Trenton WSCS Has Meet Last Week

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Trenton Methodist Church met on Wednesday, September 14, at the church with 15 members present. A most interesting program entitled "Mission to Six Continents" was presented by Mrs. Fred Foscoe, assisted by several members.

Following the program, the members recited the purpose in unison. Mrs. Sylvanus Mallard, president, welcomed everyone and asked for reports from the various officers and secretaries attending.

Several pertinent matters were discussed and decisions were reached in several instances.

Mrs. C. P. Banks, Secretary of Spiritual Life Cultivation, reminded members of up-coming events on the WSCS calendar. It was noted all important events of the WSCS year are listed in the 1966-1967 year books.

A discussion was held in regards to members selling Christmas cards or cloth calendars. However, it was decided that none would be sold.

The meeting was closed with a prayer by the president.

A social hour followed with Mrs. Hazel Turnage as hostess.

Homecoming Day

Homecoming Day will be observed Sunday at the Tuckahoe Christian Church near Comfort. Past, present and potential members of the congregation are invited to come out for the worship hour at 11 a.m. and to bring along a picnic basket for the dinner on the grounds which will be held at the close of the worship hour.

Jones Health Royalty in Raleigh

Annette Lowery and Jacky Eubanks, Jones County 4-H Health Queen and King were in Raleigh, Thursday Sept. 15 to attend the Rural Health Conference held at the Sir Walter Hotel.

At the close of the afternoon session the Queens and Kings of Health, their parents, and agents were introduced to the group by Dr. Edward L. Boyette, Chairman of the Committee on Community Health, Medical Society of the State of North Carolina.

Mrs. W. W. Lowery accompanied the 4-Hers to Raleigh.

Cadillac Padlocked

Tuesday officers of the Lenoir County Sheriff Department, acting under an order signed by Superior Court Judge Elbert Peele Jr. padlocked the premises of the Cadillac Motel, south of Kinston, where a young Camp Lejeune Marine was killed last month. Solicitor Walter Britt instituted the proceedings that led to the temporary closing of the establishment, and a formal hearing will be held October 17th to determine if the padlocking is to be continued. Britt also says the lease of the establishment, by its owner, Eunice Pigott, was a subterfuge aimed at thwarting the padlock procedure.

Trenton Community Development Club Met Last Week

The Trenton Community Development Club held its regular meeting at the Extension Building in Trenton last week.

Remarks of encouragement was given by President Johnnie Brown. He stated that he was proud of the cooperative community spirit that had been shown by the group this year. He encouraged them to continue to work to help solve their many community problems. It was further stated that, "There is no limit to what a community can do — if it wants to."

Several members gave some of the accomplishments that had been made during the year.

The meeting was climaxed with a presentation by Farm Agent Fletcher Barber, who showed slides on, "People Are Our Greatest Resources."

Barber concluded by reminding the group that "There is no limit to what a man can do or where he can go if he doesn't mind who gets the credit."

Nine Cases Cleared In Recorder's Court

Trial before Judge Joe Becton of pleas of guilty to Clerk Walter Henderson cleared nine cases from the docket of Jones County Recorder's Court in the past week.

In the only non-traffic case Wilbur Metts of Trenton route 2 paid $17 for being drunk in a public place.

Kenneth Ted Goodson of Jacksonville route 3 and George Marvin Spence of Trenton route 1 each paid $13 for not having had their cars inspected.

Samuel Earl Rouse of Kinston route 4, Jerry Gurganus of New Bern route 3, Efthimios Mariakakis of Chapel Hill and John Frank Kominarek of Camp Lejeune all paid off for speeding and a speeding charge against Hergert Strayer of Camp Lejeune was noll prossed.

Lenzor Pharoah West of Pollockville route 1 paid $13 for following too closely.

APPEALS JAIL TERM

Marvin Elwood Murphy of Mt. Olive route 1 appealed to superior court last week when he drew four months in prison in recorder's court for driving while his license was revoked.

MARINE BADLY HURT

Camp Lejeune Marine Jeffrey Trelfa suffered serious injuries early Sunday morning as he pushed his out-of-gas car on the US 70 bypass near its intersection with NC 11. Another Marine, Larry Allen Moyer, was driver of the car that hit Trelfa.

Black Swamp Man Bound Over, Charged With Shotgun Murder of Wife Last Week

Twenty six year-old Curtis Turner of the Black Swamp section east of Maysville is held without privilege of bond, charged with murdering his wife, Zella Mae, last Thursday night.

After a preliminary hearing before Recorder's Court Judge Joe Becton Tuesday probable cause of Turner's guilt was found.

Deputy Sheriff Dan Killingsworth said the shooting took place in the trailer home of the couple at about midnight and that she died instantly when the full blast from a 12 gauge shotgun hit her at close range in the face just about at the point of her right cheek bone.

Turner insists that the shooting was an accident, and that he was messing with the gun when it went off accidentally.

Killingsworth said there was evidence that tended to indicate that the shooting was no accident.

Other arrests in the past week include that of Ed. Jones Jr. of Maysville who was charged with drunken driving and James Edward White of Trenton route 1 who was also charged with drunken driving.

Firemen's Day

The Wyse Fork Volunteer Fire Department is holding its annual "Firemen's Day" on Saturday of this week. Barbecue and fried chicken plates will be sold at the fire department building from 10:30 in the morning until 7:30 in the evening. Door prizes will also be given a way during the day. All friends of the department are urged to come by and eat one or both meals Saturday to help raise operating funds for the department.

Suit Filed Seeking Collect 1965 Debt

In Jones County Superior Court during the past week one civil action has been filed according to Clerk Walter Henderson.

In this action F. Rogers Pollock seeks to collect $908.93 with interest from October 14, 1965 from C. D. Hodges and C. D. Hodges Jr.

Poultry Show and Sale Tuesday Offers 144 High Quality Layers at Auction

On hundred and forty four laying hens will be sold at auction at the Lenoir County Livestock Building, located 2½ miles west of Kinston on the Pink Hill Highway, at 10 a.m., Tuesday, September 27.

Twelve hundred Harco Red chicks, all N.C.U.S. Pullorum clean chicks of the certified grade, were purchased and placed with 21 Lenoir County 4-H Club boys and girls during March. The pullets have been vaccinated with fowl pox vaccine.

The poultry chain is sponsored annually by a private foundation in cooperation with the Extension Service. This year the foundation will award prize money to the club members having done the best job. Receipts from the sale are to be used to purchase more chicks for other club members for another year.

The purpose of the poultry chain is to teach rural boys and girls profitable poultry production through supervised practices.

4-H'ers showing pullets in the sale Tuesday are as follows:

Two Wrecks in Two Minutes Charged to Lynwood Gooding

Friday night Lynwood Earl Gooding of Kinston route 4 was trying to get out of Kinston, but he had some difficulty: Two wrecks in two minutes.

First on South Queen Street he rammed the rear of a car driven by Jimmy Turner of Belmont Trailer park, knocking $70 worth of dents in it, and Gooding just kept on going.

At the intersection of US 70 and US 258 just across the river Gooding plowed into a car driven by Alex Melvin of Elm City route 2, injuring Melvin and four other passengers in the Melvin car and making total wrecks of both cars involved.

Gooding was charged with hit and run driving, leaving the scene of an accident, reckless driving and speeding. He was not hurt in either of the wrecks.

Wayne Rouse, Matthew Colie, Jeff Rouse, Cleve Shingleton, Martin L. Posey, Floyd B. Jones, III, Ashley Lee, Jr., Ronnie Outlaw, Denise Aldridge, Clevon Canady, Frankie Shaw, Sandra Daughety, Curtis Gillispie, and Clarence D. Williams.

This sale is a good place to purchase a small flock of exceptionally good layers. The hens will be sold in lots of 6 and 12 birds per pen. The public is invited to attend this sale which will begin promptly at 10 a.m. Tuesday, September 27.

Stomping Charge

Albert Feaster of 414 Shine Street is under $1500 bond in the Kinston city jail, charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill. Police say Feaster went to the home of Hilliard Brooks at 504 Thompson Street at about 7 Saturday night, knocked Brooks down and stomped him brutally. Brooks, on Wednesday, was still listed as "extremely critical" at Lenoir Memorial Hospital, suffering from multiple internal injuries, largely in the chest area. Feaster was free on appeal bond from conviction last Thursday of assaulting another person with a deadly weapon, for which he was given eight months in prison.

'Tired and Sleepy'

Last Thursday morning Dan S. Williams of 2201 Briarfield Road got "tired and sleepy" north of Kinston and wandered into the home of Edward Harrell, where he was found sprawled asleep on a bed. He was charged with being drunk and trespassing. Later in the day he got a bit closer to home, but still missed and got in another "wrong bed" in the Greenmeade Section, where he was again aroused and for the second time charged with public drunkenness and trespassing.

SHOPLIFTING SENTENCE

Willie Miller of 909 Reed Street was given six months in prison last week after being found guilty of shoplifting in recorder's court.
