Regional Library To Assist In Opening Of Moss Library

With the opening of the new Moss Memorial Library only a few weeks away, folks at the Nantahala Regional Library headquarters have been making plans to help with the move and the furnishing of books to fill the new shelves.

Clay County has been a member of the Nantahala Regional Library system since its beginning in 1942.

Each of the three counties, Cherokee, Graham and Clay supports the Regional Library with appropriations of 50¢ per capita. In turn this region qualifies for the Regional Incentive Grant based on amount of local support, and earns $3,000. per county along with the Basic State Aid to Public Libraries of $4,000. per county.

The headquarters library for this region is located on the ground floor of the Murphy Carnegie Library building and is staffed with a professionally trained librarian, Mrs. Felix Palmer, and business manager, Mrs. Bunch Nugent, who order, process, catalog books and periodicals and Mrs. C.H. Townson, Assistant director and bookmobile librarian and Mrs. Elizabeth Morris, bookmobile driver and assistant, who keep the bookmobile running in these three counties. Most of the books are purchased through a central processing center located at the State Library in Raleigh, thus avoiding much duplication and relieving the staff for other tasks.

Librarians cooperating in a region gain many advantages that could not be achieved alone. These member libraries have access to the entire collection of books and periodicals through the interlibrary loan system. If a book is not available in this region a request is sent to the State Library and there, with the record of holdings of several other large libraries, almost any book in the State can be made available to the citizens of this area.

This region is fortunate to have State Library Consultants to advise librarians and aid in new projects. Miss Phyllis Snyder is the consultant for this area and has worked many hours on the

13 Rescue Squad Members
Complete Training Course

Thirteen members of the Clay County Rescue Squad have received certificates for completion of a course conducted by Graham Johnston of Elkin. He was sponsored by the N.C. State Department of Insurance.

The instruction covered 12 hours over a four-night period.

Those receiving certificates were Johnny C. Auberry, Howard Coffee, R.B. Coffee, H.C. McDowell, George Martin, Harold C. Martin, Sgt. Howard "Buck" Martin, Harold Moss, Robert "Butch" Staton, Paul Watkins, Don Weaver, Carl D. Moses and Capt Paul "Heavy" Meese Graham told the group it took a "special type" of man to be a good member of a rescue squad, one who is willing to sacrifice time, effort and money for the good of others.

Two more training schools are planned by the Clay County group in the near future.

Peachtree News

Mrs. William Robinson visited her mother, who has been quite ill, in Gastonia last week.

Peachtree is pleased to learn that one of her residents, Mrs. Bob Hendrix, was winner of the Regional Business and Professional Women's Award on last Sunday, April 30th. She will now participate for state honors in Durham in June.

We are happy to learn that Mrs. Byrd Hall is able to be home from the hospital.
