EDITORIAL Mountain Man Triumphs

Volume 74 - Number 49

Dan K. Moore's smashing triumph in the Democratic primary runoff for nomination as governor is a dramatic change of direction in North Carolina politics- - -in at least two ways.

For the first time in many a year, a man from the Western Mountain Region has earned a commanding endorsement across the state. Judge Moore hails from Canton, in the heretofore forgotten region west of Asheville, and Buncombe County.

Perhaps this signals a lessening of the sectional division which has given the political leaders from other areas nearly a monopoly in the governor's office.

The Democratic voters in these two western counties of Cherokee and Clay showed their frim loyalty to Judge Moore's leadership with 94% and 86% respectively. The whole western region endorsed the mountain man' with a 66% vote.

He and our counties are to be congratulated for such unity in his

The other change very well could have significance outside of North Carolina.

North Carolina has developed a reputation for electing liberal minded executives. Governor Terry Sanford, for example, was the most liberal of the four Democrats who ran four years ago.

Mr. Moore's opponent, L. Richardson Preyer, had a definite liberal image. He had the vigorous backing of Governor Sanford, who would be assumed to carry all the state's political power on that side.

Dan K. Moore came out with nearly a two hundred thousand vote margin over Preyer. This is a tremendous majority mandate. Moore had the backing of first primary opponent, I. Beverly Lake, in the runoff. The Judge has given credit to Lake, a segregationist and runoff opponent of Sanford's four years ago, for his help in Saturday's overwhelming victory.

North Carolina seems to have taken a firm step toward the middle of the political road. Some will see this as a hint that many other American citizens are likely to move in this direction also.

What this middle of the road endorsement by North Carolina voters in the East, Piedmont, and West fortells for the November election, state and national, will be studied anxiously and discussed widely during the next four months.

Moore now faces Robert L. Gavin, the unsuccessful Republican opponent of Governor Sanford four years ago, in the November election.

SEVEN LEFT HOMELESS - Mr. and Mrs. Julius Young and their five children were left homeless Tuesday, June 30, 12:30 p.m., when fire destroyed their two story frame house on the Harshaw Farm here in Murphy. The fire, of an undertermined origin, could not be brought under control by the Murphy Volunteer Fire Department due to the limitation of the 500 gallon

Gentry To Accompany Boy Scouts On Sixth Jamboree

MURPHY - Tommy Gentry, Scoutmaster for Murphy Troop #402, has been chosen as one of six Scout leaders to accompany 74 Boy Scouts from Western North Carolina to the National Jamboree at Valley Forge State Park, Pa. The Jamboree, where 50,000 Scouts and leaders from the United States, Canada, and Canal Zone, will assemble for a week camping and fellowship, will begin July 10 and last until July 24.

The fourteen day trip will include a one day tour of Washington, D. C., a tour of New York City, and two days at the World's Fair. The complete trip will be made by chartered bus.

The Murphy Lions Club, sponsors of Troop 402, are sending two local boys to the Jamboree. Scouts Freddy Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Merle Davis, and Bill Mc-Donald, son of Mrs. Addie McDonald, will be making the trip from Murphy.

These two Scouts received the rank of Life Scouts at a Court of Honor held Thursday, June 18, at Havesville.

Committee Reviews Progress

MURPHY - Members of the Improvement Com-Home met in the Power Board Building on June 26, at 10:30. The purpose of the meeting was to review and evaluate progress made in the installation of running water and bathrooms in homes in this county without these conveniences.

It was reported that over seventy home improvement loans had been handled through the Citizen's Bank and Trust Company, and over fifty grants had been processed through the F. H. A. Office, for these improvements. In order to foster better health in a community and prevent dreaded disease, it was made evident that properly designed sewage disposal systems be installed. The local county sanitarian is available to give specifications for disposal systems and inspect each system when completed.
