What Grows on Skid Rows?

Jack S. started out as a pretty nice guy. He seemed headed for all kinds of success. Instead, he hit the skids before he was 35.

Jack wound up just one of many nameless drunks, lost in a big city's lonely streets. He leaves Skid Row now only for a few hours a day.

boro.

Dr. Weston Reed of Kinston was guest speaker Sunday morning and evening at Memorial Baptist Church.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Louis Eubanks and the Herbert Jones family Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Preston Campbell.

Here from Tampa, Fla. visiting the Earl Yeomans and is her sister Mrs. J. W. McCurley.

Mrs. B. H. Williams and daughter, Joyce, and Miss Carol Morton were Saturday afternoon visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Jones.

Among those from Maysville attending the W. M. U. Associational meeting held at the Brookwood Baptist church at Jacksonville last week were Mesdames C. W. Gerock, W. E. Henderson, G. L. Eubanks, W. E. Raiford, J. M. Thomas and C. Phillips.

He looks for better hunting grounds where he can pan-handle, quarters for his next drink.

Disgusting? No. Jack is sick. He is ravaged by two diseases; alcoholism and TB.

Jack S. is typical of many homeless men who inhabit the Skid Rows of all our big cities. Last year, chest X-rays were taken of 9,000 men who slept in New York City's Men's Shelter during 1960. According to an article in The American Review of Respiratory Diseases, their X-rays turned up a total of 144 new cases of active TB.

This adds up to the "phenomenally high rate of 16 per 1,000" men examined. The rate among the general public is less than one per 1,000, which is serious enough.

The germs that grow on Skid Row represent a potential threat to all big city residents. What can be done about this problem? "Present tuberculosis control measures... fall far short of what is needed to eradicate the disease," concludes The American Review.

The article recommends;

1) More and better hospitals for Skid Row residents.

2) More help to get the men back to useful lives when they leave the hospital.

3) A comprehensive medical care program for Skid Row — including treatment for chronic alcoholism.

Such a program could go a long way toward wiping out TB on Skid Row.
