

POPULAR ACTORS STARRED IN GAY REPUBLIC FILM

"Tickets to Paradise" Playing at Dolly Madison Wednesday,
October 7th.

Against the glittering background of Chicago and New York City night life, the swanky social whirl of Park Avenue's "400," the colorful plot of Republic's "Ticket to Paradise," is woven — interpreted by a cast of Hollywood's best artists.

Dealing with the humorous, tragic and romantic escapades of a young financier who loses his memory after a taxicab accident and is befriended by a wealthy society debutane, the picture will open Oct. 7th at the Dolly Madison theatre with Roger Pryor and Wendy Barrie heading the players.

Fifty-six interior and exterior sets assist in the rapid story motivation: a completely and lavishly furnished modern mansion from kitchen to drawing room; swanky night clubs; city room of a Metropolitan newspaper; Wall Street business offices; night courts; hospitals; railway terminals; richly appointed apartments and carnival settings.

The story was written by Dave Silverstein, adapted to the screen by Jack Nattaferd and Nathaniel West and directed by Aubrey Scotto, veteran director-actor-author and opera singer of note.

Completing the cast are Claude Gillingwater, E. E. Clive, Andrew Tombes, Theodore Von Eltz, Russell Hicks, John Sheehan, Luis Alborni, Herb Rawlinson, Charles Wilson and others.

Boston now requires motorists over 65 years of age to pass a driving test prescribed by a recent ordinance. Among those who failed recently was Dr. A. Lawrence Lowell, president emeritus of Harvard University. He will be 80 years old next December, but will try again.

The Surry County sub-soiler used by the local conservation committee will subsoil an acre an hour to a depth of 22 inches.

Sam Whitten, Jr. Injured

On Saturday night about 8:30 o'clock Sam Whitten, Jr. was injured when the bicycle on which he was riding was hit by a Ford car being driven by Henry C. Woody, of Bethel Hill. The accident occurred at the intersection of Reams Avenue and Lamar street, as the boy, employed at Leggett's Department store, was delivering a package. The crash resulted in severe bruises and lacerations sustained by Whitten when he was thrown from his wheel. He was treated by a local physician that night and was taken to a hospital in Durham Monday where an X-ray picture was made of his injuries.

An eleven-year-old white girl, Warnester, Strickland of New Orleans, recently became the mother of an 8-pound baby boy through a Caesarean operation. The girl's mother is only 26, the two being the youngest mother and grandmother of which there is any record, physicians believe.

TAYLOR - STANWYCK AT PALACE MONDAY

Stanwyck and Taylor Prove Delightful Romantic Team

TO PLAY IN "HIS BROTHER'S WIFE" ON OCTOBER 5 AND 6

It was peculiarly fortunate that when Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer determined to produce the picture called "His Brother's Wife," W. S. Van Dyke was available to direct it.

The picture opens at the Palace theatre Monday night with Hollywood's most romantic team, Barbara Stanwyck and Robert Taylor, heading a remarkably fine cast.

Van Dyke, of course, is a veteran not only of the camera but of jungle adventure, and "His Brother's Wife" is a drama of the tropic wilderness. Van Dyke has resorted to his indelible memory of the steaming interior to produce an effect of realism that is truly astounding.

Robert Taylor, right now the screen's most popular young star of the masculine ranks, has a daring role that he portrays with the daring it demands. He appears as a scientific explorer who falls in love with a beautiful redheaded girl on his last fling in civilization.

His brother urges the boy to forget the girl and carry on with his expedition. He agrees and in her rebellion the girl marries the brother. Returning from the jungle the fever-haunted explorer finds himself in love with his brother's wife.

It would not be justice to reveal the climax but you may be assured that Taylor takes the girl back into the jungles with him. And there, in a desperate struggle against the mysterious forces of nature, he saves her life and wins her love. Barbara Stanwyck gives a delightful performance. Jean Hersholt, as

Mrs. G. P. Mallette Honored Saturday

Misses Louise Pulliam, Ella Wilkerson and Jane Carver were joint hostesses Saturday night at the Community House, honoring Mrs. George P. Mallette, Jr., of Concord, formerly Miss Elizabeth Pulliam of this city.

The guests were greeted at the door by Misses Wilkerson, Dorothy Bowles and Annie Lee Newman. The game of Bingo was conducted by Mesdames M. U. Daniel and Harry Puckett. Unique prizes were awarded. Later in the evening, little Misses Arline and Bob Hall entered beneath an umbrella, bringing forth a miscellaneous shower of many attractive and useful gifts.

The beautifully appointed table was covered with an imported cloth. A huge bowl of mixed fall flowers formed the centerpiece. Candles were effective in a color scheme of yellow and white. Mesdames R. C. Hall and R. E. Hamlin presided at the punch bowls. Tarts and mints were passed by Mrs. Roger Wilkerson, Jr. and Mrs. Ruby H. Carter of Richmond, Va.

Approximately eighty-five guests registered in the bride's book during the evening.

Bert Fajazza, Canadian contractor, in pre-depression days built his driveway out of hard coal. Last winter he dug it up to keep warm.
