

THE SCOUT'S FOOTBALL CONTEST BEGINS THIS WEEK

Over $400 In Cash And Prizes To Lucky Winners

You asked for it and we're giving it to you! The Scout's Football Contest was such a big hit with our readers last year that we're running it again and we've added more money to the jackpot. Over $400 will be awarded in cash prizes and a football weekend in Atlanta during the next 12 weeks.

The Football Contest is fun and it's easy to play. Anyone can enter except employees of The Scout and their immediate families.

Turn to the Football Contest Page and you'll notice there is a game to be played this week listed in each advertisement. Simply circle the team you think will win this game. You don't have to predict the score.

Then go to the tie-breaker and here you will have to predict the outcome. This tie-breaker is used only if necessary to break ties in the number of correct selections among the other games.

The entry with the most correct selections will win $10. The second place winner will get $6 and third place is worth $4. The number of dollars won also equals the number of points the winner will be credited with for the big prize-the football weekend in Atlanta. Each first place winner gets 10 points, each second place winner gets six points and the third place winner will be credited with four points.

The grand prize is a weekend for two in Atlanta on December 17 and 18. It includes lodging at either the Holiday Inn or Americana and two tickets to the National Football League game between the Atlanta Falcons and the Pittsburgh Steelers.

The Scout is also going to conduct a drawing for all of the advertisers participating in the contest on December 13. The winner of this drawing gets the same weekend in Atlanta for two.

Read the rules carefully and make your selections. Remember that you can either mail your entry or bring it to the Scout office in person.

Entries must be received by 5 p.m. Friday, the day after publication. Those mailed must be postmarked no later than Friday A.M.

Taylor Urges Bill To Curb Rioters

WASHINGTON--Eleventh District Congressman Roy A. Taylor has introduced a bill to curb the activities of wandering racial agitators.

His bill would make it a serious federal offense to travel in or use a facility of interstate commerce with the intent of inciting a riot or other form of civil disobedience. "A way must be found to stop troublemakers who go from city to city and state to state to promote riots and violence and stir up race against race and class against class," Rep. Taylor declares.

Earlier this year, the house added an anti-riot amendment to the 1965 Civil Rights Bill. However, the civil rights measure appears to have no chance of passage by the Senate.

"This makes the enactment of separate anti-riot legislation not only desirable but compelling if we expect to cope with professional agitators who direct riots either personally or remotely through use of the telephone and U.S. mail," Congressman Taylor said.

"Today, we are witnessing a frightening acceleration of civil disobedience and disrespect for law and order. In some of our large metropolitan centers, disobedience has almost reached the state of anarchy," he said.

The Congressman said "firm measures must be taken to deal with those who take lives and destroy property under the protective cloak of civil rights."

His bill would make it a federal crime punishable by up to five years in jail or $10,000 fine for anyone to cross a state line with the intent of encouraging, inciting or participating in a riot. It would not replace state laws, but would reinforce them by authorizing use of the FBI and federal court prosecutions, he said.

Commissioners OK Longer Runway, Ask Bids On Lot

The Cherokee County Board of Commissioners met in a special session at the courthouse on Tuesday morning. The Commissioners unanimously adopted a resolution endorsing an ultimate 1700 foot extension to the proposed 4300 foot runway at the Cherokee County Airport. The clear zone for the extension would be 2000 feet.

This endorsement is in line with a recommendation from the Federal Aviation Agency.

The action taken at Tuesday's meeting is another in a series of decisions being made to carry out the acquisition and improvement of the airport near Andrews. It will be financed partly through Federal funds and partly through the $150,000 bond issue approved by the voters of Cherokee County on August 27.

In another development, the Commissioners authorized the county accountant, Mrs. Clara Mae Adams to receive bids for the black topping of the parking lot behind the courthouse.
