

Kidd Brewer's "RALEIGH ROUNDUP"

IRONICAL . . . In Durham the Duke University Road leads to two of the greatest institutions in the world, the Duke Hospital and Duke University — on the symbol of healing and the other the symbol of knowledge. Located on this street and within the shadows of these two great institutions is a sign in front of a weather beaten frame house — Madam so-and-so, HEALER AND ADVISOR!

DIFFERENT ATTITUDE . . . Last week we saw two navy enlisted men alight from a car on Highway 70 and the very next car along stopped and picked them up. In the past we have observed military personnel stand for hours trying to catch a ride. The thought occurred to us — "A kick on the shin is not necessarily fatal, but it will change the trend of thought."

INTERESTING COPY . . . The one man we would like to interview at this time would be Batista, the dethroned Cuban dictator. His views on the present United States — Cuban situation would make real interesting news.

5000 JOBS . . . The report last week that 5000 additional people will be added to the State payroll due mainly as a result of Governor Sanford's quality education program, is difficult to comprehend. It means, among other things that an additional quarter of a million dollars annually will be added to the cost of the state personnel. This is not a one shot proposition. These people will be with us from now on, including retirement benefits. This is one cost our children will be paying for long after we have gone. Let us hope it proves to be of value to them. Quantity does not necessarily guarantee quality. Usually it indicates the opposite. Look magazine recently had an interesting article on lack of our ability to write and to understand what is written.

According to the article a plumber wanted to clean some iron pipe. He wrote a Government agency asking if he should use hydrochloric acid. The reply ended, "Be advised that hydrochloric acid is deleterious to the substance in question." The plumber writes his thanks and states that he is ordering the acid. He then receives a special delivery letter ending, "The usage of named acid is definitely contraindicated." Again the plumber writes his thanks and states he will use the acid as soon as he gets it. The next day he received a telegram: "Don't use it. It eats the Hell out of pipe."

IT'S A JOKE, SON . . . Matt Raymond the former Duke University Intercollegiate Boxing Champion, who lives on the hill next to us is a confirmed practical joker. One of his prize jokes is to call various friends, disguise his voice, and tell them that it is going to be necessary to blow the dust out of the telephone lines. He ask them please to place their telephone in a paper bag in order to catch the dust and keep it from messing up their house. Some bite and some don't. Sometime ago his lovely and charming wife, Dorothy was attending a party at a friends house. She needed to make a telephone call. "May I use your phone?" Dorothy asked, "I am sorry", her neighbor replied, "but the telephone company is blowing out the lines this morning, and I have my phone in a paper bag to keep from getting the dust all over the house." Dorothy kept a straight face, but that night she gave Matt

SENATOR SAM ERVIN ★ SAYS ★

The Senate has been holding frequent night sessions to complete work on two pieces of legislation which are the Defense Department budget request and the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961. The $47 billion Defense Department request was presented by Senator Willis Robertson, Chairman of the Senate Subcommittee on Defense Appropriations.

My colleague from Virginia, a long-time foe of extravagance in government spending made an eloquent and moving plea for the largest peace-time military appropriation. He said the money was needed because "our Nation faces the greatest crisis in its history, and no man dares to place a price tag upon survival."

I have taken a similar position as a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee. Under this bill funds are allocated for an over-all U. S. armed forces strength of 2,743,000. This breaks down to 1,008,00 men for the Army, 657,00 for the Navy, 190,000 for the Marines, and 888,000 for the Air Force.

In addition to effecting a substantial improvement in our military force levels, these funds will provide a stockpile of weapons, and increase our overall defense readiness.

FOREIGN AID

I think it is well for me to restate my views on the Foreign Assistance Act of 1961, the so-called foreign aid bill, which is currently being considered by the Senate. I believe that it is unwise to attempt to pour tax financed loans, grants, and assistance programs into every nation around the world.

We have conducted these programs in some 60 or more nations some straight talk. Didn't help, though.

since World War II with a total U. S. commitment of $102 billions.

I favor granting military aid to those nations which have pledged themselves to fight on the side of the free world if it is attacked by the Soviet bloc.

I also favor economic aid to those nations falling within the category specified in the preceding sentence which are economically insufficient.

I would also favor a reasonable amount of technical assistance for underdeveloped nations because such aid would help such nations to help themselves.

I do not favor extending foreign aid to Communist dictators like Tito.

I do not favor extending foreign aid to Communist governments of countries behind the Iron Curtain, because I believe that aid in these cases merely serves to forge the chains of Communism more securely upon the people of such countries.

I do not favor extending foreign aid to neutralist nations which refuse to take a stand on the fundamental issue which divides the world.

It is vital too that the Congress keep its right to review foreign aid expenditures every year. Otherwise, it will lose all power to control the program and prevent its maladministration.

Q—I'm a nonservice-connected World War II veteran. If I die will my widow and two children be eligible for pensions?

A—If your widow's income and estate is not in excess of legal limits, she may be eligible for a pension. Likewise, your children if unmarried and under 18 years of age may be eligible if they do not have income or estate above the limit. Pensions such as these are awarded in case of need.

Q—I'm a wartime veteran but not a service-connected one. Is it possible the Government might pay the cost of my transportation to a VA hospital for treatment?

A—Yes, if you are financially unable to pay for the transportation and secure from the VA authorization IN ADVANCE for the travel.
