PTA Basketball has Two Area Schools' Parents Tired, Sore

Despite the weather, a good crowd gathered at the Maysville school auditorium Thursday evening to support the Maysville P.T.A. in the efforts to raise money and to enjoy watching the school boys and girls battle the fathers and mothers at basketball.

Cup cakes, brownies, and sandwiches were sold out and the sale of soft drinks was good.

Again Saturday night attendance was good when the Maysville parents played the Pollocksville parents. The ladies of Maysville were victorious over the Pollocksville team while their men bowed in defeat to Pollocksville.

Heart Diseases are Jones County's Most Deadly Medical Ill

Diseases of the heart and blood vessels cause more deaths in Jones County than any other disease, according to Mrs. Myrtle B. Gooding, Jones County Heart Council President.

Quoting latest statistics from the North Carolina State Board of Health, she lists the five leading killers in this county as: Heart Disease 45, Cancer, 10, Influenza and pneumonia 8, and accidents 5.

For the state as a whole, heart and blood vessel diseases account for 19,810 or 52.5 per cent of all deaths, with cancer second (12.3%); accidents, third (7.0%); influenza and pneumonia, fourth (3.7%); and diabetes, fifty (1.5%). Nationally, heart disease causes 54.4% of all deaths.

Recently the Farmers Home Administration has been given authority to make a new kind of loan for Forestry purposes. This is a 3 per cent long term loan. It provides the necessary financing to carry out an acceptable forestry plan of operation and management on family size farms.

If the farm owner operator does not have sufficient funds to do the job, this type of loan may meet his needs. For example, if it will be several years before the forest plan provides income, the first payment of interest and principal on loans secured by Deeds of Trust may be deferred until income is available; however, the deferral may not exceed 15 years.

On most farms in North Carolina woodlands have been neglected. Much of this land provides no income whatsoever. All farmers would do well to appraise their woodland and see if it is providing the income it should.

Competent advice for improving woodland can be obtained from the County Agent, Soil Conservation Service, Forestry Service, and private Forestry Consultants.

Additional information in regards to the Forestry Loans is available from the Farmers Home Administration Office. In Kinston the FHA Office is located at 111 South McLewain Street.

In Trenton the FHA office is in the Ag Building.

Dr. Thompson Takes Heart Council Post

Dr. John H. Thompson has accepted the post of Medical Representative for the Jones County Heart Council, announces Mrs. Myrtle Gooding, president of the Council.

"We are very pleased that Dr. Thompson will represent the health and medical professions on the Council. Since 1949, when the North Carolina Heart Association was founded 33 physicians and six laymen at a state medical society meeting, physicians have worked closely with the Heart program."

In accepting his post, Dr. Thompson points out that through the North Carolina Heart Association, an affiliate of American Heart, he can provide members of local health professions with research reports and other medical materials designed to help diagnose and treat the cardiovascular diseases.

Physicians may also receive printed information to give their heart patients. "These booklets," Dr. Thompson says, "deal in simple terms with various heart and blood vessel diseases and are written to reassure the patient and help him cooperate with his physician for his own improvement."

Agribusiness Conference Held in Goldsboro

Among the business and farm leaders who attended the Agribusiness conference in Goldsboro were from left to right above, Larry Neuhoff III of Frosty Morn Meats, W. A. Austin, executive secretary of the North Carolina Cattlemen's Association, Norman Dickerson Jr., livestock farmer of Kinston, and W. A. Bowen, vice president of the Wachovia bank in Kinston.

Appeals for greater self-discipline from the local to the national level and for maximum effort to develop the potential of Eastern North Carolina were voiced before more than 400 farm and business leaders of the Neuse Area at a major Agribusiness Conference last Wednesday in Goldsboro.

The conference also heard the first announcement of a new fluorescent tobacco variety program described as a definite step in the direction of producing better quality leaf.

Theme of the conference was

"Greater Agribusiness Income for the Neuse Area."

Principal speakers were Senator Archie K. Davis of Forsyth County, Dr. Brooks James, State College dean of agriculture; and Dr. Kenneth R. Keller, State College assistant tobacco director.

The panel on agribusiness opportunities was moderated by Wayne A. Corpening. Panel members who spoke on agribusiness developments in their fields of interest included Lorenz Neuhoff III of Frosty Morn Meats, Kinston; Dr. A. D. Stuart, Dr. Henry Garren and Jack Kelly of State College; John Walker of Mount Olive Pickle Company; and Edwin Beamon of the Sweet Potato Association.

Among others taking part in the program were A. C. Edwards of Hookerton, president of the Neuse Development Association; W. I. Bissette, of Grifton; and Carl T. Hicks of Walstonburg, president of the Tobacco Information Committee.

Presiding over the conference at Wayne County Ag Center were Lawson Withers of Goldsboro, and William A. Bowen of Kinston.

Marine Fight Ends in Death of One Participant

A fist fight between three white and three negro Marines last Friday night at the filling station on the southeast corner of King and Queen streets resulted in injuries which led to the death of one of the negroes.

Private William Thompson died in the Navy hospital at Portsmouth, Va. Sunday from injuries he suffered when he was struck by a car driven by Private Norman M. Krause. All of the involved parties were from Camp Lejeune.

Krause and two other white Marines were trying to drive away from the filling station, according to witnesses, when Thompson grabbed the right side of the car, apparently trying to get the fleeing trio. Thompson was knocked down and run over. He was given emergency treatment at a Kinston hospital, transferred to the hospital at Camp Lejeune and from there by air to Portsmouth.

All five of the uninjured Marines were indicted Friday night on charge of engaging in an affray, and at that time Krause was charged with leaving the scene of an accident in which person injury was involved.

Monday Krause was also charged with manslaughter.

Whether Thompson's death will be classified a traffic fatality depends upon a judicial determination of the actual cause of his death.
