

Today's Neighbor

HAYESVILLE - Rev. Clyde Faulkner was chosen by Miss Mary Jarrett and Mrs. Arthur Penland. Rev. Clyde Faulkner came to Clay County in 1961. Within a short time after coming here, he had worked his way into the hearts and lives of people throughout the county. He is pastor of the Hayesville Charge and beloved by the members and other people in the County.

Rev. Faulkner's home town is Henderson, N. C. He received his A. B. Degree from High Point College and his B. D. Degree from Emory University in Atlanta. He married Miss Hazel Wall in 1935 and she like some other Clay ministers wives has her P.H.T. degree (putting hubby through) Rev. and Mrs. Faulkner are the parents of one son, C. W. Jr. and one grandson, C. W. Jr. is working on his PHD at Emory and teaching at Georgia State College. He also pastors a church at Tucker, Ga., just outside Atlanta.

Rev. Faulkner has preached from Murphy to Manteo since becoming a pastor. Since coming to Clay County as pastor of the Hayesville Charge, a new church has been built at Sweetwater, where the membership has almost doubled, new pews and other sanctuary furniture have been added. Hickory Stand church has completed a rock veneer job on the outside of their church and are in the process of remodeling the sanctuary. Ogden Church has installed a new furnace and painted the outside of their church. Oak Forest church has selected plans for a new church. The plans are now in the hands of a contractor. This church hopes to get construction under way by July.

day and casually mentioned the trip. The word soon got around to his people and they opened their pocket books and soon had provision made for him to be on his way. He took pictures while there and showed these to all his churches.

"If a high school teacher at Hayesville is ill or it is necessary for them to make a trip, he is always ready to substitute. He preaches three sermons each Sunday and visits the shut-ins, the hospitals not only on his charge but others. Just last Sunday his hands were covered with band aids from helping to assemble and install the pews at Sweetwater Church."

"Rev. Faulkner is not only a minister; but he enjoys hunting and fishing. He likes farming and enjoys growing things. He grows a tobacco patch at the Arthur Penlands. His method of planting is unique. He sets the tobacco plants in two row strips, then has a strip of grass, then more tobacco until his patch is finished. Last year it grew so tall, he could not prune the lower leaves without breaking the top leaves."

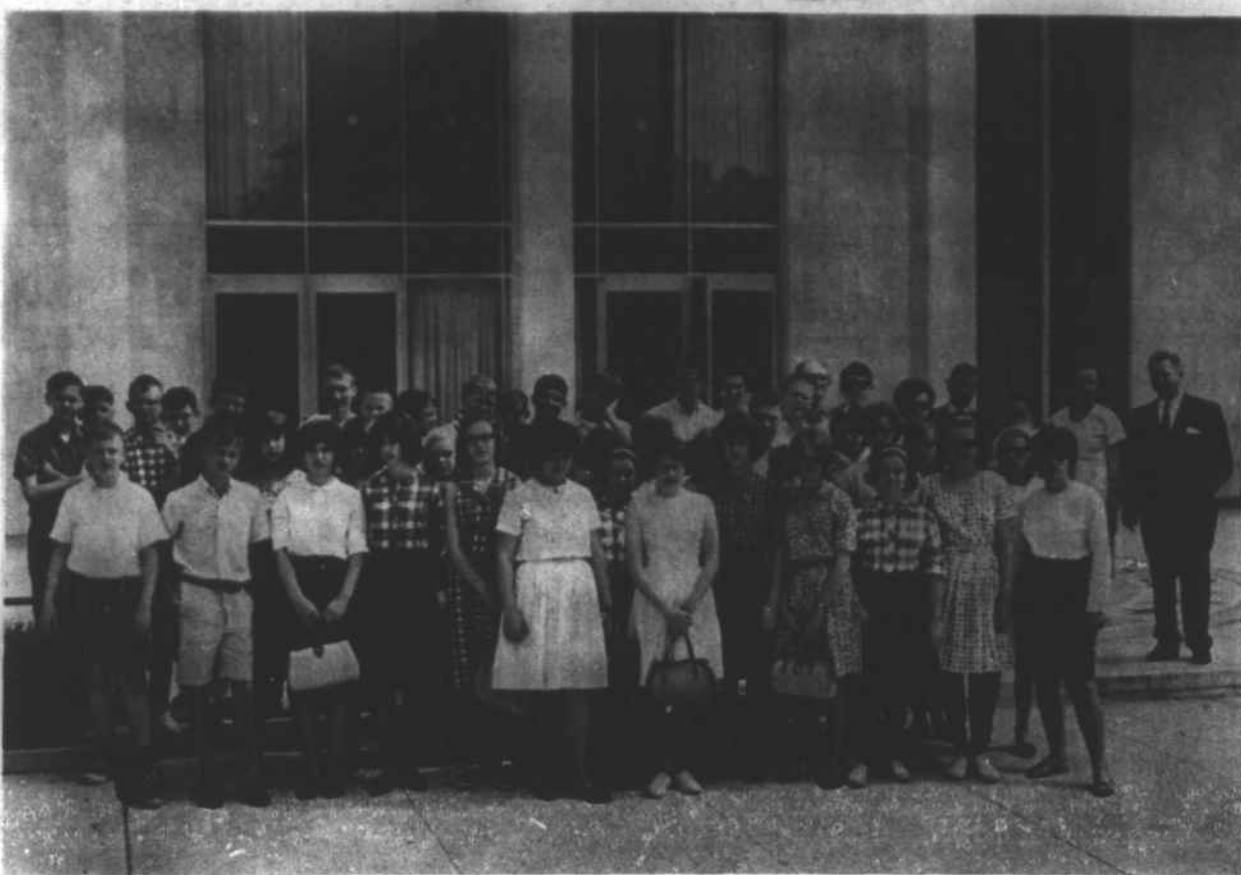

"Rev. Faulkner meant so much to our family and especially my aged mother who was a shut-in for so long. As I see him truly the spirit of Christ is radiant in his life. It shines in his face as he greets young and old. It is exemplified in his every action. Truly it can be said he walks in the footsteps of the MASTER."

Mrs. Arthur Penland says "Mary has already said so many things, I had in mind, and one space will not permit me to say half the good things I know about Rev. Faulkner. Since my husband has been bed fast for the past few years and I have had a lot of illness myself and been hospitalized a lot, the visits he makes to see us both has meant so much to us. He comes at least once each week to read the Bible and pray with us. Since we are not able to attend church this has a special meaning to us."

"One day last summer he came by and asked for some buckets. When I wanted to know what he needed them for he said 'I just thought I would pick you some black berries'. He came back with 3 gallons of nice berries. During time to plant a garden I was ill and he told me not to worry that he had already planted corn, beans, potatoes, peas, squash etc. and even added water melons. Last fall he had a community turnip patch. Everyone who came by was welcome to get them."

"He is the most wonderful person to us. His presence and prayers have helped to sustain us in the most trying times. He not only does the work of a minister; but labors with his hands to help others, which shows the true spirit of God in his life."
