

Jones County Farm Agent Says Preparation Is Important For Successful Small Grain Seeding

With the time drawing near for seeding small grains, County Agent J. R. Franck reminds Jones County farmers that these crops will return better profits if they are limed and fertilized according to the results of soil tests. He cited instances in which the increased use of nitrogen, in line with needs indicated by soil tests, paid handsome dividends.

"The average use of nitrogen on small grains in North Carolina," the agent said, "is 15 pounds to the acre. Increasing this amount to 30 pounds resulted in a $35 profit above the cost of the nitrogen used, or a return of $6.60 for each dollar spent on fertilizer. Sixty pounds of nitrogen an acre increased the profit to $29 above the cost of nitrogen used, or a return of $4.22 on the fertilizer dollar."

"Soil tests also indicate the amounts of lime, phosphorus and potash that should be applied for profitable returns. Farmers will be wise to take the guesswork out of liming and fertilizing small grains by taking soil samples from their fields and having them analyzed by the Soil Testing Division of the North Carolina Department of Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C. The service is free and includes lime and fertilizer suggestions as well as a report of analysis."

He urged farmers to send in their soil samples now so they will be sure of getting the analysis results in ample time for use as a guide in buying lime and fertilizer ahead of seeding small grains. The necessary soil sampling materials, such as soil cartons, mailing cartons and information sheets, can be obtained from the county agent's office, or from vocational agriculture teachers, the Soil Conservation Service and Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation.

Planned Marketing Program For Beef Cattle Adds Profits

Wayne County Agent G. Mark Goforth, Jr. believes that the utilization of all farm land and labor to its best use should be the goal of every farmer. He points to the sound business approach used by Dr. D. J. Rose in his cattle operation as a means of achieving this goal.

Dr. Rose raises calves that he sells each year. But he takes the necessary time to decide how each calf could be marketed to the best advantage. He keeps the best blocky best type calves and feeds them additional grain. But those calves that would not utilize the grain as well are sold directly from the cows in the fall. Then the older calves go into the feed lot in the early fall.

These older, heavier calves are full fed grain and hay for 3 or 4 months and then sold in the early spring. The smaller calves are grazed through the winter, and during the following spring and summer they have good grazing plus a limited amount of grain. As the amount of grazing decreases during the summer, the grain is increased. These cattle are then sold in the late summer.

This program gives Dr. Rose three primary selling periods — fall, spring, and summer. By selling at three different times, he reduces the risk of selling all his cattle on a low market. In addition, he uses his labor, grazing and feed to the best advantage.

Falling Creek Still Destroyed on Tuesday

Lenoir County ABC Officers Tuesday morning destroyed a large backwoods still near Falling Creek after spending all of Monday night waiting for its operators to show up.

The operators apparently smelled trouble and didn't show up. Seven of the 19 barrels of mash were ready to run and the officers felt sure the owners or operators would come in Tuesday morning to make the run.

The still itself was built from a

50-gallon oil drum with a wooden cooler and a radiator condenser. All of which were blown up by several well-placed sticks of dynamite.

Fairest of Them All

"Mirror, mirror on the wall — who's the fairest of them all?" No one can deny that Maid of Cotton Patricia Ann Cowden, of Raleigh, N. C., must be ranked among Dixie's fairest flowers. Her great wisdom is also in evidence as she shows her preference for United States Savings Bonds — one of the fairest and best methods of saving for the big things in life. Pat has a genuine knowledge of Savings Bonds, having served as bond clerk in the North Carolina bank where she worked before her selection as cotton queen. Pat is only one of over 40 million Americans who feel more secure because they own U. S. Savings Bonds.
