

what is Coffee Mill Flavor?

It's fresh-ground flavor you can't get in a can.
 Fresh-ground flavor you do get in A&P's whole-bean Eight O'Clock, Red Circle and Bokar Coffees.
 You see, once the coffee bean is ground, the flavor begins to fade.
 That's why, when we at A&P buy the finest coffees we can find, we bring them to you still in the bean.
 And we custom-grind them exactly right for your coffeemaker.
 Takes a little extra work, but we're happy to do it.
 That way we can be sure you'll enjoy the full, fresh taste of A&P's Coffee Mill Flavor.
 Are A&P Coffees a good reason for shopping A&P? They're one of many.

For years I have been in the habit of visiting my dentist. I mean tooth dentist, every six months. If everybody would form this habit it would sure pay off. For the dentists, of course! What in the world did you think I meant?
 I'm sure all of you remember who my dentist is, fellow named Ezzell at Andrews. The reason I like to write about him every now and then is so that folks reading this junk will know that I still have my own teeth. You see I am getting to the age where most of my friends have stought teeth and as a result they see a dentist so seldom that they can no longer say "My Dentist". This gives me a kind of an edge on em.
 This may come as a heck of a surprise to you but he offered me a partnership in his business when I visited him the other day. Maybe you think that I should have said "practice" instead of BUSINESS. But you are wrong business is the right term to use there, and if you don't believe that he will "give you the business" you just go see him!

Well, he didn't actually make me this offer but his pretty, petite and vivacious receptionist did, Mrs. Sherrill and as far as I am concerned her making the offer is equivalent to Doc's making it.
 I said she was pretty and all. You just oughta see her! She has been working with Doc now for several years. And when I asked her to what did she attribute her longevity of employment she said, "Besides being expertly efficient I dye my hair periodically so Doc doesn't get tired of alooking at a brunette all the time." She was a blond with a respectable sun-tan when I was up there the other day.
 Naw, she didn't actually say that about the "expertly efficient"—I just stuck that in there. In fact, she didn't say that other either, and I didn't even actually ask her that question. The way I arrived at that was by being a close observer. So, you see there how much you can find out just by noticing things and paying attention?

As for the partnership offer, she asked me if I didn't want to stay and help em out, and if that isn't an offer to give me the business, or part of it anyway, I'd sure love to know what is.
 And no doubt Doc was agreeable, too, on account of he gave me his latest copy of The Bawl Street Journal to study. You see he wants me to get familiar with the financial intricacies of the business.
 If you aren't hep to the Bawl Street Journal let me wise you up right quick. This is the publication put out by the financial lizards, I mean WIZARDS, like the New York Stock Exchange etc.

And for your further edification I'll just include a few excerpts, ads, and the like which I've stolen, I mean TAKEN, from this sophisticated publication:
 General Motors Corporation has taken a giant step forward in its campaign to stress safety. It has merged its Toronado and Corvair divisions, and will begin production of a new car with the engine in the middle.

Brassiere Manufacturers will probably be the first industry to be affected by the Truth in Packaging bill.

Household Finance Corporation was given an award by President Johnson for having persuaded Premier Kosygin of Russia to permit buying on the installment plan. "Now we'll see who bites whom" said the President.

A mass rally celebrating Republican party harmony was recently held in a phone booth in Washington. (Ooops, excuse me that really read Democrat)

The trend toward shorter skirts has brought a rejoicing to garment district and Bawl Street. Bill Renchard, President of Chemical Bank New York Trust Co. commented "It's been a great treat seeing so much of my secretary."

Harris, Upham & Co. ad: 98.7% of our accounts are completely satisfied doing business with us. (Would you believe 1.3%?)

Lehman Bros. Ad: We're known as the magicians of Wall Street---We can make your money disappear faster than any other firm.

Tucker, Anthony & R.L. Day ad: Let us review your portfolio. Just follow these steps 1. Mail us alist of your holdings. 2. Enclose your holdings (We want to see if you are kidding) 3. Enclose reply postage if you want any of em back. 4. If not returned in 30 days, better come in and talk with one of registered representatives. He may know something. 5. If we definitely can't find them, There is no charge.

Bank of New York ad: Want to avoid expansion problems? Borrow from us. You can't get big on our loans.

Bache & Co. ad: With us the emphasis is on client service. Are you getting any lately? Gosh! I wish I had room for lots more, and I'd especially like to put in a few of those delightfully witty cartoons. Gadzooks, they're rich, Eh Doc?
