MEN CAN LEARN OF HOME BEAUTY WITH WIVES ON TUESDAY

Men as well as women can learn something about home beautification next Tuesday, according to Home Agent Sue Brickhouse. On that day John Harris, State Horticulturist, will visit the county and give two talks and demonstrations. His visit is sponsored by Lenoir County's Home Demonstration Clubs. His first appearance will be at the Wheat Swamp Christian Church at 10:30 a.m., where he will help the ladies of that club in their project of beautifying the church grounds, as well as working on their individual home problems.

The afternoon part of the program will take place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lott West in the Sand Hill Community. The main emphasis of the two meetings will be on the individual landscaping and home beautification problems of those attending, Miss Brickhouse said. Everyone is invited to attend at least one of the meetings. Indications are now, she said, that an unusually large number of husbands, as well as wives, will be present at the meetings.

MARTIN MOODY, 73, died at his Neuse Township home on Tuesday. Funeral services were conducted from the home on Thursday afternoon, with interment in a nearby cemetery.

WILLIAM B. HARVEY, 62-year-old well-known Kinston citizen, died in a local hospital on Wednesday after a long illness.

Funeral services were held on Thursday afternoon, and interment was in Maplewood Cemetery.

MRS. HAZEL STRAYHORN, daughter of Oliver Brock, one of Trenton's best known and most respected Negro citizens, died Thursday in a New York hospital. Funeral services were held Sunday from her father's home in Trenton.
