NEGRO BATTALION ORDERED TO FT. MACON

Regimental Inspection at Bryan Grimes This Afternoon—Salem Recruiting Officer Censured by Gen. Cowles.

CALVIN D. COWLES ACCEPTS LIEUTENANT COLONELCY

Wired Adjutant General from Fort St. Philips, La.—The Heavy Battery Is Dispensed With by Order of the War Department.

To-day at 12 o'clock strict army regulations went into effect at Camp Bryan Grimes and the soldier boys, no longer the North Carolina State Guard, but now members of the regular United States Army, began life in earnest.

The Governor wired the War Department asking that the heavy battery from this State be dispensed with and his request was granted. This morning with the consent of the War Department, he ordered that a battalion of negro troops be called and that they be concentrated at Fort Macon. The battalion will consist of three companies and these will be taken probably from Raleigh, Wilmington and Charlotte, though the department here refuses to name the companies as yet.

James H. Young, it is stated, is settled for the appointment as Major of the Battalion, though there has arisen a mighty opposition.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock, the entire regiment from Camp Bryan Grimes is being drilled on the parade grounds in the Cameron field and will, as a body, be mustered into U. S. service by Captain Gresham.

The Adjutant General to-day received the following telegram:

Fort St. Philips, La., via New Orleans, May 5.

Adjutant General, N. C. Raleigh, N. C. Will accept appointment. Ask approval of War Department and order to join.

CALVIN D. COWLES.

The War Department has been requested to detail Captain Cowles to duty here.

The most stirring incident of the day, was the receipt of the following letter from a prominent gentleman in Winston:

Gen. A. D. Cowles, Adjutant General, Raleigh, N. C.

In Salem, N. C., in front of the office of Eugene Fought, is a large white cloth with the words "Recruiting office." Then tacked on the side of the office is a United States placard of pictures of United States soldiers etc. Then in large letters on a black board are these, "No man who ever fought against Uncle Sam need apply."

It has created a great deal of comment from ex-Confederate soldiers about here.

Wish you would write Eugene Fought, Salem, N. C., ordering this off.

General Cowles was not slow about answering the letter, and immediately dispatched the following stiff epistle to the recruiting officer:

Eugene Fought, Salem, N. C.:

Remove the placard from your office reading "No man who ever fought against Uncle Sam need apply."

The Governor of North Carolina nor the President of the United States will permit this insult to the gallant Confederate soldiers whose hearts to-day are burning with the intense fires of national patriotism. They fought for principle. They fought—and they fought gallantly. The abridgment of the sword was chosen and they lost. Now there are not more loyal sons than they North, East or West. I am surprised that in the face of National peril and the chivalrous bearing of all our citizens, that you should not have observed the ennobling proprieties distinguishing all brave men. Among all Americans to-day in the words of General Grant: "Let us have peace."

A. D. COWLES.

Adjutant General.

The letter of General Cowles has received commendation at the hands of Confederate veterans and citizens generally, and Mr. Fought has not received much complimentary mention.

The Second Regiment's orders will not be issued until the camp outfit arrives, and this will probably be the first of next week.

AT CAMP BRYAN GRIMES.

Now that the companies are all supplied with the necessary cooking utensils and better still something to cook the men are beginning to like camp life. The weather since their arrival has been the preventive of much sickness as sufficient time had not been given to ditch the tents.

Macon county, way up in the far west, has only one representative in the First Regiment. The Macon man is R. L. Frenks, and if all reports from fellow-members of his company are correct, it would take only a few more soldiers from Macon county to whip the whole Spanish army.

The only newspaper man yet discovered among the soldiers is W. T. Herriott, of the Asheville Gazette. He has been a hustler as a journalist and will doubtless represent the profession in the proper way on the battle field. Mr. Herriott is on the staff of Col. Armfield.

Sergeant Tom Lumsden, as stated in the Times yesterday, has been relieved from the Governor's Guard and been detailed to duty among the musicians. His appointment is for Band Master, a well paying position, with a rank of captain.

Since a regular sergeant has been placed in charge of the Band at Camp Bryan Grimes it is thought the music will improve. Yesterday, while the band played, members of the Charlotte company thought it was a Spanish war cry. No matter then what quality the music if it makes the men wish to fight.

Lieutenant Marshall, U. S. A., who is here in charge of the Commissary Department, is quite popular among the officers. He is making many friends in the city as well as at the camp.

The statement that Captain Gresham would ask for detail to active service as soon as he has completed the mustering in of the N. C. volunteer forces, is unpleasant news to Raleigh people. It is hoped, however, should the Captain's request be granted that he would be given some important command in our volunteer forces, with whom he is already quite a favorite. Raleigh has become attached to Captain Gresham and his charming wife, and their many friends would deeply regret their departure.

Captain Winter, Surgeon U. S. A., who is here conducting the physical examinations will go to Washington in a few days on short leave. He goes to spend Sunday with his wife and will then return to duty here, as his orders do not limit his services with the North Carolina volunteers.

The Charlotte boys are urging Captain Robertson to apply for the "Bryan" Captain took the joke in his characteristic manner and said that one term in Charlotte was enough for him.

The men who are given right leave until tap (10 o'clock) are very careful about returning on time. Breaking rules one or more times cuts off leave privilege for 30 days.

Captain Robert Gladstone, of the Reidsville Rifles, which company is to report in the Second Regiment, visited
