

PALACE FEATURES
BORIS KARLOFF

"Bride of Frankenstein" to Play Here Sat. A. M. at 10:30 and Sat. Night at 11:30.

"The Monster" is at large again! Karloff, the grotesque creature of original "Frankenstein," a murderous giant constructed from parts of dead bodies and brought to life at the height of a crashing electrical storm, comes to the Palace theatre in "The Bride of Frankenstein," a sequel to the first picture.

In this strange drama, produced for Universal by Carl Laemmle, Jr., the Monster is seen in further adventures of such a hair-raising nature that the picture is said to furnish the very ultimate in ghastly thrills. At the conclusion of "Frankenstein," it will be remembered, the Monster was apparently destroyed in a burning mill but the opening scenes of "The Bride of Frankenstein" show how he escaped death and returned to throw the entire countryside into a state of terror.

Henry Frankenstein, the half-mad scientist who created the Monster, finds himself forced to continue his experiments with the evil Dr. Preterius, already successful in the creation of tiny living human beings who lack only size to make them even more perfect figures than the Monster himself.

Meanwhile, the terrifying creature continues his murderous career until he is befriended by a harmit who teaches him to talk but again lapses into savagery and takes to the hills. From this point the excitement increases, culminating when the mad scientists collaborate on the creation of a mate for the lumbering giant. Then follows what is said to be the most amazing climax in the history of the screen.

James Whale directed "The Bride of Frankenstein," and the cast supporting Karloff includes Colin Clive, Valerie Hobson, Ernest Thesiger, Elsa Lanchester, Dwight Frye, Una O'Connor and many other motion picture favorites.

FARM QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question: Will alfalfa make a good growth when seeded in the spring?

Answer: Fall seeding is advisable in most sections of North Carolina, but spring seeding may be done under certain conditions, and especially at the higher elevations. In the Piedmont section spring seeding should be made on soils that have badly and on fertile soil infested with chick weed. The seed should be put in between March 1 and 25. At elevations of 2,500 feet or higher the seeding should be made between April 1 and 30.

Question: My chickens seem to be weak in the legs and stagger when they walk. What is the cause and how can it be remedied?

Answer: This trouble is probably caused by improper feeding or a heavy infestation of internal parasites. Open the intestinal tract of two or three birds and examine for round worms or tape worms. If these are not present, the ration should be carefully studied and reinforced. An addition of 7½ percent dehydrated alfalfa meal to the laying mash usually helps to correct vitamin deficiency and is a valuable addition to the ration, especially during the winter months.

Question: What are the requirements for signing a new cotton contract?

Answer: For a farm to be eligible for contract in 1936 the land must have grown cotton at least two years since 1930. One of the years specified is either 1934 or 1935. If natural causes which could not be controlled prevented planting in either or both of these years, credit for planting one year will be given, but cotton must have been grown

HAUPTMANN POSTPONED

Trenton, N. J., Jan. 6—Bruno Richard Hauptmann was given a longer lease on life today when his execution, originally scheduled to take place at 8 p. m., Tuesday, January 14, was postponed until later in that week of January 13.

Announcement of the postponement was made today by Col. Mark O. Kimberling, principal keeper, at the State Prison here. He would not explain why the postponement was ordered nor would he name the date of the execution.

However, it was believed the postponement was ordered to give the Court of Pardons time to consider Hauptmann's last appeal.

In the spring of 1933, Allard A. Battle of Edgecombe County planted 225 Red Cedar seedlings. This winter, he had for sale 223 Christmas trees four to six feet high.

Despite a poor corn year in Union County, 4-H club members report an average yield of 44.6 bushels per acre on their club projects.

on the land at least another year since 1930. Another requirement is that the farm must have a base acreage of one whole acre or more to be eligible for a 1936 contract.
