BIBLE QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

By Tom Ledbetter
Andrews Church of Christ
Question: Who can be saved?
Answer: The Bible teaches that anyone can be saved, regardless of his or her previous life, if they are willing to obey the gospel.
Some people will say that they have been so wicked that they doubt if the Lord will save them. This is underestimating the power of God. The best scriptural answer is the case of Saul of Tarsus, later Paul, the Apostle. He was present showing his approval at the death of Stephen, the first Christian martyr, and spent part of his life persecuting many Christians, but he was saved when he obeyed the commands of the Lord (Acts 22:16). He later described himself as the "chief of sinners." (1 Tim. 1:15).
As long as we have doubts of the Lord's ability to save we will not obey him, but when we believe in God, repent of our sins, confess the name of Christ before men, and are buried with our Lord in baptism then He will save us.
Radio programs on WKRK Radio: Sunday 8:00, 8:30.
