Airport Authority Members Named By Commissioners

A Cherokee County Airport the county in August to meet Authority was appointed by with various civic groups the Board of Commissioners at a special meeting held on Named to the Authority were Herman Edwards, Merle Davis, and John Gill of Murphy, Herman H. West of Marble, and Percy B. Ferebee Jeff Brooks, and Lee B. Nichols, Jr. of Andrews.

As conceived by the Board of Commissioners, the Airport Authority will be a political subdivision, dealing on its own with governmental agencies and charged with the responsibility of operating the Cherokee County Airport, but subject to specific controls by the Commissioners. This is a standard method of operation employed by many cities and

The Board also passed upon the details of the acquisition of the present airport site and improvements from Mrs. Lenna W. Wood of Andrews. Meeting with the Board were F.O. Christopher, county attorney, and Herman Edwards chairman of the Airport Advisory Committee.

It was also announced that Col. Robert N. Flourncy, aviation specialist with the NC Department of Conservation and Development, will visit

Firemen Called Twice Sunday

Murphy Volunteer Firemen answered two calls Sunday and found one fire extinguished before they arrived while the other was beyond control. Around 11:30 Sunday mornmond, Va. and a bachelors ing, the wiring in a car driven by Carl Townson of Murphy caught fire just west of the Forsyth Bridge. A passing motorist from Ohio put out the blaze with a fire extinguiser. Townson said he did not learn the motorist's name. The firemen were called to a home owned by Mrs. Myrtle Forrister around midnight Sunday and were unable to save the farme dwelling which was located on US 64 a short distance west of the Murphy city

The home was occupied by three adults and three small children. No one was home when the fire broke out.

said the commissioners are "very well pleased with the general outline of the road" but pointed out that as presently projected, it would interfere with the east end of the runway at the airport. He suggested that the road be built to the north of the airport. Herman Edwards, on behalf of the group working for improvement at the airport requested that the highway be moved in the airport area. He pointed out that there is no other suitable site for the airport in the county.

Mayor Percy Ferebee of Andrews said the people of Andrews have no objections to the proposed highway except in regard to the present conflict at the airport.

There was no serious objection to any other part of the proposed development hiwhich includes by around Murphy, Marble and Andrews. Mayor Cloe Moore said the by-pass around Murphy is the "only solution"to the traffic problems that presently exist in the town.

Russ said the highway will be a four lane road with each lane being 12 feet wide. He said there would be a 40 foot median strip between the lanes and a 10 foot shoulder on each side. The highway will have a speed limit of 60 MPH.

The commissioner said he "pleased with the interest and cooperation of the people of Cherokee County." Bill Garrett, who moderated the hearing, said the by-pass areas would have limited access and no business places would be allowed on these parts of the highway. He said the rest of the route would have partial control of access from all businesses and homes along the route. Garrett said where the development highway does not Robert P. Crumpler will be follow the present corridor ordained and installed as pasof US 19 and 129, the change tor of the Murphy Presbyterian Church Sunday was made to preserve areas that show potential development possibilities. Rev. E.D. Whitson asked why the by-pass did not circle Andrews to the south instead the town. The reasons given of the present route north of were that to build the by-pass on the south side would cost $180,000 more and that such a route would provide poor George Payne of Andrews received an ovation from the crowd when he said "we need highways" and said the matter of whose property a new highway crossed was not as important as getting it built. He said he would be willing to sell any of his property that was needed for the new road. He said as things stand now, "you have to wait two hours just to cross the street in Andrews sometimes."

Nearly all the seats in the courtroom were taken for the Water Safety Demo Friday At Andrews

A swimming and water sa-fety demonstation will be presented by Four-Square Community Action and the Red Cross Friday afternoon at 5:30 at the Andrews Pool.

The program is part of Four-Square's summer swimming project now under way in Cherokee, Clay Graham and Swain counties. The local anti-poverty agency currently has 1000 persons enrolled in the project, covering non-swimmers up through Senior Lifesaving students.

The demonstration at Andrews is expected to attract a large number of dignitaries. Invitations are being sent to all local officials, along with a number of area and state officials. The general public is also invited.

Mrs. Inez Kahn, Four-Square swimming director, and Gene Jarvis, an area Red Cross volunteer instructor, are in charge of the dem-onstation. Although final plans are not complete, they hope to bring local rescue squads into the program for some lifesaving demonstrations.

Holwick's co-driver, Bill McWhorter, 43, of Columbus, miles cast of Murphy on US Ohio, escaped injury. He was asleep in the sleeper compartment of the cab when the truck overturned. McWhorter theorized that Holwick may have fallen asleep at the wheel.

Ranger, Hiwassee Dam Play Tonight

Ranger and Hiwassee Dam will battle to keep their slim pennant hopes alive in the Murphy Softball Association tonight. The loser will be virtually eliminated and the winner will have a slim chance of overtaking the unbeaten Independents. The Independents can assure themselves of the championship simply by winning their remaining two games.

The winner tonight will also virtually assure themselves a spot in the tournament between the top two teams in each association in the fourcounty area.

Youth Faces Three Charges Following Chase By Patrol

Murphy faces three charges there. following a high speed chase and a wreck Monday.

The Highway Patrol received a call Monday reporting that a vehicle was being operated in a reckless manner in the Peachtree area. Patrolmen Don Reavis and Pat started toward Miller Peachtree to investigate the complaint. They met the vehicle headed toward Murphy on US 64, turned and chased it.

The driver sped into Mur-phy, turned off the highway and up the road on Hospital Hill.

The vehicle ran off the road and into Kenneth Godfrey's yard when the driver realized he was trapped. It overturned three times as it fell down an embankment and landed in Godfrey's cornfield. Godfrey's 11-year-old son Tony had left the field a few min-participating in the Cherokee Scout's "Values Galore" campaign. The clinic was held last Thursday night at the Elementary School lunchroom following a steak dinner at O'Dell's.

This phase will be accomplished largely during the summer, and when the participants start teaching this fall, they will also begin grad-uate work at WCC leading to the master of arts in education degree. All will be assigned to schools within commuting distance of the college

Of the group here, a few are WCC graduates; however, most of them are from other colleges and other states. At this point, they are not sure what to expect when they begin working in the local schools. Perhaps some will have to modify some preconceived ideas, but all are agreed that they are here to learn as well as to teach.

The interns themselves make an interesting study, considering the variety in their backgrounds. Not only are there recent graduates and
