:30 p.m., she added. "Either your presence will be counted or a loss of our SOCIETY which means all funds raised for this cause will be sent out of our county," Mrs. Ray concluded,

Savings Bonds

ANDREWS - Cherokee County Savings Bonds sales for February were $18,884.00 for the year $43,134,00. This represents 16,4 percent of the county's quota for this year, according to W. D. Whitaker, County Volunteer Chairman for the U.S. Savings Bonds Program.

Bloodmobile To Be Here Monday

MURPHY - The Bloodmobile is scheduled to be in Murphy again on Monday, April 8. The Bloodmobile will be at the Murphy Power Board Building from 12:30 to 5:30 p.m.

The goal this time is 150 pints, so why not make an allout effort to make this visit successful, asks Hobart Mc-Keever, Chairman, Murphy Blood Program.

gan the meeting. As the discussion got under way, one of the most important obser vations on the part of our teachers as the thorough ness with w'ich the observing team had covered every phase of our curriculum, All ex pertenced personnel in the teaching profession, this group was the essence of The various members made criticisms but ner noting that we were aware of most of the problems, had already begun elimination of some and had the rest under consideration. Many stemmed from lack of finances, which the faculty was aware of. The dire need for blinds was partially remedied as the PTA announced the immediate purchase of blinds for the east side of the school. Our phy sical education program and its improvements centered around the lack of personnel and equipment while the shortage of audio-visual aids was partments. The orderliness and behaviour of the student body brought many favorable comments as did the teaching techniques of several of teachers, It was suggested that the members of the faculty could benefit mutually observation of each others teaching techniques. The visitors were impressed by our building program, the neatness of the school building and surrounding grounds and the dedication shown by many who are con-nected with the school. The overall impression, while critical in some areas, was one of healthy progression and the comments on the credit side of the visitors' observation sheets far outweighed those on the debit side.

The administration is confident that the written report from Raleigh will be favorable and the accreditation of the

2 Area Students Receive Nantahala Co. Scholarships

FRANKLIN - John M. Archer, Jr., President of Nantahala Power and Light Company, announced this week that in recognition of the seventy fifth anniversary of Aluminum in Murphy, (Scout Photo) ompany of America, the Alcoa Foundation has established five additional scholarships for sons and daughters Alcos er children of Nantahala's em-

Each scholarship gives the recipient $2,500 over a fouryear period, and carries with an unrestricted grant of $500 to the Institution the student attends. The new scholarships will be subject to the same conditions governing all other Alcoa Foundation 8wards to sons and daughters except that the selections will be made in Pittsburgh on a company - wide basis.

Until now, all scholarship winners --- about 45 a year-have been chosen at Alcoa works locations by local selection boards on the basis of scholastic achievement and personal qualifications. The ompany-wide awards will be based on national Scholastic Aptitude Test ratings because it is impossible to equate grades from high schools across the country.

Mr. Archer said the commade after area students are chosen. He explained:

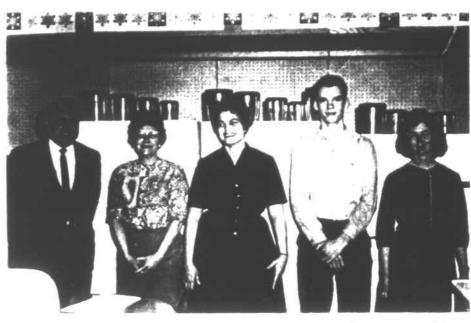

"The Alcoa Foundation be lieves that the establishment of these five additional scholarships will provide help for exceptional students,

'There have been cases in the past when an exceptional student failed to qualify at his location because of very strong competition, That same year, he would have received a scholarship if he had been at another location where his competition was less severe."

The Alcoa Foundation was established in 1952 with its net income to be used exclusively for religious, chairtable, scientific, literary educational purposes, and Since then, payments to 386 students and their colleges have totaled $761,178, including $132,556 distributed last year.

Mr. Archer added that five of these scholarships had been awarded to children of Nantahala Power and Light Company employees as follows: 1955 Ellen H. Conley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Conley, Nantahala, N.C.; 1957 Edith H. Christy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas H. Christy, Franklin, N. C.; 1958 John R. Slagle, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Slagle, Andrews, N. C.; 1961 Paul A. Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Edwards, Tuckasegee, N.
