Vows were received in a nuptial setting decorated with floor baskets of white gladioli and pompons arranged against a background of jade greenery and fern balls lighted with white tapers forming an arc.

Wedding music was sung by Mrs. Ben E. Hadaway who sang "Whither Thou Goest" and "Wedding Prayer."

Cuff of Atlanta and Danny Cagle, brother of the bride. Mrs. Hugh Dorris of Roswell was matron of honor. Bridesmaid was Miss Judi Phillips of Hayesville. They wore street length dresses of green silk organza designed with scoop necklines and elbow length sleeves. The full overskirt of matching organza was centered in the back with a sweetheart bow. For their headpieces they wore circlet veils caught to a single yellow rose and wore corsages of Dutch Iris.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory peau de soie fashioned with a fitted bodice and controlled bell shaped skirt. The fitted bodice was designed with a sweetheart neckline and elbow length sleeves accented with a band of Alencon lace forming the waistline. Tiny self covered buttons fashioned the back interest of the bodice which flowed into a bustle effect that extended into a chapel train.
