"EASY DOES IT"

ON CHILLY DAYS, pack something hot into the lunch box. Omelets or chocolate are morale builders for the noon meal, and they'll stay hot in a thermos. On other days, fill the thermos with soup, easy to put in with a wide funnel.

Sandwiches in the lunch box are always moist if they're made properly. Contrast them with something crisp like carrot sticks, celery pieces, crisp cookies or even lettuce, wrapped separately in waxed paper.

When you have lunches to pack for several people, bake your cake in paper cups. They're easy to pack and won't get messy.

Something sweet in the lunch box is a nice surprise, and gives good eating satisfaction. If you don't have cakes or cookies, what about some tarts, coffee cake, candy or dried fruit?

RECIPE OF THE WEEK
Potato Pancakes
(Serves 4-6)

2 cups finely grated raw potatoes
2 eggs
1/2 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon flour
1/4 cup lard

Combine all ingredients except lard. Drop by spoonfuls into hot lard. When brown, turn with pancake turner. Continue cooking until brown on other side. (The mixture may also be baked in one large pancake in a hot oven (425°F.) for 15 minutes until each side is brown and crisp.) Serve with pot roast or beef.

Lunch boxes should contain something colorful to add appeal to their contents: olives, red or purple grapes, radishes, oranges, bright red apples or tomatoes.
