

Tar Heel... PEOPLE and ISSUES ...By Cliff Blue

TRAVELING - Have been doing right much traveling recently, from Manteo in the East to Asheville and other points in the West.

Whether you go to Manteo in the East or Asheville, Chimney Rock or Flat Rock in the West, North Carolina has much to offer in the way of entertainment and points of interest.

MANTEO - In Manteo we were there in the invitation of Rep. Montie Daniels, Jr., and the Roanoke Island Historical Association to see the "Lost Colony" drama along with a goodly number of other members of the General Assembly. The performance was fine and the attendance was real good.

The last time we saw the "Lost Colony" was shortly after a hurricane and the mosquitoes were quite prevalent. They had been stirred up and blown in by the hurricane. But this time the mosquitoes were behaving and nowhere in evidence.

After the program was presented we went back stage and met many members of the drama personnel. The "Lost Colony" is a great drama and a great credit to North Carolina.

DARE COUNTY - While Dare County had a population of only 5,935 according to the 1960 census it is building up rapidly with many nice motels and homes from Manteo to the bridge leading to Currituck Co. at Point Harbor.

MEEKINS - While in Manteo we dropped into the office of the Coastland Times for a brief chat. Since his dad, Victor Meekins was named Manteo postmaster a few years ago, his son Francis Meekins has been running the Times and doing a mighty good job. His assistants include his mother who before marriage was Catherine Deaton of Iredell County, and his wife.

SCHOOL OF PRINTING - Enroute home we returned via Murfreesboro where we stopped for a visit at the Roy Parker School of Printing at Chowan College. John Sweeney is in charge of the School of Printing, and in our opinion is rendered a fine service in training apprentices for the printing trade in newspapers and publishing plants throughout the state.

TARBORO - In Tarboro we stopped for a few minutes for a visit at the Tarboro Southern and had a nice chat with V. H. Greench and B. M. Base, Jr. They started printing the "offset" way about a year ago and appear to be liking it and doing a good job.

DUNN - We stopped at Dunn where we spoke before the Rotary Club at the invitation of our longtime friend, Dr. Glenn Hooper. After the meeting we had a nice chat with friend Hoover Adams, publisher of the Dunn Record. Hoover is an unusual person talented and brilliant, mean but works hard all the time.

ERNEST HUNTER - In the passing of Ernest Hunter, retired newspaper man of Charlotte last week, we lost a fine friend. North Carolina lost a top citizen and the fourth estate lost a man who dedicated his life to good newspapering. May other would be newspapermen follow in the footsteps of Ernest Hunter.

ELIZABETH SWINDELL - The election of Elizabeth Gold Swindell as president of the North Carolina Press Association at Asheville last week was fitting and appropriate. For years she has "filled a man's shoes," so to speak as editor and publisher of the Wilson Daily Times. As Tar Heel's first woman president of the N. C. Press Association she has the background, the experience and the ability to lead and direct during the coming year.

HICKORY HUT GORGE - Friday night and Saturday morning it was our pleasure to participate in a couple of events in the "Hickory Hut Gorge" valley in the Lake Lure and Chimney Rock area. Friday evening it was our pleasure to crown Miss Susie Harrill as "Miss Hickory Hut Gorge" in the annual Beauty Contest held at Lake Lure.

Saturday at noon marked the ribbon-cutting ceremony for the opening of the new mile-long jeep trail from Chimney Rock to the foot of 400 feet Hickory Nut Falls, one of the highest falls in eastern America, so we are told. Norman Greig is president of the Chimney Rock park predicts it will eventually become a top scenic spot not only for Tar Heels but for the ever-increasing flow of tourists passing through North Carolina.

CANTON ENTERPRISE - The Canton Enterprise, edited by Roy L. Lucas with this week's issue becomes the 18th newspaper now publishing "Tar Heel People & Issues."

Cake Walk, Pie Supper To Be Held

There will be a talent show, cake walk, and a pie supper at the Martins Creek School house Thursday, Aug. 22, 7:30 p.m.

The admission is only 10 and 15¢, and pre-school children are admitted free.

There will be a variety of talent, including acrobatical stunts, dancing, and instrumental and vocal selections.

Everyone is invited to join in the fun and if possible bring a cake or pie to help out in this community project.

The proceeds will help pay for the enlargement and improvement of the old Martins Creek Cemetery.

BIBLE QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

by Tom Ledbetter
Andrews Church of Christ

Question: Do you teach that baptism is the only thing necessary for salvation?

Answer: No, I have never said this. Baptism is absolutely essential to salvation but not the only thing. The grace of God brings about our salvation through obedient faith on the part of man (Eph. 2:8).

We must believe God's word, (Jn. 3:16) repent of our sins (Acts 17:30), confess Christ before men (Rom. 10:10) and then be baptized into Christ (Gal. 3:27).

These things do not save us permanently for we must still live faithful lives throughout our lives (Rev. 2:10).
