The Fantasticks Produced At YHC

The Fantasticks is to be produced by the Delta Gamma Drama Society in cooperation with the Department of Music, Thursday, Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Clegg Fine Arts Auditorium, Young Harris College Campus, Young Harris, Ga.

The Fantasticks, with book and lyrics by Tom Jones and music by Harvey Schmidt, was written specifically for, and produced, off-Broadway. The Fantasticks opened May 3, 1960 and has become since that time New York's longest-running musical.

The Fantasticks is a story about young love, parents, the world, and human nature—but most of all about young love. Utilizing a small cast and a plain wood platform with four poles, it attempts to create its own world by the use of music and words.

Its blend of satire and romanticism, bright comedy and serious verse, makes The Fantasticks one of the most rewarding and unusual shows from the world of musical theatre.

The Young Harris College production of The Fantasticks is directed by Robert R. Pevitts with William Fox handling the musical direction. In the case are: Buddy Berry, As El Gallo; Sally O'Leary, the Girl; David Braddy, the Boy; Roger Bright, the Boy's Father; Gary Dye, the Girl's Father; Carolina Gillespie, the Mute; Phil Hutcheson, the Old Actor, and Cecil Wright as the Old Indian.

Seats are available any night during the run of The Fantasticks. Individual admissions are $1.00. Student groups rates are available at 75¢ each for student groups of ten or more, and 50¢ each for student groups of twenty five or more.
