SAM ERVIN
★ SAYS ★

WASHINGTON — The legislative pace of the Congress is beginning to move at a faster rate. However, Senatorial hearings under the power of confirmation are proceeding on the Presidential appointments of top administrators. Any change in the government requires a period of transition. That fact is apparent here as new names and faces are ushered into positions of responsibility daily. Soon the Senate will have completed action on the nominees and will direct its wholehearted attention to proposed legislation.

COMMITTEES — The major working tool of the Senate is the committee. All during the session hearings are held in the committees on proposed and pending legislation. The usefulness of the committee is that it enables one hundred Senators to divide up the work of the Senate into major fields. Senators can specialize in a particular field of legislation through their work on their committees. In this Congress I will again be a member of three major committees which are the Armed Services Committee, the Government Operations Committee and the Judiciary Committee. I am Chairman of the Subcommittees on the Revision and Codification of the Laws and Constitutional Rights.

JOB AND DOLLARS—Business and labor should welcome the views expressed by the President recently that a vigorous effort will be made to stimulate our exports and bolster the world market for American goods. Expanding our exports will require the cooperation of both industry and labor. It will benefit both. Profits strengthen jobs and dollars. A major cause for the American gold crisis is that our exports have slackened in the face of foreign competition. Jobs and the employment of our people are directly tied into this situation. I believe that much can be done by new effort in this direction.

SUGAR MARKET RESTUDY—Stop gap legislation will probably be necessary when the present Sugar Act expires March 31, 1961. The Congress and the new Administration need time to restudy the quota policy and the entire Sugar Act. The interests of consumers, domestic beet and cane growers, all been balanced on a tight rope and world producers of sugar have during recent years. The Sugar Act has become a major instrument of our foreign policy. The ban on our purchases of sugar from Cuba, which I advocated, brings the whole problem into sharp focus. A restudy should give an insight on how to proceed.

It's Unlikely... that you would want a phone here

Naturally, such a valuable partner of good living does not belong in the dog-house. A better place is in the bedroom where an extension telephone is a loyal "watch dog", standing guard day and night over your security and peace of mind. It keeps family, friends, doctor, fireman and policeman always within easy reach.
