But you may have either the improved 85-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum performance — or the new 60-horsepower V-8 engine for maximum economy. The smaller engine makes possible a lighter car — lower operating costs — and a lower price.

When you drive the 1937 Ford with the 85-horsepower V-8 engine, you are master of a power plant that gives everything you can possibly demand in speed and acceleration. Today, improved carburetion enables it to deliver its thrilling performance with unusually low gasoline consumption.

The new 60-horsepower V-type 8-cylinder engine delivers V-8 smoothness and quietness — even at speeds up to 70 miles an hour — with gasoline mileage so high that it creates an entirely new standard of economy in modern motor car operation.

FEATURES

APPEARANCE — A newly designed car. Head-lamps recessed in fender aprons. Modern lid-type hood hinged at the back. Larger luggage space. Spare tire enclosed within body. Completely new interiors. Slanting V-type windshield opens in all closed cars.

COMFORT AND QUIET — A big, roomy car. Extra space is in the body, not taken up by the engine under the hood. Comfort of the Center-Poise Ride further increased by smoother action of the long-tapering springs, with new pressure lubrication. New methods of mounting body and engine make this a quieter car.

SAFETY

BRAKES — New Easy-Action Safety Brakes, of the cable and conduit control type. "The safety of steel from pedal to wheel." Self-energizing — car momentum is used to help apply the brakes. Tests show that about one-third less pedal pressure is required to stop the car.

BODY — Not an ounce of wood used for structural strength. Frame structure all steel, sheathed with steel panels — top, sides and floor. All are welded into a single steel unit of great strength. Safety Glass all around at no extra charge.

We want you to see the new Ford and decide for yourself if it isn't the greatest value you have ever seen.
