Sunday School Banquet

Mr. F. O. Carver's Sunday School class was entertained at a delightful banquet which took place in the basement of Edgar Long Memorial church, Tuesday, Nov. 10th. There were fifty-six members and guests present being seated at long tables decorated with lovely fall flowers. Mrs. A. F. Nichols, president, presided.

The dinner which was served by Mrs. C. B. Kirby and Miss Claire Harris, of Circle 3, consisted of grape fruit, a turkey course with all accessories, and block cream and cakes. A color scheme of yellow and white was used for place cards and all other decorations. The invocation was by Rev. B. P. Robinson, Mesdames H. W. Newell and J. A. Long sang two beautiful duets with Mrs. K. L. Street as accompanist. A history of the class, which is 30 years old, was read by Mrs. E. P. Dunlap. It was interesting to note that in these 30 years the class has had only two teachers, Mrs. Mamie Merritt, who organized it, and the present teacher, Mr. F. O. Carver. The guest speaker for the occasion was Dr. H. E. Spence of Duke University. Rev. Robt. W. Bradshaw, Executive Sec. of the Board of Christian Education of the N. C. Conference was present and made a few remarks. Mr. F. O. Carver spoke words of appreciation after which Dr. Spence pronounced the benediction.

Seniors Entertained

Mr. O. B. McBroom, the grandfather of the Senior class, was host to the Senior Class Wednesday, November 11 at his Coca Cola plant on Morgan street to a dinner. The host served sandwiches and cake with a Coca Cola. He then carried them over the plant and explained the process of the making of a Coca Cola.

Woman's Auxiliary Meets

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Episcopal church met at the home of Mrs. Bill Timberlake on Barnett Avenue, Monday, November 9. The business concerning the church was discussed by all of the members. The devotional exercise was led by Mrs. L. M. Carlton, president. The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. J. S. Merritt. The hostess served a delicious course with hot coffee. The living room was decorated with lovely fall flowers.

New York, N. Y.—"IT'S TRUE! that dance director Dave Gould requested an individual stand-in for each of his regular dancers in the M-G-M extravaganza, 'Born to Dance,'" says Wiley Padan. "The stand-in chorus took the regular chorines' places while the cameramen lined up the lights. Some of the numbers required 14 cameras and a dozen assistant directors. "During the filming of the huge dance numbers, the girls were kept at the studio in specially built dormitories so that their food and diet could be watched!"

BUSHY FORK P.T.A. MET NOVEMBER 5

The P.T.A. of Bushy Fork school held its November meeting at the school November 5 with a large delegation present. The prize having gone to Miss Lela Russell's room for having the most parents present. The president, Mrs. E. P. Warren, presided. At this meeting it was voted that we set as our goal, to raise $400 for a new library, which is one of the points we must reach to become a standard elementary school. A ground committee was also appointed as follows: D. A. Hester, F. L. Whitfield and Miss Bessie Hester. We hope in the near future, we are going to have a lawn that any school should be proud of. There is a fine spirit of cooperation felt throughout the entire community, not only is it felt by the parents and teachers, but friends of the school are taking an active part by giving their talents, time and means, toward the building up of the school and P. T. A. work. At the close refreshments were served by the following ladies, Mrs. Ewing Long, Mrs. Garland Slaughter, Miss Lela Russell, and Mrs. Whitfield.

June Provines, Chicago Tribune columnist, tells of a young woman who got her book titles confused. Having seen displayed in a bookstore window "Wake Up and Live" and "Live Alone and Like It," she later telephoned to order "Wake Up Alone and Like It."
