Promoter Jack Wimpey of Tri-County Raceway presented trophy to feature winner Harold Fryar for winning first feature race of the 1968 season. NOTHING DOING. . . . A group of State University students here—excited by the death and consequences of the death, of Dr. Martin Luther King—have asked Gov. Dan Moore to call a special session of the Legislature.

J. Melville Broughton, running hard for Governor, has done the same thing.

Well, strange things are happening all over. Such as LBJ deciding not to run for re-election and Mrs. John F. Kennedy wearing mesh hose to the funeral of Dr. King. No kidding.

But Gov. Moore has had a bout with pneumonia, a case of mumps, and four sessions of the Legislature (two special) during his three-years-and-three months in the Mansion. A special session of the Legislature would no doubt top the list of the things Gov. Moore does not want this year.

"I'M GONNA". . . There is a fellow writing for the "Aboskie Herald" by the name of Parson Jones.

Commenting on political campaigns recently he came out with a platform like this:

"The way it looks now, I'm gonna come out for and against the Vietnam war; I'm for and against integration; for and against the poverty program; for and against government spending; and for and against the U. S. Supreme Court. I intend to build our cities, improve our highways, go to the moon, have free education for all and cut out all our taxes. I'm gonna stop all riots and crimes in the streets by taking a hike through all the states and cities in the U.S. When folks see how sincere I am, they'll lay down their matches and guns. On top of all this, I'm gonna increase both individual freedom and government power. . . . Notice, that you don't have to explain how you're gonna bring about all you say you'll do. Just make promises—that's the gimmick. I must close and dream up some more ridiculous promises."

MOVING SOUTH. . . . A large and well financed agricultural organization—with strong North Carolina roots and connections—will soon announce that it is moving out of Washington, D. C.

This agency, a household term in farm circles, has always maintained offices in the National Capital—not too far from the White House—will move to Atlanta—kit and keoodle—around July 1.
