Home Ec Teachers Workshop Held

The second Home Ec Teachers Workshop was held in early October in the Headquarters Building of the Blue Ridge Mountain Electric Membership Corporation. Last year this workshop was held in the Headquarters building of the Murphy Power Board, Murphy, N.C. Both of these TVA Electric Power Distributors were Co-hosts for the Workshop this year.

Home Economists from the TVA, Winnie Bowman, & Glendon Nichols conducted the Home Ec Teachers Workshop assisting with teaching aids in the area of electrical living. Throughout the Tennessee Valley Area, the power distributors (rural electric cooperatives and municipalities) are extremely anxious to assist the schools of their respective areas with better teaching aids in the field of electrical living. This year the program consisted mainly of information on lighting, new developments, kitchen planning and small appliances. Teaching aids for use by the Home Ec Teachers in other phases of teaching were given to those attending the meeting. Following the meeting, all teachers and school officials were guests of both distributors for dinner at the new Young Harris Motel, Young Harris, Ga.
