Petition Being Circulated Asking for County-Maintained Dumping Areas in Each Township to Solve Trash Problem

Eyesores, rat and fly-breeding unofficial and unattended dumps are created on private property by people who otherwise would not commit such nuisances.

State and county health authorities have been concerned about this problem for a long time and many counties have entered into thorough studies to determine the most practical and economical manner in handling a problem which all admit will get worse.

In a few counties — generally more thickly populated than Jones — private operators of garbage collection trucks have

Maysville Firemen Discuss Purchase of New Equipment

Subjects for discussion brought before the Monday night meeting of the Maysville Fire Department were the purchasing of a new pumper and other equipment for the fire truck and the new insurance rating for the town.

The meeting was held at the community building with approximately 25 members present. Rudolph Pelletier presided. He is to name a committee to check the prices of a new pumper and the additional equipment that is needed. A letter was read from the N. C. Insurance Bureau concerning necessary qualifications in order to come under the new insurance rating NB-8.

The evening meal, served by W. E. Jones, Merle Jones and J. D. Mattocks consisted of friend flounder, green beans, cole slaw, hush puppies and soft drinks.

gone into business, creating jobs for people and performing a valuable public service at the same time.

A service of this type operates in the area around Kinston where all trash is collected for a $2 per month fee.

Beaver Creek Bootlegger Fined $300 By Recorder Joe Becton Last Friday

Judge Joe Becton last Friday slapped on the heaviest fine since he began presiding over the Jones County's Recorder's Court. Robert Haddock of Dover route 2 was the unlucky target.

Haddock, who operates a filling station near Pilgrim Home Free Will Baptist Church, was found guilty of having 60 jars of stumphole whiskey in his possession for the purpose of sale. Becton fined him $300.

Becton also found Franklin Delano Strayhorn of Pollocksville guilty of non-support and suspended a 60-day jail term on condition he pay $30 per month into the court for support of a child he sired upon a 14 year-old girl. He gave notice of appeal to superior court and bond was set at $150.

James Taylor of Trenton route 1 had a 30-day jail term for fighting suspended on condition he pay a $10 fine and the court costs and remain away from the home of Amos Murrell for six months.

J. N. Kornegay of Trenton was ordered to make good a worthless check he had passed and pay the court costs.

Wesley Carter, Rudolph Ward and William Howard of Kinston were each fined $10 for speeding.

Charles Smith of Kinston paid the costs for having an improper exhaust on his car.

Family Killed

Mr. and Mrs. Coy Kirkman and their 12 year-old daughter were killed Saturday when their private plane crashed in Montana. Kirkman had been an official at Stallings Field when the pilot training school was in operation and had worked in Atlanta since leaving Kinston. He and his wife were natives of Mount Airy, where their funeral was held Wednesday.

David Rosi of Camp Lejeune, James Kinsey of Trenton route 1, and William Hawkins of Dover route 1 was not prosessed.

Petitions are being circulated in all parts of Jones County asking that the Board of County Commissioners establish and maintain dumping areas for garbage and trash in each of the

Graduation Exercises Last Week for Maysville School's Eighth Graders

The Maysville Elementary School graduation exercises were held Thursday morning in the School auditorium.

The invocation was given by Rev. A. W. Lumsden who reminded the students of the paths open to them and admonished them to choose the right one. He followed with prayer.

The welcome speech was given by Janice Jones and the introduction of the guest speaker by Tony Costello. Guest speaker was Albert Hardison, supervisor of teachers of Jones County, who asked the students, "Where Do We Go From Here?"

First National Bank Opening Gives Pollocksville Bank Service for First Time Since Last Bank Closed in 1921 in 44 years the Town of Pollocksville had its own banking service as the newest branch of the First National Bank of Jacksonville opened its doors.

This week for the first time Located on the west side of Main Street in a handsome new home completed just last week the bank offers a full banking service to those living in Pollocksville and the surrounding area.

F. M. Peede is manager of the branch and came to Pollocksville from the bank's home office in Jacksonville.

Assisting Peede with operation of the newest bank in Jones County are Mrs. Glennie Cumbo, wife of David Cumbo, and Mrs. Margaret Mallard, wife of Arthur Bryan Mallard.

Peede and his staff have extended an invitation to everyone to stop by for a visit in their new offices and to learn about the services offered by the bank.

The bank has been operating for several weeks in temporary offices while its new home was under construction.

Mrs. Henderson is Charter President New Garden Club

Mrs. Walter P. Henderson has been named president of the recently organized garden club in Trenton.

Serving as charter officers with Mrs. Henderson are First Vice President Mrs. Aaron Mallard, Second Vice President Mrs. Richard Morton, Third Vice President Mrs. Nimrod Carroll and Secretary Mrs. G. T. Smith.

The county's newest garden club has 15 charter members and others interested in becoming members are urged to contact any officer of the club.

county's townships.

The petition also asks that the dumping areas be located as conveniently as possible to serve in each of the county's townships.

Gretchen Davis Wins Egg Contest

Gretchen C. Davis of Pollocksville recently entered a recipe entitled Bun-nies in the 1965 egg cooking contest. Her recipe has become a District winner in the Senior Division of the National Egg Cooking Contest.

The contest is co-sponsored locally by the North Carolina Egg Marketing Association and the North Carolina LP Gas Association and nationally by the Poultry and Egg National Board.

In July, Miss Davis representing District 9 of the state will compete against the winners from the other seven districts for top state honors and the right to represent the "Good Egg State" in the National cook-offs in Chicago during October.

On the state level Miss Davis will be competing for a $500 scholarship 1st place and a $300 scholarship 2nd place courtesy of the North Carolina LP Gas

Ramsey Presenting Rodeo Award

Another Kind of Teen-Aged Driver Rewarded on Monday

Monday afternoon Teen-ager Leon Sutton Rhodes of 309 West Vernon Avenue was racing his 1957 Chevy with another car on the Airport Road north of Kinston. On meeting other cars Young Rhodes lost control of his car and after going out of control on the roadway for about 300 feet plunged into the woods and mowed down about a half dozen pine trees. Fortunately for Rhodes the trees had been killed two years ago in a forest fire and did not offer the kind of resistance a live pine would have given. This was the most likely reason Highway Patrolman Marvin Moore could give for the young man being able to walk away from his crumpled flivver. Moore told him, "You ought to thank the Lord that you're alive."
