Pair Charged in $1500 Looting Last Week of Rivermont Filling Station

Monday Willard Capps of Kinston route 5 and Bobby Ray Moore of 200 Old Asphalt Plant Road were bound over to the June 12th term of Lenoir County Superior Court, charged with breaking, entering and larceny.

They are charged with breaking into Harold Hardy's filling station in the Rivermont Community last week and stealing an estimated $1500 worth of tools, watches and guns.

Deputy Sheriff Raymond Eubanks said Monday a large part of the loot has been recovered.

Capps was also given three months in prison Tuesday in recorder's court after being convicted of speeding, driving without a driver's license and giving a false name and address to the officer who charged him with the traffic violations. At the time of that arrest he told the officer he was Ray Johnson from Selma. He appealed this sentence.

Authorities say Capps is also on federal probation for stealing a car in Virginia and transporting it across state lines.

Lenoir Countians Spending More on Automobiles Than They Do on Food

How are residents of Lenoir County spending their money these days?

How much of their shopping dollar goes for food, cars, clothes, furniture and other purchases in local retail stores?

According to figures for the past year, which have just become available through a new consumer market study, most of them had more money at their command and they appeared to have no reluctance about spending it.

The findings are based upon a nationwide survey made by the Standard Rate and Data Service to determine how families in each section of the country spend their retail dollar, and for what.

In Lenoir County, it is shown, stores selling food and automotive equipment captured a large share of the market. Together, they attracted 39 per cent of all retail businesses in the local area.

Food purchases alone, in bakeries, grocery stores, super-markets, butcher shops and the like added up to $14,953,000, an increase over the prior year's $14,370,000, an increase over the prior year's $14,370,000.

These purchases, which amounted to 17 percent of all retail business locally, covered only food bought for home consumption. Not included is money spent in lunchrooms, restaurants and other dining and drinking emporia.

Just how much the take-home food cost, on a per-family basis, was arrived at by dividing the total expenditure by the number of families. It came to $943 per family.

The report shows that automobile dealers and those selling motorcycles, boats and related equipment accounted for $18,994,000, as against the previous year's $19,069,000.

Market strength was also in evidence in most other retail lines.

Variety shops and department stores carrying general merchandise grossed $10,805,000, compared with the former total of $10,360,000.

Apparel shops, including those selling shoes, hats, underwear and outer garments, had receipts of $6,927,000. Their previous total was $6,534,000.

Sales of furniture and other home furnishings came to $4,679,000, as against the prior year's $4,144,000.

Consumer buying throughout the nation rose 8.3 percent in the year, the SRDS figures show. Some of it was attributable to inflation.

Corn Producers Looking Forward To a Better Crop This Year in Jones

By Fletcher Barber, Farm Agent

Jones County this year.

Corn producers of Jones County are looking forward to a better crop this year than in 1966.

In making general observations throughout the county, corn crops are off to a good start in spite of the cold weather.

An important factor in the production of a good corn crop is weed control. The use of chemicals for controlling weeds in corn offer an economical way to increase the profits of the grower.

Weeds can also be controlled by using shallow cultivation until the corn is about two feet high, then stop cultivating.

A weeder or rotary hoe are good implements to use until the corn is six inches high. Fairly thick stands will help to control weeds by competition and shading after corn is about two feet high. Deep plowing will bring new seeds to the surface, where they can germinate. Therefore it is important to avoid deep cultivation.

The use of adequate side-dressing is another important factor in corn production. Estimate nitrogen needs by using the "2-to-1" rule — apply 2 lbs. of nitrogen to get an average increase of 1 bushel of corn. This rule applies under average conditions with from 80-100 pounds of nitrogen when other recommended practices have been followed.

One can supply 80 pounds of nitrogen by using 500 pounds of nitrate of soda, 400 pounds of 20.5% ammonium nitrate and lime mixtures (Calnitro, ANL, nitro-lime and calcium ammonium nitrate) or ammonium sulfate, 250 pounds ammonium nitrate, 200 pounds urea, 220 pounds (21.9) gallons solution 4 (37% N), or 100 lbs. of annyarous ammonia.

Corn growers using the recommended practices in corn production should have no trouble in producing a good crop of corn this year providing the weather is favorable. For more information on the use of chemicals for weed control and adequate nitrogen sources contact the local Extension Offices.
