Top 4-H Safety Honor For Wilson Lowery Jr.

Wilson Lowery Jr., a Junior at Jones Central High School, this week was named first place winner in statewide competition with his 4-H Club safety program.

The rangy (6-foot-3-inch) basketball star has an outstanding record of 4-H Club activities through his school career. Last year he was a North Carolina representative at a 4-H Club conference on health and nutrition.

Included with the honor of having the top safety program for 1960 is an all-expense-paid trip to Chicago in November for the annual 4-H Club convention. There he will be in competition with the safety award winners from all other states in the union.

In earning this top honor in the state Lowery has carried a safety project for 2 years, winning first place in the county each year. His projects have included the elimination of 57 safety hazards and giving 8 safety demonstrations.

Lowery has conducted a survey on safe water supplies and safe sewer disposal. He helped his community 4-H Club prepare a safety exhibit for the fair which won first place. He helped build a sign promoting safer driving in the county. He has given numerous talks on radio and TV on safety and written news articles for local papers on this subject. He has helped distribute papers on safety in 5 schools and in other public places around the county. He helped prepare the 1959 4-H Health pageant at State College which had greater safety as part of its theme.

In addition to his activities in Corpening of Winston Salem Heads 4-H Bank Drive in N. C.

North Carolina bankers will again have an opportunity to support state and national 4-H programs through a state-wide drive during October under the leadership of Wayne A. Corpening, vice president of the Wachovia Bank and Trust Company of Winston-Salem.

Corpening points out that this drive is a part of a nationwide program being carried out by banks in behalf of the work of the National 4-H Club Foundation. Jesse W. Tapp, chairman of the board of the Bank of America, is giving national leadership to the program. Last year 51 North Carolina banks participated, Corpening announced.

This campaign enables bankers to broaden their traditionally strong local support of 4-H Club work. The National 4-H Club Foundation carries on a broad program of "Service to Youth" activities in citizenship education, leadership development, and international understanding.

Two young people from North Carolina are now in foreign countries participating in the International Farm Youth Exchange (IFYE), a program of the Cooperative Extension Service conducted by the National 4-H Club Foundation. They are: Sarah Ann House of Harrellsville, who is in Germany; and C. D. Pierce, Jr. of Pikeville, who is in Belgium. They will return later this fall and will be available for talks to groups throughout the state, sharing their experiences of learning another this specific field Lowery was delegate to the National 4-H Youth Power Congress, placed 2nd in the State as health winner and has been a state blue ribbon winner for 3 years in health. He has been vice-president of the county 4-H Council for 2 years, a member of the teen-age nutrition council, served as an escort in the State 4-H Dress revue and has won first place in the county for 22 different projects.

His completed projects included safety 2 years, corn 4 years, home beautification 5 years, electricity 4 years, better grooming 3 years, home improvement 2 years, tractor operation 1 year, money management 1 year and automotive project 1 year.

way of life by living it.

An extension nutritionist from Raleigh, Jo Mauree Earp, participated in the ninth annual summer workshop in human development and human relations at the National 4-H Center, a working memorial to 4-H operated by the Foundation in the Nation's Capital.

Maple Grove 4-H's Sell Toothbrushes

Do you need a way to make money for your 4-H club? Recently, the Maple Grove Community 4-H Club in Jones County decided to sell toothbrushes as a money making project.

"To date, they have sold approximately 125 toothbrushes in their community," says Mrs. Fayette Gray, home economics agent. "The money will be used for special projects."

Jones Central PTA Meeting on Monday

Leo Nance, principal of Jones Central High School, has announced that the Parent Teachers Association will meet Monday night, October 17 at 7:30 at the school. Charlie Davis is serving as president this year, and all parents are urged to attend this meeting to support their school.

Comfort Festival

The annual fall festival of Comfort Elementary School will be held next Thursday night, October 20th, beginning at 7:30. Bingo, cake walks, grab bags, a popularity contest and refreshments will be among the various entertainments. All proceeds will be used to purchase items for the school.

Bobby Cox Holding Purebred Sale 19th

Bobby Cox of the Comfort end of Jones County is holding a sale of 73 top animals from his prize-winning Poland herd next Wednesday, November 19th, at the Lenoir Livestock Arena south of Kinston on the Pink Hill Highway.

Cox has advertised this as a "lean meat sale" that will offer 31 boars, 377 open gilts and 5 bred gilts. A free barbecue will be served at the sales arena at noon and the sale will begin promptly at 1 p. m.

Gloria Ballard Named Miss Jones County for '61 on Friday

The annual beauty contest was held last week in Trenton at the Jones County Fair. Crowned queen was Gloria Ballard, sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary. Pat Huffman, sponsored by the Trenton Rotary Club was first runner-up and Carolyn Price, sponsored by the American Legion was second runner-up.

The most award winning entries for individuals went to Audrey Dexter, Junior, and Mrs. Thomas Hood, Jr., Senior Club. The clubs that won were the Thunderbird Junior and Dogwood Senior.

Other exhibits winning were Individual Farm Family exhibit by Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Davis, and in the Home Demonstration Clubs Chiquapin won first, Lee's Chapel second and Maple Grove third.

In the 4-H Community Clubs, Skyrocket won first, Maple Grove second and Friendly third. Winners in the Junior 4-H School Clubs were Alex H. White first, Comfort Jr. second and Comfort Sr. third.

New Teachers Given Dinner Monday Night

The Classroom Teachers Association entertained the new teachers in Jones County at a covered dish supper October 11 at Jones Central High School.

Mrs. Doris King, president, presided and gave the aims and goals of the CTA for the coming year. She also announced the District Teachers Meeting to be held in Goldsboro October 21.

The speaker for the occasion will

Poultry Show Held Last Friday by 4-H Clubbers in Trenton

The Eighth Annual 4-H Poultry Show and Sale was held last Friday on the Jones County Courthouse lawn in Trenton.

Seventy Harco Red Pullets were exhibited and sold by ten 4-H members who received fifty pullets each last spring through a Poultry Chain.

Blue ribbon winners were: Zara Miller, Leslie Jones, George Raspberry, Nelson Dove, Pee Quinn, Evangeline Ward, and Melvin Grady.

Red ribbon winners were Naomi Burney and George Raspberry. The pullets were sold for an average of $2.63 per bird. The proceeds will be used to purchase chicks to be given to other club members next year.

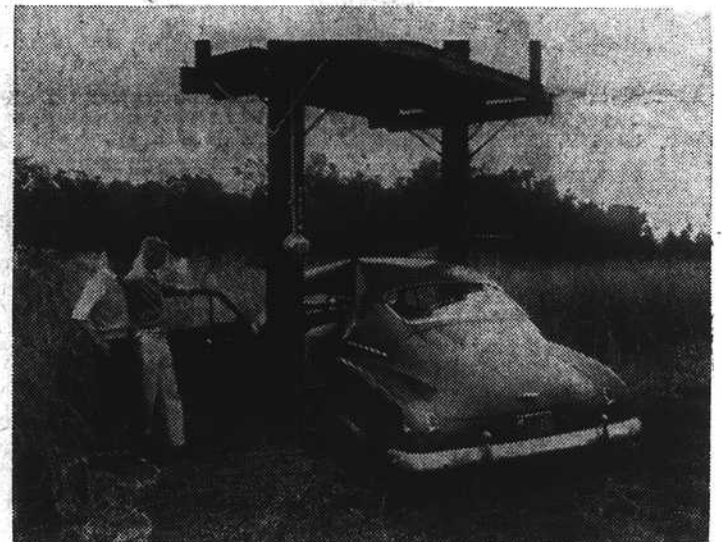

P. P. Thompson, Extension Poultry Specialist of A. & T. College, was judge. Attorney Donald Brock of Trenton served as Auctioneer.

The pullet project is designed to improve and increase the laying flocks of rural families and teach good Poultry Management Practices.

be Dallas Herring, chairman of the state board of education from Rose Hill.

The new teachers that were guests were Mrs. Nancy Scott Taylor, Mrs. Betty Fescue Williams, Mrs. Amanda Hill Hodges, Miss Jo Ann Smith, Mrs. Nancy Nance and David Lee Nance.

Oops!

Above a pair of Pollocksville young men study the remains of a flivver that was "parked" Saturday night in a rather unusual manner by a quartet of Camp Lejeune Marines. The Leathernecks, apparently returning from a visit to the livestock exhibition at the Jones County Agricultural Fair, roared through the intersection of NC 58 and across US 17 at Pollocksville and landed in the position shown above. None was hurt. They blamed heavy fog for their misadventure.

Republicans Make Mistake of Talking After Dinner

Two Kinston Negroes Held After Death of Badly Beaten Woman

Kinston Police are holding two Kinston negroes on open charges of murder pending autopsy findings in the death Sunday afternoon of Mrs. Ruth Mae Powell of 523 Williams Alley.

Raymond Kornegay of 511 Williams Alley and Clifton Holloway of 203 Spring Hill Street are being held as the result of an investigation that began shortly after the woman's death in an ambulance on the way to Duke Hospital.

The young negro woman died in Clayton and police there reported that she made a death-bed statement blaming Kornegay for her condition. Investigation in Kinston implicated Holloway.

Coroner Raymond Jarman called for an autopsy to determine the

HAS TAKING WAYS

Jimmy Lee Jones of Pink Hill got back in jail last Friday night and now faces a second charge of breaking, entering and larceny. Jones was out on bond, pending trial on the first charge when he broke into Hill Supply Company, stole a truck, some blank checks and took off—but briefly, since he was caught shortly afterwards by the sheriff's department.

ROUGH MARINE

Marvin L. Ham, a Camp Lejeune Marine broke bad Saturday night and landed in jail on charges of public drunkenness, assault on an officer and malicious damage to private property.

exact cause of the woman's death, and this was made Monday but the pathologist's report may not be ready for two or three days, Jarman said.

Tuesday night the entire slate of Republican Party nominees for state and district offices visited Kinston and made the same mistake that Democratic gubernatorial Candidate Terry Sanford made in June.

They fed the multitudes before talking to them.

With their bellies full of free food a good half of the crowd that turned up at Grainger Stadium for the biggest GOP shindig of the century went home, or somewhere. They were not on hand when the "speechifying" got underway.

Headed by GOP gubernatorial nominee Robert Gavin the Republican hopefuls spent most of their oratory explaining their conservatism and their interest in good state government.

The GOP leaders also dwelt at some length on the refusal of Beverly Lake to swallow the Democratic Party platform. Lake in a Democratic Party rally last week in Williamston got no nearer the present Democratic standard bearers than Woodrow Wilson and J. C. B. Ehringhaus.

Gavin repeated that no state employees have anything to fear from his election, and he promised again to stop the "shake down" of state workers that is admittedly practiced by the present Democratic regime.

This was Gavin's third formal appearance in Lenoir County since the battle began to remove the Democrats from the Executive Mansion in Raleigh.

The lavishness of the GOP attention to Lenoir County has frightened local Democrats to the extent that they have spent a few hundred dollars in the Kinston Daily Free Press with advertising that attempts to remind the "faithful" of how good the present administration has been to Lenoir County insofar as appointments are concerned. No mention of Highway funds.

The Democrats are also giving a free barbecue and fish stew Friday night back of the court house—which indicates that they don't expect many people to show up for the space is limited.

And the Democrats are trying to figure out a way to talk to the freeloaders before they feed them. If they succeed in this noble effort a great break-through will have been made in practical politics.

Who knows what a voter may do, or not do if he is forced to listen to political speakers?

Some cynic has suggested that the worst thing that could happen to a politician would be for the public to really listen to his speeches.
