

At the microphone making presentation of a registered Yorkshire gilt to 4-H Club member Bobby Barbee is Assistant Jones County Soil Conservationist W. Carl Flowers, who donated the pig to get a pig chain started from this high priced and high-bacon producing strain of porkers. At the right of the microphone is Jones Agent Wayland J. Beams and behind Bobby, who made the mistake of turning his back on the camera, is Assistant County Agent Henry B. Swiggett, who is in charge of 4-H Club work in the county. Off the first litter from this high-priced young gilt 4-H'er Barbee will give another 4-H Club member a gilt and this will continue to be repeated under the direction of the county agent's office. For Lazy Barbers Barbers are known far and wide for their rugged insistence upon retaining their individuality, among other things. But the latest wrinkle to be added to the barbering business in Kinston may be seen, for no extra charge, at Kinston's City Barber Shop where Manager Bill Worthington has purchased and installed a seat for himself to sit upon while he is trimming locks and scraping chins. If you think we're kidding go by and tak a look for yourself. There's nothing like it east of the Mississippi or south of the Artic Ocean.

One Born A Minute

Some local clothiers and tailors are chuckling with considerable malice over the "trap" that caught several of their friends who jumped quickly, hook, line and sinker for a "bargain" that some roving peddler dangled before them recently. This peddler was selling imported English materials at a bargain price of just $3 per yard. It was the "real" stuff, hot off the boat. When the purchasers took their expensive woolens to tailors to have them made into fine suits they found much to their embarrassment that they had paid $3 per yard for 70-cent-per-yard rayons. Trade with your local merchants, the moral may be, they may stick you but you can always go back and argue with them.
