FARM QUESTIONS ANSWERED

Question: I have some chickens about nine weeks old and several appear to have weak legs. What causes this?

Answer: As only a few of the chicks are affected, it would appear that the diet is well balanced because a larger number would show this condition if it were not balanced. Apparently the birds affected are of low constitutional vigor and cannot utilize the feed offered. All affected birds should be destroyed, but should also be opened and examined for worms before final disposition. To be sure about the diet, this should be checked at once to see that it is properly balanced.

Question: Will landlords or farm owners share in the soil-conserving payments for land taken out of production of soil depleting crops?

Answer: Yes. This payment will be divided among owners, share-tenants, and share-croppers in the same proportion as the principal soil-depleting crop or the proceeds from this crop is divided under the lease or operating agreement. Soil-building payments, however, will be made to the producer who incurred the expense in following out the soil-building practices. If two

Miss Rachel E. Long Wed To Mr. Edwards

In a quiet ceremony at the Cary Methodist church on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, Miss Rachel E. Long, of Roxboro, became the bride of J. Harry Edwards, also of this city.

Rev. B. F. Boone, brother-in-law of the groom, read the sacred vows in the presence of a few friends, using the impressive ring ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated, a color scheme of pink and white being carried out with a profusion of Dorothy Perkins roses, pink and white larkspur and queen ann's lace, before a background of green and white candles which burned softly while the nuptials were said.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Sallie Breeze played "Until" by Sanderson and "At Dawning" by Cadman. MacDowell's "To a Wild Rose" was softly played during the ceremony. The bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" by Wagner was used as a processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march as a recessional.

The bride was lovely in a gown of delphinium blue with harmonizing accessories. Her bouquet was of pink roses. Mrs. Burlie Day, sister of the bride, was her maid of honor. She was attired in hyacinth blue and wore a shoulder corsage of roses in deeper hue.

The groom had as his best man, Burlie Day, of Roxboro.

After the ceremony the couple left by motor for a wedding trip through the mountains of western North Carolina. On their return or more producers incurred this expense then the payment will be divided between all parties.

Question: How can I control bud worms in my tobacco?

Answer: The best known control is the poisoned corn meal bait. This is made by mixing six heaping teaspoonsful of arsenate of lead and one peck of corn meal. This amount is sufficient for one acre. A small pinch of this poison bait should be dropped in the center of the bud early in the morning when the bud is open. The first application should be made about ten days or two weeks after the plants are set and continued every week or ten days until the plants are topped. Larger amounts of the bait may be made by mixing one pound of arsenate of lead with 50 pounds of corn meal.

they will be at home in Roxboro. Mrs. Edwards is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Long, of Hurdle Mills and Mr. Edwards is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edwards of Roxboro.

Miss Nell Edwards, Bradsher Gentry and little Miss Marion Long, all of Roxboro and Mrs. B. F. Boone were among the wedding guests.
