Those persons already drawing aid from the welfare department are automatically eligible and all other persons in the county whose gross income — for a family of one — is below $85 per month will be eligible.

There is a specified range for each additional member of a family, which ranges up to $240 per month for a family of 10.

A food order will be distributed once a month to those eligible and it will include about $6 worth of food at average market prices. Dried milk, dried beans, cheese, butter, oleo, flour, meal, rice and certain other similar items will be distributed.

The county is in the process of negotiating a contract system for distribution of the commodities with the Colonial Frozen Foods plant, which will receive, store and hand out the items on a poundage fee basis.

Full publicity for registration, certification and distribution will be given by all local news media.

Foxman in turn has secured a lease from Mrs. Holliday for the space now occupied by Singer Sewing Machine Company.

Singer has lease the space now occupied by Midyette Hardware Store.

Ramsey Realty Company is moving to the corner of Queen and Gordon in part of the building formerly occupied by Webb's Shoe Store.

Midyette reportedly will move two blocks up Queen Street to occupy the old McCoy Building.

Bill Worthington's City Barber Shop has not yet been involved in the switching and it reportedly will stay as is.
