

WE HAVE $210 TO GIVE AWAY, CAN YOU USE IT?

Stewart Accepts Extension Post In Granville County

James M. Stewart, County Extension Chairman for Cherokee County for the past three years has been appointed County Extension Chairman in Granville County, Oxford, N. C.

Stewart has been active in county affairs. He was instrumental in organizing the County Planning Board and the Cherokee County Community Development Program. In agriculture he helped expand the Unit Test Demonstration Program and helped develop the Vine Ripe Trellised Tomato production and market. He has been active in lay work in the First Methodist Church and past vice president of the Murphy Lions Club.

Carolina State was formerly Assistant Agricultural Agent in Madison County. The Stewart will reside at Pine Cone Drive in Oxford.

Other members of his family are his wife, Catherine, age 7, Dickey 6, and Charlotte, age 3.

Succeeding Stewart will be Jack E. Earley. The Cherokee County Board of Commissioners voted unanimously to hire Earley effective July 1. Earley is a 1954 Berea College graduate. After finishing at Berea he served two years in the Army, and has served seven years with the Extension Service in Jackson County as Assistant Agricultural Extension Agent.

Mrs. Earley is the former Maxine Randolph of Canton and is a 1955 graduate of Berea. The Earley's have three children, Douglas, age 8, Gary, age 6, and Lynn, age 4.

Earley and Stewart will both assume their new positions effective July 1.

Yes, we have $210 to give away. We wonder if you could use that much money? We know we could.

ACROSS:

3. Without adequate ZEST an ambitious person is unlikely to succeed (Rest). - Not Rest; instances are not few in which successful men held two jobs at the same time or in which they put in many more than the normal hours of work. Without the necessary ZEST, however, their ambition is of little avail.

5. Often, the more shy a youth is the more likely he is to be embarrassed by a feminine STORE (Stare). - Often doesn't go far enough with Stare. The restraint is better with STORE. Nothing in the clue suggest he must shop in the STORE.

7. His being unduly TIDY sometimes causes a schoolboy to be teased by his fellows (Tiny). - The Tiny boy is teased more frequently than sometimes. The TIDY boy is less pestered. Nothing in the clue indicates he's foppish.

8. We often have a tendency to exaggerate about our GAINS (Pains). - To exaggerate our Pains is a human failing. Often understates. We're more careful in exaggerating our GAINS-- it would be less than prudent to let others know so much about our affairs.

11. We're seldom surprised to hear of a reckless gambler losing his WAGES (Wager). - It's never surprising to hear that a reckless gambler has lost his Wager. Seldom allows for those occasions when he is not foolish as well as reckless. In those instances, we would be surprised to learn he'd lost his WAGES.

14. Often, the more understanding parents are the more reluctant they are to suppress a youthful REVEL (Rebel). - Understanding parents aren't usually foolish parents. They'd squelch a young Rebel in short order. REVEL is better; they were young once, themselves, and they ARE understanding.

15. Age is often the cause of increased trouble with CAR (Ear). - It's open to question whether age is often the cause of increased Ear trouble. There's much less doubt about CAR; parts wear out or break down and have to be replaced.

16. A sense of humor sometimes helps you to endure a humiliating SLIGHT (Flight). - SLIGHT is better. It's less important than Flight. Much depends on who treats you indifferently or disrespectfully. A humiliating Flight affects you directly, importantly and deeply.

DOWN:

1. A man used to spending most of his time with men is often MUTE with women (Mutt). - There's nothing to indicate that his associations have made him a Mutt, that he's stupid. MUTE is better. He's not used to talking to women.

2. It's often very difficult to listen patiently to utterances that are TRITE (Trite). - TRITE, nonsense, fits well with often and very. Trite is weak. Such utterances are merely commonplace, hackneyed. Much of what we say is Trite.

4. When an industry STRIVES to improve working conditions, it often improves the lot of others unconnected with it (Strikes). - Strikes, is debatable, the strikes might cause unemployment and suffering in other fields of employment. STRIVES is more to the point; often applies because it might not be entirely successful.

6. Some people who lead busy lives never seem to REST (Rust). - REST makes a reasonable, straightforward statement. Not so Rust. It means to lose ability through idleness, which scarcely applies to people who lead busy lives.

9. We're apt to be irritated when people take advantage of a friend of ours just because he is SPORT (Short). - The restraint in apt is better with SPORT because the advantage they take is unlikely to be of a serious nature. Short can apply to his size or his financial condition; in both cases the advantage is more likely to be serious.

10. It usually calls for more than a little skill to DARN well (Yarn). - Usually doesn't go far enough with Yarn- otherwise there would be many more people who could yarn well! Exceptions are more likely with DARN; it might be a small hole.

12. Rare indeed are those who seldom GALL anybody (Gull). - To use Gull is to imply that most of us cheat, trick, or dupe others intentionally, which is nonsense. When we GALL someone, it can be done unintentionally; the other person's attitude might well cause us to irritate him without meaning to. The person who goes through life without GALLing anyone is rare indeed.

13. A weak character's excuses for repeated failures are seldom NEW (Few). - That they're seldom NEW is quite in character; he fails repeatedly and probably blames everybody but himself. It's more open to question whether they are seldom Few: he might harp on one theme.

Walter B. Dockery, Former County Commissioner, Dies

HIWASSEE DAM - Walter B. Dockery, 66, of Hiwassee Dam, died Wednesday, June 23, in a Murphy Hospital after a long illness.

He was a native of Cherokee County, a former Cherokee County Commissioner and a merchant at Hiwassee Dam.

Funeral arrangements under the direction of Townson Funeral Home are incomplete and will be announced later.

The Rev. Paul Cullpepper, the Rev. Robert Barker and the Rev. Al Smith will officiate and burial will be in the church cemetery with Masonic Rites.

The body was taken to the home on Wednesday afternoon by Townson Funeral Home and will remain there until taken to the church at the service hour.

Rev. Key Is Honored

ANDREWS - More than 60 members of the First Methodist Church and friends attended the farewell dinner given for Reverend and Mrs. Joel Key and family at the Fellowship Hall Monday night.

Capt. F. W. Swan was master of ceremonies. S. J. Gernert presented a gift, silver gravy boat, from members. Janet Burnette, president of M.Y.F. presented a book of scripture verses from the young people of the church.

The Sanctuary of the Church has been newly redecorated. Capt. Swan lauded Rev. Key and called him his "top sergeant" in accomplishing this feat before leaving. Walls have been painted, doors added to the classrooms and the pulpit altered. Wall to wall carpeting completes the decor.

This was made possible by special offerings of the membership and there is still opportunity for interested members to contribute to this project.

The Keys left Andrews on Wednesday for Winston Salem where Rev. Key becomes the minister of the Wesley Memorial Methodist Church. In that city the Key family will reside at 2868 Hermitage Dr. The church is located at 1210 Bolton Street.

FHA Names Assistant Supervisor

MURPHY - John Wood, a native of Clay County, has been named the assistant county supervisor for the Farmers Home Administration.

Wood assumed his new duties here the first of June.

He is married to the former Miss Gay Nell Mings. They have two children, ages 4 and 7. He served 4 years in the U. S. Air Force, attended Young Harris College, and graduated from N. C. State College in 1947 when he majored in Field Crops and Horticulture.

Wood worked with the N. C. Agricultural Extension Service as assistant agent in charge of vegetable crops in Henderson County and in April 1965 joined the Farmers Home Administration. He trained 8 weeks in Buncombe County and was then assigned to Cherokee and Graham Counties.

Terry Gene Marr Gets Scholarship

ANDREWS - Terry Gene Marr, a 1965 graduate of Andrews High School, has been awarded a Jessie K. Wise Scholarship to UNC for the 1965-66 term. The full tuition scholarship is renewable each year.

Terry is the son of Mrs. Louise Marr. He will major in Secondary Education and Physical Education.

County Schools Receive $21,053 Head Start Grant

MURPHY - Noah Hembree, chairman of the Cherokee County School Board, has been notified that a $21,053 grant has been approved for the county school system's project "Head Start".

This program is part of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964. Sargent Shriver is director of the program.

The program has been assigned to six county schools, Peachtree, Martin's Creek, Ranger, Hiwassee Dam, Unaka, and White Church. Some ninety children are expected to take part.

Teachers for the program are - Peachtree, Mrs. Lester Stowe; Martin's Creek, Mrs. Frank Morrow; Ranger, Mrs. Louella Newman; Hiwassee Dam, Miss Bernice Boring; Unaka, Mrs. Lucille Morrow; and White Church, Mrs. Vey McDonald.

The director of the county program will be Mrs. Addilee B. Brown. School will begin August 28. Children are asked to report at 9:00 a.m.

Joe Ray Is Best N.C. Postmaster

MURPHY - At the North Carolina Postmaster's Convention which was held at Grove Park Inn in Asheville last week, Joe E. Ray of Murphy, received a golden cup for having been voted the most outstanding postmaster in North Carolina.

Murphy Regulates Sewer Use, Unlicensed Auto Parking

MURPHY - The Murphy Town Board, at their regular meeting Monday, June 14, adopted an ordinance regulating the use of the town sewerage system and the parking of unlicensed motor vehicles on town streets.

The town spelled out the use of the public sewers in section 501 of the ordinance. This section states that "no person shall discharge or cause to be discharged any storm water, ground water, roof runoff, subsurface drainage, cooling water, or unpolluted industrial process waters to any sanitary sewer."

The penalty for the violation of this order was contained in section 901 which reads as follows: "Any person who shall violate or fail to comply with any of the provisions of this ordinance or who shall counsel, aid, or abet any such violation or failure to comply, shall be deemed guilty of an offense and shall be punished by a fine not to exceed fifty dollars or by imprisonment not to exceed thirty days."

Charlie Johnson, town clerk, said, "For more complete information on this ordinance, it may be viewed at the town hall." The sewer use ordinance becomes effective on August 1, 1965.

The unlicensed motor vehicle parking ordinance prohibits the parking of such vehicles on the public streets.

The ordinance states that "shall be unlawful for and a violation of the provisions of this ordinance for the owner of any person to park and / or leave for any length of time upon any public street or highway within the corporate limits of the Town of Murphy, any motor vehicle which has not been registered with the North Carolina Department of Motor Vehicles or the Department of Motor Vehicles of some other state and upon which there is not displayed a current registration plate commonly called a license tag."

The effective date of this ordinance was June 14, 1965.

F. C. Bourne, Jr. Expected To Get State Highway Post

MURPHY - Frances C. Bourne, Jr. is expected to be appointed State Highway Commissioner for the 14th

Division. He is secretary-treasurer of the Hitchcock Corp. a Murphy Talc mining operation.

Bourne, a member of the Murphy Town Board since May 10, 1956, would serve on a revamped Highway Commission that will be headed by Joseph M. Hunt, Jr. of Greensboro.

The 14th Division consists of the counties of Cherokee, Clay, Graham, Haywood, Henderson, Jackson, Macon, Polk, Swain, and Transylvania.

Gov. Dan K. Moore is expected to announce the appointments of Hunt and a commissioner for each of the state's 14 highway divisions this week. The new commission will take office July 1.

Bourne appears to have emerged as the governor's choice for commissioner of the 14th Division. Others mentioned for the post included Robert M. White, also of Murphy, W. H. McDonald of Tryon, and Dan M. Allison, Sr. of Sylva.

White is a former chairman of the Cherokee County Democratic Party. He operates the Murphy Wood Co.

McDonald is a manufacturing executive and a former member of the State House of Representatives, and is now chairman of the Polk County Democratic Party. Gov. Moore is believed to feel that the new commissioner should come from one of the counties west of the French Broad River.

Allison, until recently figured prominently in recommendations for the post, but he has withdrawn because of close family ties with the governor. Allison and Moore are double first cousins. Allison, one time chairman of the Jackson County Democratic party and former clerk of court, withdrew rather than cause the governor any criticism.

Through a reorganizational act of the 1965 Legislature, the present 19-member commission was cut to 15 members, including the new directorship, thus giving Gov. Moore an opportunity to appoint his own commission to carry out his highway program during the next four years.

---SCOUT EDITORIALS---

Bourne Is Man For Job

Francis C. Bourne, Jr. of Murphy and Cherokee County is an excellent choice for the post of State Highway Commissioner from the 14th Division.

This newspaper heartily endorses Mr. Bourne and recommends that Governor Moore give his appointment every consideration.

The "Man from the West" that now rules the roost in Raleigh believes that the new highway commissioner for this district should come from west of the French Broad River. Westerners should take notice of this attitude on the part of our Governor. He has not forgotten the West as so many have done in the past. Nor should the West forget him. Governor Moore continues to need strong support from this area to carry out his programs.

Francis C. Bourne, Jr. is a man that can lend strength, ability, and enthusiasm to any program. He will be a working highway commissioner, working for the betterment of the western division and of North Carolina.

Now Comes The Time For Big Appointments

The General Assembly is closing up its work, and should be ready to head home within a matter of hours.

It has been termed a hard working group of lawmakers. Now comes the time when Gov. Moore will begin making important appointments. Such appointments seldom come until after the General Assembly has headed home.

Among some of the appointments will be highway commissioners. The men (or women) to fill these posts are looked upon by the general public as the top of the list. Perhaps it is because the highways are so important these days, and most people feel free to express their feelings about roads.

The Highway Commissioner for this area will come from the district composed of Polk, Henderson, Haywood, Transylvania, Macon, Jackson, Swain, Clay, Graham, and Cherokee Counties.

Several prominent and capable men have been mentioned from time to time about the post. It is almost a forgone conclusion that neither Haywood nor Jackson is in the running, since both counties are considered the home of the governor.

That leaves some nine other counties to provide a favorite son -- a man qualified, capable, and with the time to do the job.

There have been highway commissioners who worked. Others held the position as a matter of honor. This district needs a working commissioner. There is lots to be done.

We have had some good men in the place, such as D. Reeves Noland of Haywood, Harry Buchanan and Ben Price of Henderson, E. L. McKee of Jackson, L. Dale Thrash, Andy Nesbitt of Buncombe (now in another district), and Percy Ferbee of Cherokee.

A man who assumes the work, will find it is an almost full time, exacting, often nerve-wracking post, and he'll also learn that he will put more money into it than he will get out. (Waynesville Mountaineer, July 16, 1965).

Senator Forsyth Stands Tall By Sitting Tight On Bills

Senator Frank Forsyth of Cherokee County has been credited with saving Governor Dan K. Moore's program.

The Senator was personally commended by the Governor at the close of the legislative session in Raleigh last week. Forsyth, powerful chairman of the Senate Finance Committee, literally sat on $41 million worth of tax reduction and rebate legislation sponsored by many large North Carolina cities.

Gov. Moore was reported to have told Forsyth that the bills as proposed would have "scuttled" his programs. He thanked Forsyth for this courageous stand.

Big city newspapers reported the Senator's stand in favor of the Governor's program and against the majority of his finance committee and big city legislators and lobbyists. These newspaper accounts also stated that Forsyth's senate colleagues affectionately referred to him as "Sitting Bull" and "Cochise, chief of the powerful tribe of Cherokee". They did so in recognition of his one man stand for Governor Moore and in respect to his seniority and position as chairman.

Again the Governor has been rewarded for his belief - in and of the West. We, too, commend Senator Forsyth for an unpopular job "well done".
