Summer School At WCC Begins Monday

Summer school at Western Carolina College is scheduled to begin on Monday. The first term will end on July 15, and the second term will run from July 18 to August 19.

Dr. Guy Burchfiel, summer school director, said that several special programs are included in addition to the regular graduate and undergraduate curricula.

Seven courses in the Sixth Year Program will be offered at night for the convenience of administrators, and will meet for three hours on the designated evening for a period of ten weeks. Those wishing to attend should register during the regular day-time registration hours on Monday, June 13.

Sixth-year courses are: methods of research-statistics; comparative education; practicum in school administration and supervision (for both experienced and inexperienced administrators); and projective techniques.

Three two-weeks extension courses are scheduled for David Millard Junior High School as follows: June 20-July 1, language arts in the elementary school; July 4-15, workshop in a music curriculum; July 18-20, audio-visual education.

Library science will be offered during both terms for a total of twenty-four quarter hours.

Further information may be obtained from Dr. Burchfiel or from Dr. C.D. Killian, head of WCC's department of education and psychology.
