Shooting Creek School Starts Adult Classes

Monday night marked an opportunity for the citizens of Shooting Creek and other communities in the Tri-County. Adult classes begin at Shooting Creek School with Bobby S. Burch as one of the two instructors for the 10 week course now offered.

Twelve persons turned out to take the Metropolitan Achievement Test. This test is required to be taken, if not at the beginning of the course, then some time before the course is completed.

This is a wonderful opportunity for the people of Clay County and the adjoining County's to complete further education. No matter what your age, you can go to this school if you are over 18 years old.

There has been so many people that have dropped out of school for various reasons and this school is offered to the people FREE. All the cost is to be there two nights a week and have pencil and paper.

One still has time to enroll. If you would like to enroll get in touch with your local principal at the school nearest you, and he will give you all the information needed.

The classes at Shooting Creek School being Monday night and Wednesday night at 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. For those who lack a High School education, why not take this opportunity to get one.

CARD OF THANKS
With heart felt gratitude we say thank you to all who were so kind during our precious Mother's illness and death. The cards and letters meant so much to her while she was in Knoxville. Also for the beautiful floral offerings. And to those who contributed to the Cancer Fund. A special thank you to Mr. Ivie and his staff. The family of Nina Evans Bristol

TO THE RESIDENTS OF CLAY COUNTY:
I wish it was possible for me to personally thank each of you for your kindness that was shown to us during the loss of my mother, Teddie Jones. Your kindness gave us strength and courage to carry on. May we always have your blessings and good wishes.

Cloths Dryers Keep Seasonal Chores Under Control

Besides drying your clothes, your clothes dryer can help you keep seasonal chores under control. Here are guides for year-round uses that help make short work of these chores.

Winter. Your clothes dryer may be used to "air" pillows, comforters, and blankets. Without heat, tumble only two pillows at a time, giving them room to fluff up. Tumble blankets singly. You may also dry mattress pads washed in your washer. Remove these from the dryer when slightly damp and smooth them into shape on a flat surface to finish drying.

Your clothes dryer may also be used for drying nylon and nylon-cotton jackets and snow suits. To dry these, tumble for about 10 minutes on the proper fabric setting, then remove, turn inside out, and replace for another 10 minutes. Remove and hang on a non-rust hanger to finish air-drying.

Spring. Your clothes dryer is an excellent helper in spring cleaning. Washable slip covers and drapes come from it fresh and bright. These should be removed damp-dry, pressed if necessary, and replaced immediately. Certain fabrics may need a slight touch up of the iron; others may need only smoothing out.

Sheer curtains made of synthetic fibers, with plenty of room to fluff up, come from your dryer ready to rehang. If curtains are not soiled, you may use your clothes dryer to "revive" them by tumbling them without heat.

Summer. Summer is the time when your clothes dryer takes the sting out of ironing. This is the season for drying wash-and-wear clothes that need little or no ironing. Permanently finished cottons, synthetic fabrics, seersucker garments, and gloves - all come from your dryer needing very little, if any, ironing.

Terrycloth beach robes, bathing suits, canvas and cotton beach bags, and cloth purses may all be dried in your clothes dryer.

Fall. In the fall, out of storage come blankets, sweaters, velvets, corduroys, and similar winter garments. These may be freshened in your clothes dryer. Without overcrowding, place garments in your dryer with one or two slightly dampened turkish towels. Set dryer for kind of fabric being freshened, and tumble for five to 15 minutes, depending on fabric. Remove garments while dryer is still tumbling, and hang them on non-rust hangers.

Young Harris Has Fine Arts Concert

The first concert of the winter quarter at Young Harris College will be on January 19 at 8:00 P. M. in the Clegg Fine Arts Auditorium, and will feature Mr. Dale Moore, baritone, and Mr. Dan Winter, pianist. Both artists are members of the music department at the College of Wooster, Ohio.

Mr. Moore, a native of Kansas, received his B. M. and M. M. degrees from the University of Kansas in 1954 and 1956, and he has been awarded a D. Mus. degree from Lincoln Memorial University. His major areas of study have been singing, teaching and conducting, with special study in the field of German Lieder. He has served in various capacities, including director of The Conservatory at Denison University; as minister of music for churches; and as musical director of the Denison Summer Theatre.

Mr. Moore is now associate professor of music at the College of Wooster.

Among his recent performances are included those at Town Hall, International Hugo Wolf Society, and appearances with the Cleveland, Columbus, Akron, and Canton Symphony Orchestras. He has appeared in many other concerts, oratorios, and guest - conducting engagements.

Mr. Daniel Winter, a native of Iowa, holds the degrees B. A. from Maryville College, M. M. from Eastman School of Music, and is a candidate for the Doctor of Musical Arts degree at Indiana University.

Mr. Winter has been an instructor in piano at Iowa Wesleyan College, and an instructor in piano and theory at the Hochstein Memorial School of Music in Rochester, New York. He has also been summer lecturer at the School of Music of the University of Cuyo in Mendoza, Argentina.

In addition to the very significant qualifications of these two splendid artists, there is one other item to which the audience will look forward. This will be the first concert in which the new concert grand piano is used. The magnificent instrument which arrive during the Christmas holidays is being purchased largely through the contributions of alumni and friends. COME, SEE AND HEAR - JANUARY 19 at 8:00 P. M.
