

Farmers Are Granted More Time To Sign Work Sheets

So Far 100,000 Farmers Have Signed Sheets, But a Total Sign-Up of 150,000 is Expected.

By H. K. SANDERS

An extension of time has been granted North Carolina farmers for filling out and signing work sheets under the new farm program.

Over most of the State, said Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College, the time limit for field workers to sign up farmers expired May 31, but farmers will be allowed to sign work sheets in their county agents' offices during the first weeks of June. Certain misunderstandings regarding the new program have tended to handicap the sign-up, the dean explained, with the result that it was not completed on schedule.

The work sheets do not obligate farmers in any way, Dean Schaub emphasized. They do not compel farmers to comply with the program, but they must be signed by all who wish to secure soil-conserving or soil-building payments.

The severe drouth this spring has undoubtedly hurt crops in North Carolina, he pointed out, and most farmers will find these payments a helpful form of crop insurance. When a farmer carries out the practices for which payments are offered, he will receive his payments regardless of the effect of dry weather on his crops.

The work sheets will be used in checking each grower's compliance with the program to determine the amount of his payments. The work of checking compliance will start soon, the dean said, and farmers who have not signed work sheets by that time will not be eligible for payments.

So far, 100,000 or more work sheets have been signed in North Carolina. A total sign-up of 150,000 is expected. Some counties have already signed up more than 90 per cent of their acreage.

As we understand it, any soil-building crop planted before Oct. 31, 1936 will enable a farm to qualify for soil-conserving and soil-building payments.

A number of farmers have stated that they did not have sufficient soil-building crops to qualify for payments, and therefore had neglected to sign the work sheet. We wish to state in this connection that there are a number of crops that can be planted before Oct. 31st that will enable a farm to qualify. For instance, peas or soybeans may still be planted; or red clover or crimson clover in August, September or October. In order that the full acreage may be counted, these crops should be sowed on idle or rested land. If sowed on land from which a crop of wheat has been harvested, only one-half the acreage will count as a soil-building crop.

It is certainly worth while to investigate and find out what is necessary for your farm to qualify. A farmer came in a few days ago and stated that he knew he could not qualify and therefore had not made any effort to sign a work sheet. The record of his farm was checked and he was advised that by planting two or three extra acres of peas, soybeans or clover sometime before Oct. 31st, he could qualify for about $60.00.

The work sheets are in the office of the County Agent, in the basement of the Courthouse. Call at the office and find out whether or not your farm can qualify for payment.

CA-VEL DEFEATS HOME SECURITY

Lefty Parker of the Home-Security team of Durham limited the local Ca-Vels to one hit here Saturday afternoon, but 10 errors by his teammates donated the Roxboro outfit a 6-5 victory.

The Home-Security boys tied the score in the seventh and went one run ahead during their half of the eighth, but the Ca-Vels took the lead in their part of the eighth by scoring twice. Durham again went to the front in the ninth by scoring a brace of runs, but the locals scored twice in the last half to win.

Johnson Bat Star

Lynn Johnson was the hitting star of the game with three hits, including two doubles, in four trips to the plate while Vance Sykes got three for five and Carson garnered two for three, one of which was a home run. However, Johnson with two, Sykes with two and Carson with four, accounted for eight of the 10 errors charged against the Durham nine.
