

Oakley vs Beasley, Convict In Chains, Winner Takes All Program For Friday Night 28

Five Real Bouts Set For Friday Night, Program is Unusual and Should Produce More Real Fighting Than Has Been Seen Here Lately.

KING vs. HESS AND YOUNG vs. STANFIELD

Roxboro fans are promised a real treat at the New Arena on Friday night, Feb. 28th. The entire card has been booked under a contract that calls for the winner to take all; the loser gets the air. This should make the boys fight harder for the very simple reason that they can't collect unless they win.

Another feature of the card for Friday is that Sam Lyler, colored, of the State prison camp, will box Al Bailey, colored, of Roxboro. Sam is in chains and has to fight that way. He is not allowed to remove his chains even during the fight. It is reported that Sam puts up a mean battle.

The main bout of the evening will be between Clyde Oakley, 148 pounds, Roxboro, and William Beasley, 152 pounds, New Bern. Oakley is training hard for this fight. He believes that he can lick Beasley, but has no desire to lose the fight and thus lose the purse. Oakley has recently accepted a position with Collins and Aikman Corp. He works there eight hours a day, mauls logs eight hours a day and sleeps eight hours. Oakley is one of the boys who takes his fighting seriously and he never lets up from the time he goes in the ring until he comes out.

King and Young from Roxboro are also on the card. Both are promising boxers and know something about glove pushing.

Winstead makes his second appearance. He did a nice job on his first trip to the ring and should be better this time.

this date. These "Specials" are announced in today's Person County Times, and will also be announced in the Courier next Monday.

Contest Close
"Tabulation of votes to date," stated L. P. Van Duzer, Campaign Director, "are so close that many contestants listed daily on the bulletin sheets stand a good chance of winning the first prize. The Roxboro Contest is creating a great deal of buying interest, and has developed as friendly and competitive attitude as any contest I have conducted."

Final Contestants meeting at Courthouse Friday evening, Feb. 28th, at 7 p. m. sharp.

All contestants are urged to positively attend this meeting, which will be the last during the contest, and should prove most interesting and profitable for all contestants.

Tuesday Last Free Day Vote
Next Tuesday is the last Free Day in the Contest, and contestants having all their friends and boosters out registering and buying for them on that day will be handsomely rewarded. Each Roxboro resident voting will give the contestant 30,000 votes, and out-of-town folks voting within a 25-mile radius, will give the lucky contestant 30,000 votes per mile. Everybody should come out next Tuesday and help their favorite contestant "Go Over the Top" in their effort to win that beautiful Chevrolet.
