

HOOVER LASHES AT ROOSEVELT'S TALK

Says Message Should Have Been Titled "War On Earth, Ill Will Among Men."

Ogden, Utah, Jan. 5.—Former President Herbert Hoover tonight characterized President Roosevelt's message to congress as "a good sample of the political method of accusing everyone as being terribly wicked and corrupt who objects to the many departures of the new deal" from proper national objectives and ideals.

Accompanied by a secretary, Mr. Hoover was enroute from his home at Palo Alto, Calif., to New York city to attend a meeting of the board of directors of the New York Life Insurance company next Wednesday.

He issued a typewritten statement which said:

"Mr. Roosevelt's message on the state of the nation might have been entitled 'war on earth and ill will among men.'" It was a good oratorical word picture of proper national objectives and ideals, and a good sample of the political method of accusing everyone as being terribly wicked and corrupt who objects to the many departures of the new deal from these objectives and ideals.

"It also embraced the familiar theme that before the date of creation was moved to March 4, 1933 'the world was without form and void.'

Samples Of Departures
"A few samples of the many departures from the ideals stated might be cited. The President said: 'I, the executive, x x x established a due relationship between government and people. They were an appeal from x x x the clamor of partisan interest to the ideal of public interest.'

"The disregard of the non-partisan civil service and the horde of 250,000 spoils appointees seem to leave something lacking in the fruition of this ideal.

"The warning that 'the only thing to fear is fear' has daily practical reminders, as we witnessed for the first time in American history the administrative official using fear to coerce the common man.

"The President implies that prior to the creative idea, the unemployed were dependent upon inadequate private charity and that some new unknown wicked person wants to consign them back to such a state. The fact is that they were adequately cared for almost wholly by federal, state and local public funds, but under local administration and responsibility. Having violated that ideal of American government and being in a stupendous mess, a bogey is set up to create fear in those on relief.

"The most ominous note of all was the President's warning that the power he has assumed would be dangerous in other hands. 'In 34 months,' he says, 'we have built up new instruments of public power. In the hands of the people's government this power if wholesome and proper.' It just happens that the ideal upon which our government was founded and hitherto conducted, is that it is dangerous to the people to have any man possess such powers, or to allow any man to thus aspire to personal government of laws. The question is, not that these powers, have been created and now in the hands of the good, might be transferred to the hands of the wicked. If the new deal is not continued. It is that they never should be possessed by anybody in these United States."

DEATH OF INFANT CHILD

The death angel visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Coy Dickey and took from them their darling baby on January the first, 1936, making her stay on earth only two months and twenty-nine days. It was so hard for us to give up our little one, but we do know that she is safely resting in the arms of Jesus. We feel that our loss is her eternal gain.

She leaves to mourn her departure a broken-hearted mother and father. She bidden on earth to bloom in heaven.

God needed a shining angel to complete his holy band, but we hope to meet in heaven, where we never part again. Sleep on, dear darling, and take thy rest, we loved you but God loved you best.

Weep not, fond parents, not for your child, for she is now in the arms of a dear Savior.

Suffer little children and forbid them not come unto me for such is the kingdom of heaven.

She was laid to rest in the Clayton cemetery southwest of Roxboro.

Written by her aunt.
