Renowned Cellist To Present

Recital At Y-H
YOUNG HARRIS - Charles Wendt, a renowned cellist and music scholar, will present a recital at Young Harris College on Friday, May 17, at 8 p.m.
Mr. Wendt is an Assistant Professor of Music at Georgia State College, Atlanta, and is a member of the Georgia State Faculty Piano Trio.
A graduate of the Julliard School of Music and Indiana University, he has played with the Richmond, Va., Symphony Orchestra, the Santa Fe, New Mexico, Opera Orchestra, and was principal cellist of the Indiana University Opera Orchestra.

He received excellent reviews from major newspapers across the country for his Town Hall Recital in New York City in 1961.
Mr. Wendt program at Young Harris will consist of selections from Beethoven, Wellesz, and Prokofieff. Piano accompanist will be Miss Rosalind Reed, instructor of music at Young Harris College.

Better Than Where Your Are

Twinkle, twinkle, little star
Now we know what you are.
You ain't no diamond in the sky,
Even tho you do hang so high.
Your glitter is false, you son-of-a-gun,
It's just a reflection of our sun.
We will visit you, come what may,
Sometime on a later day.
We'll bring you wars, depressions, poverty,
Greed, hate, and jealousy.
We'll kill all your Indians but a few,
(You see, we intend to civilize you)
And after fighting on your plains,
We'll give you TV Wagon Trains.
Then your inhabitants will blast off,
To another planet, further aloft.
And even tho it may be afar,
They'll figure its better than where they are.
