

ALLISON JAMES
Candidate for Democratic Nomination for Congress from Fifth District

BRIEF REVIEW OF ALLISON JAMES

One of North Carolina's Best Known Citizens, Widely Acquainted With Leaders in Nation.

Of interest to tobaccoists, not only in the Fifth District of North Carolina, but throughout the entire tobacco producing area, is the announcement that Allison James, Winston-Salem, N. C., is a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Congress from the fifth district. He has opened campaign headquarters in the Wachovia Bank building, Winston-Salem.

Mr. James is one of North Carolina's best known citizens and, through his three years service in NRA in Washington, has become widely acquainted among the Nation's business and political leaders. His successful direction as executive assistant of the distributing trades division of the NRA and the organization and approval of code authorities won attention and admiration and few men are better equipped with a working knowledge of the intricacies of governmental affairs.

Newly graduated from Davidson College, Mr. James entered drug store employment in Winston-Salem in 1906. He passed his State Board of Pharmacy examination in 1909 and in 1911 became part owner and secretary of Owens Drug Store, one of the Twin City's best known pharmacies. In 1915 he founded Yerkes Chemical Company, a wholesale manufacturing concern known throughout the South, and for several years he was interested in other retail drug stores in Winston-Salem.

Mr. James quit the retail drug business in December, 1932, and began service in the North Carolina Legislature in January, 1933. Later in that year, he accepted appointment to NRA duties in Washington. In his home town, he has served on the school board, health board, city council, as president of Retail Merchants Association, and Kiwanis Club and he is a past president of North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association.

As a resident of a tobacco growing and manufacturing community, Mr. James has always been keenly interested in the problems and affairs of tobaccoists. Tobacco growers of the Piedmont section recognize him as a strong friend and already are anticipating the further benefit of his influence and sympathy in their behalf, should he be successful in his campaign.

Mrs. Carver Has Ace High

Mrs. David Carver was hostess to the Ace High club and several other guests on Thursday night of last week.

Pretty mixed Spring flowers were very pretty in the living room where three tables were placed for bridge and one for Boston Rook. After several interesting progressions scores were added and prizes presented. Mrs. Victor Satterfield was club high score prize winner; Mrs. Glenn Brandon won visitor's high score prize and Miss Bivins Winstead was club consolation prize winner. For the rook game Mrs. Gilbert Carver was high score prize winner.

The hostess, assisted by Mesdames Melgum Hicks and Henry Gates, served her guests a delicious sweet course. Those playing bridge were: Mesdames Russel Murray, Joe Guffey, W. H. Adair, Riley Oakley, Victor Satterfield, Glenn Brandon, Charles Timberlake, McIver Featherston; Misses Lottie Bailey, Rosa Yarborough, Mary Riley and Bivins Winstead. Those playing rook were: Mesdames Stonewall Jackson, Gilbert Carver, B. B. Newell and Miss Foy Lawson.

Kinozelian Class Has Meeting

The Kinozelian class of the First Baptist church met with Mesdames Albert Warren and Alvin Warren as joint hostesses at the home of the former on Monday night of this week.

The meeting was opened with devotional. Miss Ora Latta read the scripture lesson, while Miss Virginia Puckett led in prayer. A business session was then conducted. Upon completion of the business matters, the group engaged in social conversation.

Delicious ice cream and cake were served the following members: Miss Virginia Puckett, Annie Louis Apple, Helen Bradsher, Alma Bradsher, Mildred Bass, Lucille Davidson, Lorena Wade, Ora Latta, Francis Clayton; Mesdames Marvin Long and Thomas Brooks.

Tuesday Club Meets

Mrs. A. M. Burns was hostess to the members of the Tuesday bridge club and a few invited guests on Tuesday of this week at her home on South Main street.

A profusion of roses and iris was used in the living room decorations. Three tables were placed for the club game of bridge. Several progressions were enjoyed; scores were added and attractive prizes were given Mrs. R. P. Burns for club high score and to Mrs. John D. Morris for visitor's high score.

Mrs. Burns served her guests a delicious two course supper, consisting of a fried chicken plate with all accessories followed by chocolate cake.

Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Winstead Honor Son

A delightful affair of Tuesday evening was the dinner given for Bertwell Winstead by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Winstead.

The guests were invited for seven o'clock and soon after their arrival were invited to the dining room where the prettily appointed table was centered with a large birthday cake with lighted candles.

Those who enjoyed the event were: Mr. and Mrs. N. V. Brooks, Miss Annie Rooney and Page Brooks, Kiel Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Winstead, Mr. and Mrs. Bertwell Winstead, and the host and hostess.

Mr. Winstead was the recipient of many useful and attractive gifts.

Mrs. Bobbitt Is Honored

On Thursday night of last week Mrs. L. A. Bradsher entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of her daughter, Mrs. Winfred Bobbitt, a recent bride, of Durham. Before her marriage she was Miss LaRue Bradsher of Roxboro.

A variety of Spring flowers were arranged in the home for the occasion. The delightful game of keano was enjoyed for several hours. When the bride had "keanoed," she was presented a large basket filled with many attractive and useful articles.

The hostess served her guests delightful refreshments, consisting of sandwiches and iced tea. About 35 were present at the affair.
