

AMERICAN SHIPS IDLE AT NEW YORK DOCKS

Spreading eastward from San Francisco, the strike of maritime workers has tied up nearly 100 ships of American registry, including many liners in Atlantic Coast and Gulf ports. Above is a section of New York's Hudson River docks, with the Empire State Building in the left skyline and, left to right, the "Santa Elena", the "Virginia" and the trans-Atlantic liner "Manhattan" tied up awaiting crews.

What will the N. C. Legislators do for the schools of their state? The P.T.A. is interested in these items as well as many others:

Legislative Program, North Carolina Congress of Parents and Teachers — 1936-37

1. There should be a full restoration of all salaries, both in the public schools and institutions of higher learning from State funds in order to hold a personnel of ability, training and experience. In order to insure good teachers, principals and superintendents an appropriation for the minimum school opportunity of eight months should include:

- A. Increments for experience.
- B. Provisions for sick leave.
- C. A reduction of the teacher load.

D. Encouragement of further training through the issuance of a higher level of certificates, with additional salary provisions.

2. As a means of improving the school situation for the average child and providing a real opportunity for exceptional children, we believe special provision should be made for these exceptional children in every school in the State.

3. As a means of increasing the efficiency and effectiveness of classroom instruction we believe that more adequate instructional supplies and library facilities should be provided. Trained librarians should be provided for every large school.

4. We believe that in the transportation of school children, the emphasis should be on the moral soundness and physical safety rather than on the low per capita cost of this service. Every child who has to ride a bus should have a seat, and should not be required to leave home more than an hour before school.

5. In addition to the above program to be provided by the State for a minimum opportunity of eight months out of State funds, we believe local communities should have the legal right and encouragement to vote taxes with which to provide:

- A. A ninth month.
- B. A twelfth grade.
- C. An enriched program to meet the special needs of individual communities.

6. Earnestly to urge our senators and congressmen to support a bill that will equalize the educational opportunity as between the states, and provide aid for the schools out of Federal funds, to the end that our per capita cost of $24.18 per year may more nearly approach the national average of $67.00, thereby enabling us to raise our rank above 47th place among the states as shown by the latest national figures available.

Mrs. W. B. Aycok, Chairman Legislation, N. C. Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The Raleigh Kiwanis Club donated $67 in prizes for the recent Wake County Jersey calf club show.

IT'S TRUE! By Wiley Padan

MAUREEN O'SULLIVAN NEVER GOES TO SEE HERSELF ON THE SCREEN! SHE IS BECOMING A FINE SWIMMER UNDER WEISSMULLER'S TUTELAGE!

JOHNNY TARZAN WEISSMULLER GAVE AN ORIENTAL KING SWIMMING LESSONS.

LEO says: IN THE FILMING OF "TARZAN ESCAPES", THERE WAS ONE OCCASION WHEN THE COMPANY WAS IN GRIM DANGER! A MONKEY CRASHED INTO ONE OF THE GIANT OVERHEAD REFLECTORS, KNOCKING IT DOWN INTO A GROUP OF ELEPHANTS! AS THE STARTLED ELEPHANTS FLUNG UP THEIR TRUNKS, WEISSMULLER QUICKLY DRAGGED DOWN THE LEADER'S TRUNK, STOPPING THE TRUMPETING & RESTORING ORDER!

- PANTHER
- BEAR
- DEER
- ZEBRA
- GIRAFFES
- ELEPHANTS
- LEOPARDS
- LIONS
- RHINOCEROS
- HIPPOPOTAMI
- PYTHON
- WILDBEEST
- APES

(NOT COUNTING BIRDS & BATS!)

New York, N. Y.—"IT'S TRUE!" that the strangest wilderness ever conceived in a motion picture studio provides one of the big thrills in "Tarzan Escapes," says Wiley Padan. "It represents a waste quagmire in the heart of Africa, infested by giant vampire bats which kill every other living thing. Bare, dead trees, strange mists, and quicksand holes add to the weird appearance."

We extend our Congratulations To Collins & Aikman

A flat 10% raise over the entire mill means much to those who have positions there. We rejoice with you and trust that the extra money may be the means of providing much happiness for you all.

BEST PORK COMES FROM GOOD HOGS

Hogs Must be Neither Too Young Nor Too Old, Too Fat or Too Thin

Getting hogs in good condition for slaughter is one of the main points in successful butchering, said H. W. Taylor, extension swine specialist at State College.

The best pork, he said, comes from hogs that are neither too young nor too old, too fat or too thin.

Butcher hogs should be well finished. A well finished hog weighing from 200 to 250 pounds produces the most satisfactory pork for curing on the farm.

Smooth, evenly fleshed animals produce a better meat, and will cut up with less waste than coarse, rough, wrinkled, and flabby ones. They also have a more tender, finer textured product with the right proportion of fat and lean.

Hogs that are gaining in weight are usually the healthiest and will make the best meat. However, the loss of a few pounds in shipping before butchering will not lower the quality of the meat.

The muscles of a thin hog are tough. They lack the flavor and juiciness found in a well marbled piece of meat.

Extremely fat, heavy hogs cannot be converted into the best quality cured pork.

Although hogs may be slaughtered at any age, meat from young pigs is watery and soft and does not have the flavor and keeping qualities of meat from animals a little older.

Additional information on killing and curing hogs may be obtained from county agents or in extension folder No. 34, "Killing and Curing Meat on the Farm," which will be sent free upon application to the agricultural editor at State College.

TRAGIC LOVERS

An unusually interesting story of explorations in search of the Tomb of Tristan and Isolde, whose romance has been long a theme of song and story. Read this story in the November 22d issue of the American Weekly, the big magazine which comes regularly with the Baltimore American. On sale at all news stands.

Edward F. Dunne, onetime mayor of Chicago and later governor of Illinois, perpetrated the following poem on his 83rd birthday:

I must confess I'm now eighty-three,
But from aches and pains I'm happily free:

The Rev. Marcus Dillahanty, a Negro preacher and farmer near Lebanon, Tenn., missed corn from his field, so he pushed nails into the ends of several dozen ears. Later he took witnesses to the hog pens of two suspected neighbors, and found corncobs with his nails. Theft charges were preferred.

Literary Digest tells of a man in Long Beach, Calif., who made a mistake by ordering oysters fried. The oyster contained 41 pearls, the largest of which would have been worth $1,000, if they had not been cooked.

And the family group continues to thrive, For of grandchildren now I've just twenty-five.

Paul Lukas, the actor, avers that not one person in 100,000 can pronounce all these 11 words correctly: Data, gratis, culinary, cocaine, gondola, version, impious, chic, inquiry, acclimate, and respite. And listening to radio announcers wouldn't help one much.

According to the Bureau of Animal Industry, George Washington was not only "first in war, first in peace," and so on, but the first to raise a mule in America. The first "jack" ever brought to this country, it is said, was presented to Washington by the king of Spain.

Increased acre yields of cotton by reason of better stands are reported by those men who treated their seed last spring.

Don't Let Good Bargains Slip Through Your Fingers

Forget for the minute that you are the buyer of goods and we are the seller. Instead, let's look at our mutual problems as buyer and seller and believe us when we say that this statement is for our mutual benefit, but even more largely your benefit.

Our business makes it necessary that we not only have connections with sources of supply all over the country, but also that we keep well informed regarding the possibilities of quick deliveries and on the other hand keep informed regarding probable delays in shipments due to amount of business various producers have.

Lots of manufacturers are from three weeks to two months behind on promised deliveries. Others are refusing to take any more orders for delivery before Christmas.

But we have a good big stock of merchandise on hand. Prices right, quality right and made by Old Line Dependable manufacturers. And we want you to regard us as your most dependable source of supply.

The outlook for winter and Christmas business is so unusually good that we fear actual shortage in many lines.

Make your Christmas selections now while the selecting is good.

Give your wife a nice cook stove, range or dinner set. Give the children an electric table lamp, bright light Aladdin lamp or a Circulator. Give the boys and men, guns, hunting coats, shell, etc., and for the kiddies coasters, scooters, tricycles, etc.

We have exceedingly good values. You won't be throwing your money away and will have something that will be useful and the whole family will appreciate.
