ALL BUSINESS SUSPENDED DURING FUNERAL

Of Col. A. B. Andrews--Funeral Services at Raleigh Largely Attended

MANY OFFICIALS PRESENT

Fallbearers included President Fairfax Harrison and other Southern officials--floral tributes in great profusion.

Raleigh, April 19.—The funeral services at the Church of the Good Shepherd from which beautiful structure the body of Col. A. B. Andrews, first vice president of the Southern railway, was borne and buried late this afternoon, were attended by the greatest number of dignitaries ever brought to Raleigh.

A special train this morning brought many Southern officials, but special cars standing on the sidetracks and under the shed showed that the other systems were represented by strong friendships for the family. Never before had there been such a number of automobiles stationed along the street to the north of the church and these extended to several blocks surrounding the church where the funeral was held.

Bishop Joseph B. Cheshire of the North Carolina diocese, and Rev. Dr. I. M. Pittenger, rector of the church of which Colonel Andrews was a member, conducted the service of the Episcopal church. One of the transepts of the church was reserved for the officials and those who attended the funeral of President Spencer in Washington eight years ago declare that that event in Washington did not bring a more notable gathering to do honor to a great individual.

The pallbearers were President Fairfax Harrison, of the Southern; Vice President J. M. Culp, General Counsel A. P. Thom, J. W. H. McWhorter, Jos. G. Brown, Dr. D. E. Everett, Ed. Chambers Smith and John C. Drewry. The burial was in Oakwood cemetery.

During the funeral hour business houses closed, and under the order of Mayor Johnson a general suspension of commerce for an hour followed. Not only did the Southern's wheels stop for a brief period of three minutes, but throughout the system stations were heavily draped and the habiliments of grief worn by every institution of which Colonel Andrews was a part.

The church was almost a wilderness of flowers, the hot houses of the city being unequal to the demands upon them, and floral tributes came in great profusion from the north.

Among the prominent officials and individuals who attended were the following: President Fairfax Harrison, of the Southern; J. H. Culp, vice president; E. H. Coapman, vice president and general manager; H. C. Ansley, treasurer; A. H. Plant, comptroller; F. S. Wynn, secretary; Geo. R. Anderson, assistant secretary; E. H. Kemper, assistant comptroller; H. H. Laughton, auditor; H. E. Hytchens, superintendent of passenger transportation; R. E. Simpson, general superintendent; A. D. Shelton, superintendent; W. C. Hudson, superintendent; C. G. Arthur, engineer; T. H. Gatlin, assistant chief engineer; M. W. & S. J. W. Connelly, chief special agent; L. Green, freight traffic manager; H. F. Cary, general passenger agent; M. V. Richards, commissioner industrial and agricultural department; H. E. Waernicke, assistant commissioner industrial and agricultural department; L. E. Jeffries, general attorney; M. H. Dooley, chief claim agent; J. H. Drake, general freight agent; Hamilton Baxter, division freight agent.

In addition to these were: Maj. Thos. Parker, superintendent D. & W. railway; J. R. Anderson, superintendent Blue Ridge; J. A. White, superintendent Augusta Southern; D. W. Newell, superintendent Tullulah Falls railway; E. T. Lamb, receiver and general manager of the A. B. & A. railroad; W. B. Rodman, of the Norfolk Southern; O. F. Mason of Gastonia.

"A MOTHER IN ISRAEL"

Mrs. Lucy G. Galloway, Goldsboro's Oldest Citizen Passes

A Woman Whom Everybody Loved—Whom the Oldest of Us Do Not Remember When She Was Not In our Lives and Solicitous For Our Welfare.

No sadder chronicle has ever been couched in the Argus columns to the community as a whole, than that which we here pen—the death of Mrs. Lucy G. Galloway, relict of the late Capt. A. J. Galloway, and the venerable mother of Mrs. Isabel G. Miller and Mrs. Thos. R. Robinson, of this city, which occurred this morning at 8:30 o'clock, at the home of the latter, on William street, where she had gone some days ago, as was her wont, occasionally, to spend awhile, making her home, however, with her daughter Mrs. Isabel Miller, on Chestnut street, west, aged 90 years 2 months and 20 days, having been born January 31, 1825.

Few of today can remember the time when Mrs. Galloway was not in our lives—an interested, helpful, welcoming personality to the young people of her circle in her home, which was always open to them, always welcome, always attractive, always enjoyable and uplifting. She delighted in the young people, and ever kept her own heart young that she might sympathize with them and give them cheer, and though her own heartbeats were often muffled by thorns as well as by roses, through the varying vicissitudes of her long life, "mid thorns and roses alike her faith looked up to Him—to the Eternal Hills whence her comfort came—with unquestioning resignation and trustful joy, with faith in His goodness, with a faith that was weathered and beaten in the crucible of bitter experiences, that had been assailed by every outward enemy and all inward weaknesses, but still held fast and glowed brighter and brighter; with a love that death itself could not disturb nor stay, a love that lives on yonder, whence she has gone, as sure and eternal as the God who gave it; and who through it hath wrought the miracle of salvation unto all who persevere unto the end.

There is to us always something tenderly appropriate in the death of the aged. It is meet that the drowsy tinklings of life's purpling twilight should lull to sleep—the sleep which God giveth His beloved. And so, with all tenderness of sympathy for her loved ones, whose sorrow is the common sorrow of the community, we would not, if we could, call her back to slowly and surely die again—but we rather follow her with mental vision before the Throne of God, whom she served, and in serving pointed others the way, to join that "great multitude, which no man can number," "who shall no longer hunger nor thirst, for the Lamb, which is in the midst of the throne, shall rule them, and shall lead them to the fountains of the waters of life, and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes."

Besides her two daughters, here named, Mrs. Galloway is survived by eight grandsons and three grand daughters, Messrs. Andrew J. Flanner, of New York; R. A. Watts of this city, Frank and Eugene Watts, of Kingstree, S. C.; Jack, Rea and Henry Shannon, Mrs. Mary Hedrick and Mrs. Florence Hall, of Jacksonville, Fla.; Miss Josephine Shannon, and Master T. R. Robinson, Jr., and several great grand children.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 4:30 o'clock from St. Paul M. E. church, of which she was a zealous member and a shining light.

INVITATION TO BE EXTENDED DECISION FAVORS SOUTHERN RAILWAY

GOLDSBORO WILL ASK FOR NEXT STATE CONVENTION OF BARACA-PHILATHEAS.

The Argus of Saturday carried an article to the effect that plans were on foot to invite the State Baraca and Philathea convention to meet in this city next Spring. The City Union is required to have the support of all the churches before being in a position to extend this invitation. The matter was taken up in the different churches Sunday morning and it was unanimously voted to assist the City Union in extending this invitation.

At a special meeting, held last night in St. Paul M. E. church, the City Union with one mind voted that this invitation be extended. Enthusiastic talks were made by Mr. D. H. Dixon, Mr. J. W. Huffington, Mr. Beaman, of the Chamber of Commerce, and others. Mr. Huffington was appointed to appear before the convention, which convenes in Raleigh on Thursday for a four days session, and extend that body a formal invitation to come to Goldsboro. Mr. Beaman will also be there, and in behalf of the Chamber of Commerce will extend an invitation, and do everything possible for Goldsboro to get this large body of Sunday school workers next year.

If Goldsboro is fortunate in getting this convention too much credit cannot be paid the City Union for their efforts in this regard.

CERTIFICATE OF DISSOLUTION.

State of North Carolina
Department of State.

To all to whom these presents may come—Greeting:

Whereas, it appears to my satisfaction, by duly authenticated record of the proceedings for the voluntary dissolution thereof by the unanimous consent of all the stockholders, deposited in my office, that The Howell Ginning & Manufacturing Company, a corporation of this State, whose principal office is situated in the town of Goldsboro, county of Wayne, State of North Carolina (Nathan A. Howell being the agent therein and in charge thereof, upon whom process may be served), has complied with the requirements of Chapter 21, Revision of 1905, entitled "Corporations," preliminary to the issuing of this Certificate of Dissolution:

Now, Therefore, I, J. Bryan Grimes, Secretary of State of the State of North Carolina, do hereby certify that the said corporation did, on the 14th day of April, 1915, file in my office a duly executed and attested consent in writing to the dissolution of said corporation, executed by all the stockholders thereof, which said consent and the record of the proceedings aforesaid are now on file in my said office as provided by law.

In Testimony Whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal at Raleigh, this 14th day of April, A. D. 1915.

J. BRYAN GRIMES,
Secretary of State.

SPONSOR FOR REUNION.

Miss Bessie Burkheimer Will be Sponsor for North Carolina.

Sponsors and maids of honor have been appointed for the various army corps, which will be represented in Richmond, Va., during the Confederate Reunion, June 1 to 3, inclusive. There will be a large attendance at this reunion, many Governors of States having signified their intention of going to Richmond at that time, and there is an effort being made to persuade President Wilson to be present.

The names of the sponsors for North Carolina will be interesting to Goldsboro and other North Carolina people. They are as follows:

North Carolina Division: General Julian S. Carr, commanding; sponsor, Miss Bessie Burkheimer, Charlotte; maids of honor, Miss Miriam Morgan Applegate, Lexington; Miss Eunice Taylor, Goldsboro; Miss Kitty Cary Applegate, McGills; Miss Asha Louise Wells, Washington, D. C. Matron of Honor, Mrs. Lucy Lee Macgill, Ashland.

Miss Burkheimer, who is the sponsor for North Carolina, is well known throughout the State on account of her literary and histrionic talent, very many people in the State having enjoyed her bright play, "The Girl Who Dared," in which she takes a part. She is a grand daughter of the venerable Dr. Burkheimer of Charlotte, who is the author of several books on North Carolina history.

DECISION FAVORS SOUTHERN RAILWAY

Rates in Which North Carolina and Greensboro Merchants are Interested Found Not Unreasonable.

Washington, April 19.—Joint through rates from Cincinnati and points related thereto and from the Pittsburgh, Buffalo territory to North Carolina, on the first six classes of freight as now applied by the Southern railway and its connections, are not unreasonable nor unjust, according to a lengthy decision handed down by the Interstate Commerce commission today in the complaint of the North Carolina corporation commission and the Odell Hardware company and other Greensboro merchants as interveners.

The Odell Hardware company and other merchants intervened with a complaint against the rates from eastern Seaboard territory to North Carolina points. The commission reserves its opinion in this case for future consideration.

Commissioner Clark, who wrote the opinion which the commission allowed as a result of the Virginia cities controversy which was decided in favor of North Carolina last year and concludes that North Carolina at that time received a reduction of rates on the six classes of freight approximating 20 per cent. "These reduced rates," the opinion says, "were published as proportional rates to North Carolina destinations on business originating beyond the Virginia cities. Joint through rates from St. Louis and Cincinnati to North Carolina destinations were to be made by adding the rates from those points of origin to the Virginia cities the proposed proportional."

"There is left for consideration therefore, only the issues presented by 'Sub No. 1,' (the Odell Hardware company) and the intervening petitions therein, petitioners in all of which will hereafter be referred to as complainants."

BOLL WEEVIL HELPS TICK ERADICATION

BENEFITS DONE BY THE COTTON BOLL WEEVIL OUTWEIGH THE DAMAGES.

That there are many farmers who do not realize just what is meant by tick eradication may seem strange to some, but such is none the less a fact. There are those who do not appreciate the fact, that tick eradication means the utter elimination of a monstrous pest for all time to come and that it will not again return unless by being again introduced on cattle and horses from areas outside that which has been freed. This fact was fully demonstrated by experiment previous to 1906, when the systematic tick eradication movement was launched and has since that time been doubly proven in an area of over 240,000 square miles from which it has been eradicated and the area released from quarantine. From the 190 counties that go to comprise this area ticks have not reappeared, though in much of it years have since elapsed.

To accomplish this result it is only necessary to observe proper system and method in the disinfection of the cattle and tick infested mules and horses. The cattle tick infests these animals, but does not infest dogs, cats, rabbits, foxes, etc. It propagates its species by laying eggs from which tiny seed ticks hatch. It cannot lay eggs until mature and does not mature until from 16 to 21 days after attaching itself to the animals mentioned. They can exist for only six months in the summer season without substance. Therefore, it is plain that if no ticks are allowed to mature on the animals thus infested, namely, cattle, horses or mules in a given area during this period no eggs can be laid and the cattle tick will be completely eradicated in that area during that period.

No, the cattle tick does not reappear in any area when it has been eradicated, unless reintroduced through the carelessness of man.

The boll weevil has forced a reduction in the acreage planted in cotton and increased correspondingly the acreage planted in food and forage crops in many sections of the South. Corn has almost always been the first crop to be increased as cotton was decreased. The increase in the production of corn has naturally been followed by a corresponding increase in the production of live stock. The principal forms of live stock being produced in weevil infested territory are hogs and cattle.

Unprogressive farmers may delay but they cannot entirely prevent the good work. It will cost no more to exterminate cattle ticks now than it will five years hence.

Why not get busy immediately, clean up the ticks and actually begin to make a profit on the investment and be receiving the increased profits that should be coming to us in the business of cattle production? The boll weevil is bound to get a considerable portion of our cotton. Cotton seems quite certain to continue low in price for another year. Why not raise the grain to feed the cattle and meantime get rid of the ticks, so that our cattle may attain the best possible weight and condition enabling us to maintain our prosperity in spite of the European war, boll weevils or other evils?

A TRIBUTE.

The greatest thing in the world is to live for other people, which is another word for service, and the Master taught above all other lessons that the one thing which should dominate all people is love, and love itself is not manifested in any other way than in a life of service to others.

Consequently, this being true, a man or a woman who leads the most successful life is that man or that woman who serves best in the journey from childhood to the end of that mysterious something which we call life.

Never before have we had impressed upon us more forcibly this unspoken truth than today by reason of the fact that Goldsboro's oldest citizen, that good woman, that faithful wife, that good daughter and loving mother, Mrs. Lucy G. Galloway fell asleep, and has gone to join the great company in that unknown land, after a pilgrimage through life's journey of a period of a little more than ninety years.

Our first recollections of Mrs. Galloway go back to our boyhood days, and the unbounded hospitality of her home, and the deep interest she always manifested in the pleasure of other people.

In her own family and in her association with children and young people, she thought as youn people, and realizing this truth she knew how to minister to their pleasures, and this ministrations brought to her own heart pleasure and joy beyond compare.

But in the days of her younger life when so wrapped up in the happiness of her husband and her children—one of the most beautiful traits in the character of this good woman was her loving tenderness and sweet solicitude for the comfort and happiness of her aged, mother who lived in Mrs. Galloway's home for many, many years.

Such a life as Mrs. Galloway led was a life of success in the truest sense.

She wrought wisely and well. She loved her fellow man, and the love of mankind is simply an expression of love for God.

She died in faith abundant, having no fears for the future, and after setting such a noble example to four generations she has gone to receive her reward at the hands of Him who said "In as much as ye have done it unto the least of these my brethren, ye have done it unto me."

LEO M. FRANK LOSES FINAL APPEAL

Court Holds That No Right Has Been Denied Frank.

TWO JUSTICES DISSENT

Justice Holmes Files Dissenting Opinion in Which Justice Hughes Concurs—Frank's Last Hope Gone.

Washington, April 19.—The Supreme court today held that the state of Georgia had denied Leo M. Frank no right under the federal constitution in sentencing him to death for the murder of Mary Phagan. The court confirmed the action of the federal district court for northern Georgia refusing to release Frank on a writ of habeas corpus, Justice Pitney announcing the opinion.

Justice Holmes delivered a dissenting opinion, in which Justice Hughes concurred.

This decision, it is believed here, exhausts all means of fighting in the courts to save Frank's life. His attorneys, however, will have 30 days in which to file an application for a rehearing. At the end of that time apparently only the possibility of executive clemency will be between the prisoner and death.

The habeas corpus proceedings rested on the claim that the trial court had lost jurisdiction over the prisoner by reason of "mob domination" during the trial and by Frank's involuntary absence at the time the verdict was rendered. It was claimed this denied him "due process" as guaranteed by the federal constitution.

The majority of the court held that the findings by the Supreme court of Georgia that the alleged "mob domination" amounted to nothing more than irregularities, not prejudicial to Frank should not be disturbed upon the mere assertion of the prisoner that the facts were otherwise than as found. This was so, the court held, especially as the prisoner withheld from the court affidavits he had presented to the state courts on the subject of disorder during the trial.

Justice Holmes, dissenting, declared that loss of jurisdiction by the trial court could not be restored by any decision by a higher court and declined to accept the findings of the Georgia Supreme court as conclusive. He said if the allegations in Frank's petition for habeas corpus were true and the facts were before the Georgia Supreme court, that court sanctioned a situation upon which the federal courts should act.

SUBMERGED SUBMARINE IS RAISED ABOUT TWELVE FEET

Honolulu, T. H., April 19.—The United States submarine F-4, submerged outside the harbor since March 25 was raised 12 feet early today and towed in shore until it rested on the upward in-ling bottom. The salvaging crew postponed further work until the lifting tackle strengthened.

The satisfactory work done thus far in towing the submarine, it is believed, will make unnecessary the pontoon methods of raising the craft.

Diver Loughman, who became entangled in the lifting cables Saturday is recovering slowly.
