THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1936

Tobacco farmers are very busy this week with their plant beds. This is the first week that they have been able to do any work on the beds since before Christmas.

Everyone hopes that they are preparing plants that will produce a crop of tobacco that will sell for a good price, but they do not know what will happen. After the AAA was overthrown the price of tobacco dropped. Whether it will stay down or go up it too much for anyone to tell.

A number of men from the tobacco states were in Washington this week trying to agree upon a plan that would be of benefit to the farmers when they sell their next crop. The new plan calls for crop control and will be backed by state legislation and also federal. Crop control is the only solution of the problem. If too much tobacco is raised the price will be low—there must be control. Claude T. Hall of Person County met with the other representatives and was named on a committee to represent this state.

Mr. Hall should adopt a permanent Washington address. He has been there hundreds of times in the interest of the farmers and his work has not been in vain.

Person County is very fortunate in having a citizen of the calibre that Mr. Hall is. He is an influential citizen and he uses his influence in the interest of his fellowman.

Something is wrong with the people of Roxboro or something is wrong with a large number of people in Roxboro. They just do not seem to appreciate classical programs of any kind.

The N. C. Symphony Orchestra failed to attract more than a handful of people on two occasions that it was here. The Womans' club recently sponsored several concerts or plays in Roxboro that were better than good. The people failed to attend and the Womans' club lost money. The Duke Musical Clubs were here last week. The price was reduced to 25 cents and still the people did not turn out as they should have. Mr. Kirby, manager of the theatre, states that he is afraid to book too many classical productions as he always loses money on them. A wild west show gets much better results.

Is Roxboro different from other cities or does the same thing prevail in all places?

A new grocery store opened in Roxboro last week. A new studio opened the week before that. A new theatre will be opened in six weeks. The mills are running and a large majority of people have jobs that afford them a living.

Roxboro has been growing for a number of years and is now showing a good spurt. Only one vacant building remains on Main street, and, we believe, one more in the business district.

Politics get warmer, but we have heard of nothing that indicates who will run for the Senate or the House from this county. We hardly believe that a draft will be necessary, but one can never tell.

If R. L. Harris wants to go back he can probably get as large a vote as he cares for, but he has made no statement to the press.

Y. W. A. Has Meeting

The Y. W. A. held its regular monthly meeting with Mrs. Thomas Brooks on Monday night of this week. The meeting opened with devotional, of which Miss Ora Latta had charge. Following a prayer, the program was entered into. "Thy Kingdom Come," was the topic of the program, and it was unusually interesting.

A business period was held at which time a delegate was appointed to the convention at Raleigh. Miss Lucille Davidson received the appointment.

The hostess served delicious ice cream and cake to the following: Misses Helen Bradsher, Virginia Puckett, Lucille Davidson, Ora Latta, Alma Bradsher, Ellen Marie Sears, Mamie Love Barnett, Dorothy Warren, Lucille Olive, Helen Latta; Mesdames A. R. Warren, J. W. Green, Marvin Long and Mrs. Alvin Warren, Miss Annie Louise Apple became a new member of the club at this time.

Mrs. Winstead Entertains

Mrs. H. W. Winstead was hostess to the Friday afternoon Book club at her home on North Main street, on Friday afternoon.

A lovely four-course luncheon was served the guests at one o'clock. After the luncheon six tables were arranged for the game of Boston Rook, and several pleasant hours were spent at the game.

The club had three visitors for the meeting: Mesdames Goldson and Eugene Clolins of Henderson, house guests of Mrs. Winstead, and Mrs. L. P. Van Duzer.

Spears-Stephens

In a quiet ceremony at Duke University Chapel Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock, Miss Hilda Spear of Atlanta, Ga., was married to Dr. William Stephens of Norfolk, Va., son of Mrs. P. T. Stephens of Se-mora, N. C.

The Rev. S. F. Nicks of Cedar Grove performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by the families and a few close friends of the couple.

Dr. Stephens was graduated from Duke University in 1924, later studied medicine at Vanderbilt University and took his internship at the Dozia hospital in Nashville, Tenn. and at Memorial hospital in Montgomery, Ala. He was a member of Phi Chi medical society at Vanderbilt. After graduation he was appointed to the Naval service at Norfolk, Va., where he is now stationed at the Naval Base hospital. He has traveled extensively in this and foreign countries. He is quite well known in Roxboro, where he has a number of friends and relatives.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Anderson Timberlake of this city entertained the bridal party from eight to ten. About twenty invited guests were present for the affair. A lovely buffet luncheon was served the guests, and the bride

Bridge Club Meets

Miss Nellie Smith was hostess to her club and a few invited guests on Tuesday night at the home of her parents on Lamar street.

The living room was very pretty with bright Spring flowers. Three tables were arranged for the game of bridge. At the conclusion of the game, scores were added. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Wallace Harris for club high score and to Mrs. McIver Featherston for visitors high score.

The hostess served a delicious salad, hot rolls, ham and coffee.

Miss Merritt Is Hostess

On Tuesday night of this week Miss Eglantine Merritt was a delightful hostess to the members of her club and a few invited guests at her home on South Main street.

Pretty hyacinths and other Spring flowers were attractively arranged in the living room where three tables were placed for the delightful game of bridge. Several very interesting progressions were enjoyed. Scores were later added and pretty hoes were given Mrs. Curtis Oakley for club high score. Mrs. Wynne was presented dainty handkerchiefs for visitor's high.

The hostess served her guests sandwiches, hot tea and cakes.

Those present were: Misses Claire Harris, Mary Harris, Marie Garland and Mary Hester; Mesdames W. G. Bradsher, Stuart Sherman, Sam Merritt, H. M. Beam, Clyde Bowen, Frank Willson and Curtis Oakley.

Leasburg Young People Entertained

On Friday evening, February 21, Mr. Lewis Stanfield entertained the members of the Young People's Division at his home in Leasburg.

Roll call was answered by each member of the division. The affair was given in honor of George and Martha Washington.

The group sang, "My Faith Looks Up To Thee." Rev. D. D. Trynham led in prayer. Miss Josephine Wade gave a sketch of Washington's life. Mr. Lewis Stanfield recalled the outstanding features of his life, he also gave a report of the many things he had seen that Washington was known to have touched or used.

Miss Corinna Pleasants, the efficient chairman of the recreation committee, led in a number of very interesting games.

Delicious refreshments were served by the host to the following members: Misses Corinna Pleasants, Josephine Wade, Mildred Wade, Sarah Newman, Evelyn Whitlow, Elizabeth Whitlow, Bertha Dixon, and Margaret Bradsher. Messrs. Robert Pleasants, D. D. Trynham, Robert Newman, Jr., W. D. Fulcher, Jr., Jesse Denny and Ralph Whitlow.

Tuesday Club Entertained

On Tuesday afternoon of this week Mrs. J. A. Long entertained the members of the Tuesday bridge club and a few other guests at her home on South Main street.

Pretty potted plants and early Spring flowers were used to decorate the home for the occasion. Four tables were placed for the club game and quite a number of interesting progressions were played. When scores were added Mrs. Oveida Long held club high, while Mrs. E. E. Thomas held visitor's high. Mrs. Long was given a double deck of cards, while Mrs. Thomas was presented a lovely pair of hoes.

The hostess served a delicious two-course dinner.

Mrs. Bradsher Has Club

Mrs. E. E. Bradsher was hostess to the members of the Thursday Literary club on Thursday evening of last week. A delicious three-course dinner was served the guests at 6 o'clock.

The meeting was held in the living room after dinner. Mrs. E. B. Craven, president of the club, presided at the meeting. The topic for study was "Essays." Several very interesting papers were given on the subject. Mrs. A. R. Warren gave an interesting paper on "Essays of Today." Mrs. H. K. Sanders read "Essays As a Form of Literature," while Mrs. H. L. Crowell related "Essays of Yesterday."

Circle No. 1 Meets

Mrs. E. V. Boatwright entertained Circle No. 1 of the First Baptist church on Monday afternoon. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, which were conducted by Mrs. Boatwright.

A short business session was held, after which Mrs. A. M. Burns led in the Mission study for the afternoon. The hostess served delicious punch to the thirteen members present.

Circle No. 5 Meets

Mesdames Clyde Crowell and Munch Featherston were joint hostesses to the members of Circle No. 5 of the Mary Hambrick Missionary Society of the Methodist church on Monday evening at the home of the former.

The meeting was opened with devotional exercises. The subject for the day was "Maude Addams Hull House," and it was most interestingly brought out by Mrs. Willie VanHook. The circle was delighted to have Mrs. Margaret Teague present for this meeting.

The hostesses served delicious sandwiches, cookies and Russian tea to the thirty-one guests present.

FORD EXCHANGE PLAN LIKED BY FORD OWNERS

Records Show 175,000 Reconditioned Engines Have Been Purchased Under New Plan.

Many truck and commercial car owners and bus operators are finding the engine and parts exchange plan of the Ford Motor Company decidedly advantageous both as to convenience and economy, according to Ford officials. Records show that more than 175,000 reconditioned V-8 engines have been purchased under the plan by owners of trucks, commercial cars and buses.

Under the exchange plan, block-tested factory reconditioned engine cylinder assemblies are obtainable at low cost in exchange for the used engine. Many vital parts, such as carburetors, generators, distributors, fuel pumps, and clutch disc assemblies, all reconditioned to new part specifications, are also offered.

Both convenience and economy are served by the plan, according to testimonials of commercial car users. The ready installation of the reconditioned engines eliminates tie-ups of equipment, and since the cost is less than the average cost of an engine overhaul, maintenance charges are reduced, according to letters from owners.

Among truck and bus operators who point out that the plan eliminates tie-ups are R. L. Schoenberger, superintendent of highways at Princeton, Illinois; and the Stroudsburg Ice and Cold Storage Company, of Stroudsburg, Pa., and the Kelly Theatres Company of Iola, Kansas. Lower maintenance costs are emphasized by the Pittsburgh Transport & Storage Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., the Sedro-Wooley-Mt. Vernon Stage Company of Anacortes, Wash., and the Schappi Bus Line of Calumet City, Ill.

The Schappi Company reports that a motor change was made at 59,400 miles and no additional expenses have been incurred since. The Anacortes Company states that no money was spent for repairs on its first Ford bus up to 88,000 miles and that a motor change was then made.

Other truck owners who have reported favorably on the convenience and economy of the plan include D. S. Robertson, who operates a truck from Statesboro to Savannah, Ga., Leroy Pitcher, a milk dealer, of Logan, Utah; the Square Deal Oil Company of St. Louis, Mo., the Boteler Packing Company of Jackson, Miss., and the Globe Grain and Milling Company of Los Angeles, Calif.

E. J. Brooks, of Fullerton, California, reports that one motor exchange enabled him to operate his truck 220,000 miles carrying hay, lumber, grain and cottonseed into and out of the Imperial Valley with temperatures as high as 123 in the shade.

Maurice L. Vermillion, of Elkridge, Md., reports operating a Ford truck 90,000 miles, and then installing at low cost a reconditioned motor which, from previous experience, he expects to run another 90,000 miles practically without additional expense.
