

CAROLINA MOTOR CLUB TO OPEN ROXBORO OFFICE

Miss Nina Abbitt Will be in Charge. Location of Office to be Announced Soon.

On December 15 the Carolina Motor Club will reopen its Automobile License Plate and Title Service in Roxboro, after having closer this branch office here several months ago. The office will be in charge of Miss Nina Abbitt as before, and motorists can again get license and title services here as has been the case for several years.

The Carolina Motor Club closed its office here on account of the resignation of Miss Abbitt, and because no one else, competent to fill the place by experience, could be secured by the Club. The lack of license plate and title service in Roxboro caused local automobile dealers and Person motorists no end of inconvenience because trips to Durham were necessary to get these services.

Some weeks ago Roxboro car dealers sought to find ways by which the office might be reopened and they finally persuaded Miss Abbitt again to handle the services of the motor vehicle bureau, and the Carolina Motor Club has consented to cooperate with the dealers. Every car dealer in Person county and every motorist who finds the purchase of his license plates in Roxboro more convenient than to go to Durham for that purpose will appreciate this act of the Club and Miss Abbitt. Doubtless a larger number of individual car dealers and motorists than ever will show their appreciation by buying memberships in the Club.

The Carolina Motor Club is the only motor club in North Carolina that can offer members services anywhere in America, and the membership of the Club is rapidly increasing. The club is afflicted with the American Automobile Association (A.A.A.)

Miss Abbitt will soon announce the location of her office.

HOGS NEED RANGE WHEN FATTENING

Contrary to popular belief, a small, filthy, crowded pen is no place to fatten hogs, said H. W. Taylor, extension swine specialist at State College.

Crowded and filthy, the hogs cannot be as healthy and sanitary as they should to produce good, firm, wholesome meat, Taylor pointed out. Overfat hogs do not produce the best pork, he added.

Hogs will gain well and keep clean if allowed a reasonable amount of range and given all the balanced ration they can eat, he continued, and some exercise is needed to keep them healthy.

Since it is important that pork be produced as economically as is reasonably possible, Taylor stated, it is a good practice to turn the hogs into a field where they can glean food that has been left from various crops.

Fattening hogs should have, in addition to the field gleanings, all the corn they can eat and a protein supplement should be kept before them at all times.

Taylor recommends fish meal or tankage, or a mixture containing one-half cottonseed meal and one-half fish meal or tankage as a good protein supplement.

DECEMBER HINTS FOR GARDENERS

Number of Things That Good Gardeners Will Attend to This Month.

Although work in the vegetable garden is comparative slack in December, there are a number of things good gardeners will attend to this month.

L. P. Watson, extension horticulturist at State College, gives the following suggestions for the home gardener:

If lettuce seed has not been planted already, sow it now in a cold-frame for an early spring crop. Cover the frame with a cloth, and give it additional protection during very cold weather.

Now is a good time to make liberal applications of stable manure to the garden in order to have early vegetables next spring. If vegetables are now growing in the garden, spread the manure between them, and work it in as soon as possible.

Mexican bean beetles do serious damage to late beans. Start fighting them now by gathering up all trash and refuse around the garden and burning it. This applies especially to old bean plants and vines on the fence.

Fruit trees are now dormant, and pruning should be done so spray may be applied before the buds form next spring. Dig up and burn winter, he added, growers should begin to think about their spring farrows, and see that the necessary equipment is available.

Now is a good time to build a farrowing house, he said. A plan for such a house may be obtained from county farm agents or from the agricultural editor at State College, Raleigh. Ask for plan No. 160.

all dead and badly diseased trees.

If more fruit trees are to be set out, plant them right away, as this will give them time to get well established in the soil before spring growth starts.

Cut out all dead wood in shade trees and shrubbery, but do not prune out live wood in an attempt to improve the shape of trees and shrubs that bloom in the spring. Buds have already formed on these, and pruning at this time will reduce their blooming surface.

Craven farmers are requesting information as to the type of farm program that will be used in 1937 as time approaches for the planting of tobacco seed beds.
