POLITICS THE CAUSE

Calmette Had Waged a Bitter Campaign Against Caillaux, Minister of Finance—Stated Had Done Duty Only.

Paris, March 16.—Gaston Calmette, editor of the Figaro, who today by Madame Henriette Caillaux, wife of Joseph Caillaux, the French Minister of Finance, died tonight.

Mme. Caillaux went to the office of the Figaro to carry out an act of vengeance against M. Calmette, who had been waging a campaign characterized by great bitterness against the minister of finance. She fired at least three times, M. Calmette being wounded in the chest, in the side, and in the abdomen.

While the editor was being transported to the hospital he said repeatedly: "I have done my duty. I have done my duty."

Having committed the deed, Mme. Caillaux submitted to arrest and her employees of the Figaro officers were taking the pistol from her hands she said: "Since there is no justice in this country, I take upon myself an act of justice. Take me where you will."

Mme. Caillaux immediately was removed to a police station, where she underwent a preliminary examination, the substance of which was communicated to the press at her desire. "I am sorry," she said, "for what I was obliged to do. I had no intention of killing M. Calmette and I would be happy to know that he will recover. I desired only to teach him a lesson."

At the moment of the attack M. Calmette was preparing to leave his office in the company of Paul Bourget, the author. He excused himself to receive Mme. Caillaux.

FAIRIES STILL IN IRELAND.

Nobody ever drove the fairies out of Ireland, and nobody ever will, for that matter. The Emerald Isle is sans snakes, but not sans the "wee folk" for the sturdy citizens of Donegal yet will relate the doings of the sprites who reward good and punish evil with quite as much avidity as they did hundreds of years ago.

The little folk, whom the more stolid Brits insist are but creatures of Celtic imagination, are peculiar elves. Few there are who have seen them and the few have done so only when the moon was at the right phase or on some holiday in elfdom, when, the legend goes, the fairies are visible to mortal eyes and even may be captured if you but snip their shadows.

"Auld sod" Irish—many of them—are firm in the faith that the "wee folk" forecast joys and sorrows, and that they keep away the wicked banshee and otherwise protect the household of their favorites. When Michael McFaul, a farmer of Clonmany county of Donegal, missed recently from his hiding place some $1,500 he had saved as a preliminary to embarking upon the sea of matrimony, he never once doubted but that the incident was a warning from "wee folk" that they did not look kindly upon his suit.

"Tis that they don't like her," he said, "and I'll not be marryin' into bad luck. 'Twas just their way o' tellin' me."

The police, however, were less inclined to the theory of elfish warning and when a young woman employed at the McFaul household tried in a neighboring village to cash some large bank notes she was arrested and convicted of the theft.

The McFauls refuse to accept the loss in other than a philanthropic mood, and still believe the little folk of the woods chose that manner of expressing disapproval of the marriage which would bring no happiness to the family.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

THIS FINE FRATERNAL ORDER IS STRONG AND ACTIVE IN NORTH CAROLINA.

The visit of the two hundred or more North Carolina Pythians to the Golden Jubilee celebration in Washington last month has served to arouse great enthusiasm among the membership throughout the State. Accessions to the Order are being reported from every section of the State.

Commencing in April, Grand Chancellor J. D. Pridden, of Durham, will make a tour of the State to visit all of the fourteen districts in North Carolina. He will commence in the eastern part of the State, and will visit meetings of every district convention in North Carolina clear to the Tennessee line. He is now calling upon the district deputies in all sections to call their meetings, and to arrange the dates so that he can visit all of them in rapid succession. The tour will be a very unique one, as so far as is known nothing of this sort has been attempted by any chief executive of the Order before.

It is expected that these visits of the Grand Chancellor will arouse great enthusiasm among the members, and that it will be productive of great good.

Grand Vice-Chancellor J. G. Baird, of Charlotte, who will next year be the official head of the Order in the State, is actively engaged in the work of the Order. He is an eloquent speaker, and has visited a number of lodges already since the last session of the Grand Lodge.

Today State Deputy W. W. Wilson will institute a new lodge at Mount Tabor in Columbus county. The charter members of the lodge are twenty of the most prominent citizens of the town, and it is believed that a fine lodge will be established. There are a number of other places in the State where new lodges are expected to be organized during the next few months.

Ruffin Lodge No. 6 of this city, which is one of the oldest and most energetic in the State, has ever been a model of fraternal spirit and philanthropic activity as well as progressiveness, is keeping abreast of this state wide development within the ranks of Pythianism, as evidenced by its increasing membership and the very beautiful new home it has now under construction on the corner opposite the postoffice.

We go forward in the slogan also of Ruffin Lodge K. of P.

LIBRARY TALK

Many times these questions are asked by patrons of the public library: "Why do we not get more new books?" "Why do we not buy a collection of books on music?" "Why do we not have more reference books?" To all such questions there is but one answer; there is not enough money. When Goldsboro people decide to have a well equipped public library they will have it. Henry Ward Beecher said: "A little library growing larger every year is an honorable part of a man's history. It is a man's duty to have books. A library is not a luxury, but one of the necessities of life."

Story Hour.
Miss Hattie Howard delightfully entertained the third grade children at the library Saturday morning. The stories told were "Little Claus and Great Claus," "The Tinder Box," and "Hans, the Hero of Holland."

New Books.
The following list of new books will be in the shelves at the public library Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock: The Garden Without Walls. Quest of the Golden Grail. Home. Psychology of Daily Life. The Flying Inn. The Lodger. Religion and Life. Sunshine Jane. Bluebird. The End of Her Honeymoon. A Changed Man and Other Tales. The Plain Man and His Wife.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

Mr. J. M. Howard, of New Bern, was on a business visit to our city today.

Miss Pearl Robertson, of Washington, D. C., is in the city, visiting Miss Hildah Slaughter.

Hon. W. S. O'B. Robinson returned last night from a week-end visit to the home of his son W. S. O'B., Jr., in Charlotte.

Mr. John M. Robinson of the Charlotte bar, returning from attendance at Clinton Superior Court, spent last night in the city and left on the afternoon train for Charlotte.

Mrs. Edmund Ham, of Pikeville, who recently underwent a most serious surgical operation at The Goldsboro Hospital, is now convalescent and will be permitted to return home within the next few days.

Mrs. Will L. Humphrey, of Norfolk arrived this afternoon, in advance of the Humphrey-Edwards wedding, and is the guest of the groom-elect and his sister Miss Mary Humphrey, at their home on Mulberry Street west.

FOR CONGRESS.

For some time my friends have importuned me to become a candidate for Congress. I have thought the matter over very carefully and have decided to enter the race. I consider it a worthy ambition to represent the Third District in the U. S. Congress and I take this method of announcing my candidacy to the voters of the district, subject to the nomination of the Democratic Congressional Convention. If my friends accord me the honor to save them I shall do so faithfully as I know how, and to this end I promise them I shall be satisfied only when I have given my most careful attention to every interest of the District.

GONE TO THE BAD AGAIN

Judge Carter Says Liquor Law Violations in Asheville Are Flagrant as Ever.

Asheville, N. C., March 16.—In an interview published in a local paper today, Judge Frank Carter, who conducted an investigation of alleged violations of the liquor laws here several months ago, was quoted as saying that he has learned on good authority that the law is being violated about as flagrant as was the case before he investigated local conditions.

Judge Carter stated that last fall he paved the way for the enforcement of the prohibition laws here, although he states that there is no doubt in his mind that whiskey is being received here in large quantities and the police are allowing the consignees to receipt for it without question.

Judge Carter's investigation here attracted State-wide interest and the news that he has again issued a statement relative to local conditions caused a sensation here this afternoon. When he conducted his investigation he was holding court here, although now he is out of the district and has no power to take any action, it is said.

TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

HELD AT GOLDSBORO GRADED SCHOOL LAST SATURDAY, MARCH 7TH.

The Wayne County Teachers' Association met in regular monthly session at the Goldsboro Graded School on March 7th, at 11 o'clock. The program for the Grammar school section was as follows:

1. A lesson in Geography. Subject—The Balkan States by Supt. A. M. Proctor.

2. Sixth and Seventh grade language and composition, by Miss Sallie Williams.

Mr. Proctor and Miss Williams were both absent so the meeting was thrown open for a general discussion of language and composition and also of all the work done by the seventh grades.

The names of the candidates for graduation were handed to the Superintendent by the teachers.

Next the Reading Circle was discussed.

An intermission of fifteen minutes was given after which a general meeting of the three divisions was held.

Supt. Atkinson thanked the county teachers for their earnest work in the school and the interest they had shown in the meetings of the Association. He also thanked the Graded school teachers for their attendance and help.

Next the Superintendent stated that enough money had been apportioned to Wayne county from the State Equalizing Fund to extend our regular four months county term twenty-one and three tenths days. The teachers readily agreed to give the seven tenths making the school term five months and two days.

Betterment work was then discussed. One association has been organized since the last Teachers' meeting. Final report blanks for the Betterment work were given out.

County Commencement programs were distributed.

Mr. Edgerton was asked to talk to the teachers about the programs. He made an enthusiastic talk saying in conclusion that he was sure the Commencement this year would be a great success as all the County Commencements we had ever had were a success with the exception of the dinner, and he was sure that the dinner would be a success this year.

It was stated that cardboard for the exhibits, 24x36 inches, could not be obtained. On motion of Mr. Edgerton the standard sized cardboard was adopted.

W. C. T. U. RALLY

CITIZENS TEMPERANCE MEETING IN FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH TONIGHT.

As announced in yesterday's Argus Mrs. George Green, of New Bern, who speaks to the women of the city in the First Baptist Church this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the interest of the National Temperance Movement, under the auspices of the W. C. T. U., will address a union meeting in the same cause in the same church tonight at 7:30 o'clock, and the Goldsboro public in general is cordially invited to hear her.

Mrs. Green held meetings in Mt. Olive yesterday and last night, and is most encouraged over the results achieved in that progressive county town. An organization composed of the leading business men of the town was accomplished to co-operate with the local W. C. T. U. and promote the growing interest in local and national temperance.

Goldsboro should turn out this evening and give Mrs. Green a representative audience, as we are sure our people are in full sympathy with the cause she represents.
